The NRC will accord due consideration for the expertise and other criteria required for the successor.

The Board may also decide not to fill the vacancy caused at its discretion.

Senior Management Personnel:

A good succession-planning program aims to identify high growth individuals, train them and feed the pipelines with new talent. It will ensure replacements for key job incumbents in KMPs and senior management positions in the organization.

Significantly, we have a process of identifying Hi-pots and critical positions. Successors are mapped for these positions at the following levels:

1. Emergency successor
2. Ready now
3. Ready in 1 to 2 years
4. Ready in 2 to 5 years
5. Ready in more than 5 years

in order to ensure talent readiness as per a ladder approach.

Policy Statement

The Talent Management framework of the Company has been created to address three basic issues:

- 1) Given the strategic business plans, do we have the skills and competencies required to implement them? If not, how do we create them – by developing them internally or through lateral induction from outside?

- 2) For critical positions, what is the succession pipeline?
- 3) What are the individual development plans for individuals both in the succession pipeline as well as others?

The framework lays down architecture and processes to address these questions using the 3E approach:

- a) Experience i.e. both long and short-term assignments. This has 70% weightage
- b) Exposure i.e. coaching and mentoring – 20% weightage
- c) Education i.e. learning and development initiatives – 10% weightage

The talent pipeline is maintained and developed so as to ensure that there is a seamless flow of talent. An important part of this exercise is drawing up and implementing IDAPs (Individual Development Action Plans) for every Executive concerned using the 3E approach mentioned above.

ANNEXURE III B

POLICY FOR REMUNERATION OF THE DIRECTORS, KEY MANAGERIAL PERSONNEL AND OTHER EMPLOYEES

Purpose

This Policy sets out the approach to Compensation of Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and other employees in Mahindra Vehicle Manufacturers Limited ('MVML').

Policy Statement

The overall compensation philosophy which guides us is that in order to achieve global leadership and dominance in domestic markets, we need to attract and retain high performers by compensating them at levels that are broadly comparable with the median of the comparator basket while differentiating people on the basis of performance, potential and criticality for achieving competitive advantage in the business.

In order to effectively implement this, we have built our Compensation structure by a regular annual benchmarking over the years with relevant players across the industry we operate in.

Non-Executive including Independent Directors

The Nomination and Remuneration Committee (NRC) shall decide the basis for determining the compensation, both Fixed and variable, to the Non Executive Directors, including Independent Directors, whether as commission or otherwise. The NRC shall take into consideration various factors such as director's participation in Board and Committee meetings during the year, other responsibilities undertaken, such as membership or Chairmanship of committees, time spent in carrying out their duties, role and functions as envisaged in Schedule IV of the Companies Act 2013 and such other factors as the NRC may deem fit for determining the compensation. The Board shall determine the compensation to Non-Executive Directors within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders' resolution.

Executive Directors:

The remuneration to Chairman & Managing Director and Executive Director(s) shall be recommended by NRC to the Board. The remuneration may consist of both fixed compensation and variable compensation and shall be paid as salary, commission, performance bonus, stock options (where applicable), perquisites and fringe benefits as approved by the Board and within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders' resolution. While the fixed compensation is determined at the time of their appointment, the variable compensation will be determined annually by the NRC based on their performance.

Key Managerial Personnel (KMPs)

The terms of remuneration of Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and the Company Secretary shall be determined and recommended to the Board by the NRC from time to time.

The remuneration shall be consistent with the competitive position of the salary for similar positions in the industry and their Qualifications, Experience, Roles and Responsibilities. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 203 of the Companies Act 2013 the Board shall approve the remuneration at the time of their appointment.

The remuneration to directors, KMPs and senior management involves a balance between fixed and incentive pay reflecting short and long-term performance objectives appropriate to the working of the Company and its goals.

Employees

We follow a differential approach in choosing the comparator basket for benchmarking, depending upon the level in the organization:

- a. For all employees from Operational to Executive Band, we benchmark with a set of comparators from the same industry.
- b. For Strategic band and above, we have a position-based approach and the comparator basket includes benchmarks from across relevant industries.

We have a CTC (Cost to Company) concept which includes a fixed component (Guaranteed Pay) and a variable component (Performance pay). The percentage of the variable component increases with increasing hierarchy levels, as we believe employees at higher positions have a far greater impact and influence on the overall business result. The CTC is reviewed once every year and the compensation strategy for positioning of individuals takes into consideration the following elements:

- Performance
- Potential
- Criticality
- Longevity in grade

Remuneration for the new employees other than KMPs and Senior Management Personnel will be decided by the Auto Sector HR, in consultation with the CEO at the time of hiring, depending upon the relevant job experience, last compensation and the skill-set of the selected candidate.

ANNEXURE "A" TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

(Referred to in paragraph 1 under 'Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' of our report of even date)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Mahindra Vehicle Manufacturers Limited ("the Company") as of 31st March, 2016 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the Standards on Auditing prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March, 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

Actuarial gains and losses are recognised immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss as income or expense. Obligation is measured at the present value of estimated future cash flows using a discounted rate that is determined by reference to the market yields at the Balance Sheet date on Government Bonds where the currency and terms of the Government Bonds are consistent with the currency and estimated terms of the defined benefit obligation.

(J) Borrowing Costs :

All borrowing costs are charged to the Statement of Profit and Loss except :

- (i) Borrowing costs that are attributable to the acquisition or construction of assets that necessarily take a substantial period of time to get ready for their intended use, which are capitalised as part of the cost of such assets.
- (ii) Expenses incurred on raising long term borrowings are amortised over the period of borrowings. On early buyback, conversion or repayment of borrowings, any unamortised expenditure is fully written off in that year.

(K) Taxes on Income :

Current tax is determined as the amount of tax payable in respect of taxable income for the year as determined in accordance with the applicable tax rates and the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961. Deferred tax is recognised, subject to consideration of prudence, on timing differences, being the difference between taxable income and accounting income that originate in one period and are capable of reversal in one or more subsequent periods. Deferred tax assets arising on account of unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward of tax losses are recognised only to the extent that there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that sufficient future tax income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) paid in accordance with the tax laws, which gives future economic benefits in the form of adjustment to future income tax liability, is considered as an asset if there is convincing evidence that the Company will pay normal income tax against which the MAT paid will be adjusted.

II. SUCCESSION PLANNING:

Board:

The Board may also decide not to fill the vacancy caused at its discretion.

Senior Management Personnel:

A good succession-planning program aims to identify high growth individuals, train them and feed the pipelines with new talent. It will ensure replacements for key job incumbents in KMPs and senior management positions in the organization.

Significantly, we have a process of identifying Hi-pots and critical positions. Successors are mapped for these positions at the following levels:

1. Emergency successor
2. Ready now
3. Ready in 1 to 2 years

4. Ready in 2 to 5 years
  5. Ready in more than 5 years
- in order to ensure talent readiness as per a ladder approach.

Policy Statement

The Talent Management framework of the Mahindra Group has been created to address three basic issues:

- 1) Given the strategic business plans, do we have the skills and competencies required to implement them? If not, how do we create them – by developing them internally or through lateral induction from outside?
- 2) For critical positions, what is the succession pipeline?
- 3) What are the individual development plans for individuals both in the succession pipeline as well as others?

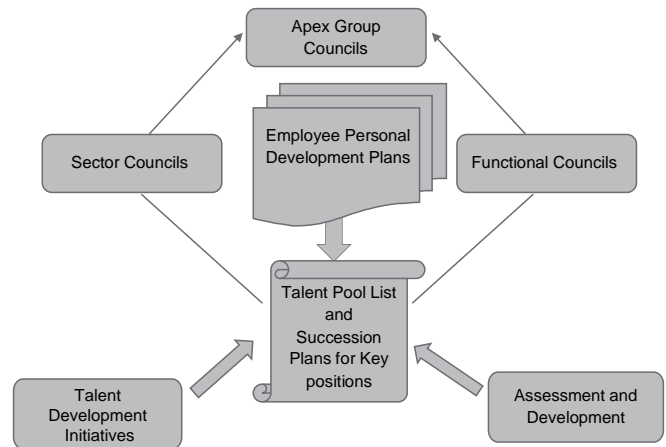

The framework lays down an architecture and processes to address these questions using the 3E approach:

- a) Experience i.e. both long and short-term assignments. This has 70% weightage
- b) Exposure i.e. coaching and mentoring – 20% weightage
- c) Education i.e. learning and development initiatives – 10% weightage

The Talent Management process is applicable to all employees. Over the years, the Talent Management framework has become a well-structured and process-oriented system which is driven by an interactive and collaborative network of Talent Councils at the Group and Sector Levels. These Talent Councils, which consist mainly of Senior business leaders supported by HR, are a mix of Sector (Business) and Functional Councils coordinated by an Apex Talent Council, headed by the Group Chairman. The Apex Council reviews the work done by the Talent Councils and facilitates movement of talent across Sectors. The Sector/Functional Councils meet regularly throughout the year and the Apex Council interacts with each one of them separately once a year, and in addition conducts an integrated meeting where the Chairpersons of all the Councils are present.

The Talent Management process can be represented pictorially as under:

The talent pipeline is maintained and developed so as to ensure that there is a seamless flow of talent. An important part of this exercise is drawing up and implementing IDAPs (Individual Development Action Plans) for every Executive concerned using the 3E approach mentioned above.

ANNEXURE II-B TO THE DIRECTORS' REPORT

POLICY FOR REMUNERATION OF THE DIRECTORS, KEY MANAGERIAL PERSONNEL AND OTHER EMPLOYEES

Purpose

This Policy sets out the approach to Compensation of Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and other employees in Mahindra Heavy Engines Ltd. (formerly known as Mahindra Heavy Engines Private Ltd.)

Policy Statement

We have a well-defined Compensation policy which is in line with our ultimate parent company Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd. for Managing Director, Manager, Key Managerial Personnel and all employees, of the Company. The overall compensation philosophy which guides us is that in order to achieve global leadership and dominance in domestic markets, we need to attract and retain high performers by compensating them at levels that are broadly comparable with the median of the comparator basket while differentiating people on the basis of performance, potential and criticality for achieving competitive advantage in the business.

In order to effectively implement this, we have built our Compensation structure by a regular annual benchmarking over the years with relevant players across the industry we operate in.

NON-EXECUTIVE INCLUDING INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS:

The Nomination and Remuneration Committee (NRC) shall decide the basis for determining the compensation, both Fixed and variable, to the Non-Executive Directors, including Independent Directors, whether as commission or otherwise. The NRC shall take into consideration various factors such as director's participation in Board and Committee meetings during the year, other responsibilities undertaken, such as membership or Chairmanship of committees, time spent in carrying out their duties, role and functions as envisaged in Schedule IV of the Companies Act, 2013 and such other factors as the NRC may consider deem fit for determining the compensation. The Board shall determine the compensation to Non-Executive Directors within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution.

Executive Directors:

The remuneration to Chairman, Managing Director and Executive Director(s) shall be recommended by NRC to the Board. The remuneration consists of both fixed compensation and variable compensation and shall be paid as salary, commission, performance bonus, stock options (where applicable), perquisites and fringe benefits as approved by the Board and within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution. While the fixed compensation is determined at the time of their appointment, the variable compensation will be determined annually by the NRC based on their performance.

Key Managerial Personnel (KMPs)

The terms of remuneration of Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and Company Secretary (CS) & other Key Management personnel, if any, shall be determined by the NRC from time to time. The remuneration shall be consistent with the competitive position of the salary for similar positions in the industry and their Qualifications, Experience, Roles and Responsibilities. Pursuant to the provisions of section 203 of the Companies Act, 2013 the Board shall approve the remuneration at the time of their appointment.

The remuneration to directors, KMPs and senior management involves a balance between fixed and incentive pay reflecting short and long-term performance objectives appropriate to the working of the company and its goals.

Employees

We follow a differential approach in choosing the comparator basket for benchmarking, depending upon the level in the organization:

- a. For all employees from Operational to Executive Band, we benchmark with a set of comparators from the same industry.
- b. For Strategic band and above, we have a position-based approach and the comparator basket includes benchmarks from across relevant industries.

We have a CTC (Cost to Company) concept which includes a fixed component (Guaranteed Pay) and a variable component (Performance pay). The percentage of the variable component increases with increasing hierarchy levels, as we believe employees at higher positions have a far greater impact and influence on the overall business result. The CTC is reviewed once every year and the compensation strategy for positioning of individuals takes into consideration the following elements:

- Performance
- Potential
- Criticality
- Longevity in grade

Remuneration for the new employees other than KMPs and Senior Management Personnel will be decided by the HR, in consultation with the concerned business unit head at the time of hiring, depending upon the relevant job experience, last compensation and the skill-set of the selected candidate.

The Company may also grant Stock Options to the Employees and Directors (other than Independent Directors and Promoter) in accordance with the ESOP Scheme of the Company and subject to the compliance of the applicable statutes and regulations.

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of MAHINDRA HEAVY ENGINES LIMITED (“the Company”) as of 31st March, 2016 in conjunction with our audit of the financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management’s Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company’s management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company’s policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor’s Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the “Guidance Note”) issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the Standards on Auditing prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A company’s internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company’s internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company’s assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March, 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

ANNEXURE “A” TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR’S REPORT

(Referred to in paragraph 1 under ‘Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements’ of our report of even date)

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of MAHINDRA AUTOMOBILE DISTRIBUTOR PRIVATE LIMITED (“the Company”) as of 31st March, 2016 in conjunction with our audit of the financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management’s Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company’s management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company’s policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor’s Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the “Guidance Note”) issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the Standards on Auditing prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A company’s internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company’s internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company’s assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

The Company undertakes procurement, warehousing management, logistics and sale of imported and local spare parts. It has a network of dealers spread across India to ensure timely availability of spare parts to the customers. The Company also exports spare parts in small quantities. It mainly follows a cash & carry business model.

2 Significant Accounting Policies

2.1 Basis of accounting and preparation of financial statements

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with the Generally Accepted Accounting Principles in India (Indian GAAP) to comply with the Accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013, read with Rule 7 of the Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014 and the relevant provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the 2013 Act")/Companies Act, 1956 ("the 1956 Act"), as applicable. The financial statements have been prepared on accrual basis under the historical cost convention. The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the financial statements are consistent with those followed in the previous year.

2.2 Use of estimates

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with Indian GAAP requires the Management to make estimates and assumptions considered in the reported amounts of assets and liabilities (including contingent liabilities) and the reported income and expenses during the year. The Management believes that the estimates used in preparation of the financial statements are prudent and reasonable. Future results could differ due to these estimates and the differences between the actual results and the estimates are recognised in the periods in which the results are known/materialise.

2.3 Tangible Fixed Assets

- a) All tangible fixed assets are carried at cost of acquisition. Cost includes financing cost relating to borrowed funds attributable to construction or acquisition of qualifying fixed assets up to the date the asset is ready for use.

When an asset is scrapped or otherwise disposed off, the cost and related depreciation are removed from the books of account and resultant profit (including capital profit) or loss, if any, is reflected in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

- b) Depreciation on assets is calculated on Straight Line Method as per the useful life prescribed in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013 except in respect of the following categories of assets, in whose case the life of the assets has been assessed as under based on technical advice, taking into account the nature of the asset, the estimated usage of the asset, the operating conditions of the asset, past history of replacement, anticipated technological changes, manufacturers warranties and maintenance support, etc.:

General plant and machinery (Injection Moulding Tool - Verito Knob) - 8 years

2.4 Investments

Current investments are valued at the lower of cost and fair value, determined by category of investment.

2.5 Inventories

Inventories comprise of all costs of purchase, conversion and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

Raw materials and bought out components are valued at lower of cost or net realizable value. Cost is determined on the basis of the weighted average method.

Finished goods produced and purchased for sale, manufactured components and work-in-progress are carried at cost or net realizable value, whichever is lower. Excise duty is included in the value of finished goods inventory.

2.6 Foreign Exchange Transactions

Transactions in foreign currency are recorded at the daily exchange rates on days on which the transactions are effected. Exchange differences arising on settlement of revenue transactions are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss. Monetary items denominated in foreign currency are restated using the exchange rates prevailing at the date of the balance sheet. Gains/Losses arising on restatement and on settlement of such liabilities are recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Premium/Discount on forward exchange contracts, which are not intended for trading or speculation purposes, are amortised at the Balance Sheet date over the period of the contracts if such contracts relate to monetary items.

2.7 Revenue Recognition

Sale of products and income from services rendered are recognised when the products are shipped or service rendered.

2.8 Employee Benefits

(i) Defined Contribution Plan:

Company's contributions paid/payable during the year to Provident Fund, Superannuation Fund are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

(ii) Defined Benefit Plan:

Company's liability towards gratuity is determined using the projected unit credit method which considers each period of service as giving rights to an additional unit of benefit entitlement and measure each unit separately to build up the final obligation. Past services are recognized on straight line basis over the average period until the benefits become vested. Actuarial gains and losses are recognised immediately in the statement of Profit and loss Account as income or expenses. Obligation is measured at the present value of estimated future cash flow using discounted rate i.e., determined by reference to the market yield at the Balance Sheet date on Government Bonds where the currency and terms of the Government Bonds are consistent with the currency and terms of the Government Bonds where the currency and terms of the Government Bonds are consistent with the currency and estimated terms of the defined benefit obligation.

2.9 Product Warranty

In respect of warranties given by Company on sale of products, the estimated costs of these warranties are accrued at the time of sale. The estimates for accounting of warranties are reviewed and revisions are made as required.

2.10 Taxes on Income

Current tax is determined as the amount of tax payable in respect of taxable income for the year. Deferred tax is recognised, subject to consideration of prudence, on timing differences, being the difference between taxable income and accounting income that originate in one period and are capable of reversal in one or more subsequent periods. Deferred tax assets arising on account of unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward of tax losses are recognised only to the extent that there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that sufficient future tax income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

2.11 Segment Reporting

The Company's business activity falls within a single business segment viz. 'Automotive'. All other activities of the Company revolve around its main business. Hence there are no separate reportable primary segments as defined by Accounting Standard 17 on "Segment Reporting".

2.12 Cash Flow Statement

Cash flows are reported using the indirect method, as set out in Accounting Standard 3 "Cash Flow Statement" whereby profit/(loss) before extraordinary items and tax is adjusted for the effects of transactions of non-cash nature and any deferrals or accruals of past or future cash receipts or payments. The cash flows are segregated on the basis of Operating, Investing & Financing activities of the company.

2.13 Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing the profit/(loss) after tax (including the post tax effect of extraordinary items, if any) by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year. Diluted earnings per share is computed by dividing the profit/(loss) after tax (including the post tax effect of extraordinary items, if any) as adjusted for dividend, interest and other charges to expense or income (net of any attributable taxes) relating to the dilutive potential equity shares, by the weighted average number of equity shares considered for deriving basic earnings per share and the weighted average number of equity shares which could have been issued on the conversion of all dilutive potential equity shares.

2.14 Impairment of assets

The carrying values of assets/cash generating units at each balance sheet date are reviewed for impairment if any indication of impairment exists.

If the carrying amount of the assets exceed the estimated recoverable amount, an impairment is recognised for such excess amount. The impairment loss is recognised as an expense in the Statement of Profit and Loss, unless the asset is carried at revalued amount, in which case any impairment loss of the revalued asset is treated as a revaluation decrease to the extent a revaluation reserve is available for that asset.

The recoverable amount is the greater of the net selling price and their value in use. Value in use is arrived at by discounting the future cash flows to their present value based on an appropriate discount factor.

When there is indication that an impairment loss recognised for an asset (other than a revalued asset) in earlier accounting periods no longer exists or may have decreased, such reversal of impairment loss is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss, to the extent the amount was previously charged to the Statement of Profit and Loss. In case of revalued assets such reversal is not recognised.

Board:

Senior Management Personnel:

A good succession-planning program aims to identify high growth individuals, train them and feed the pipelines with new talent. It will ensure replacements for key job incumbents in KMPs and senior management positions in the organization.

Significantly, we have a process of identifying Hi-pots and critical positions. Successors are mapped for these positions at the following levels:

1. Emergency successor
2. Ready now
3. Ready in 1 to 2 years
4. Ready in 2 to 5 years
5. Ready in more than 5 years

in order to ensure talent readiness as per a ladder approach.

Policy Statement

The Talent Management framework of the Mahindra Group has been created to address three basic issues:

- 1) Given the strategic business plans, do we have the skills and competencies required to implement them? If not, how do we create them – by developing them internally or through lateral induction from outside?
- 2) For critical positions, what is the succession pipeline?
- 3) What are the individual development plans for individuals both in the succession pipeline as well as others?

The framework lays down an architecture and processes to address these questions using the 3E approach:

- a) Experience i.e. both long and short-term assignments. This has 70% weightage
- b) Exposure i.e. coaching and mentoring – 20% weightage
- c) Education i.e. learning and development initiatives – 10% weightage

The Talent Management process is applicable to all employees. Over the years, the Talent Management framework has become a well-structured and process-oriented system which is driven by an interactive and collaborative network of Talent Councils at the Group and Sector Levels. These Talent Councils, which consist mainly of senior business leaders supported by HR, are a mix of Sector (Business) and Functional Councils coordinated by an Apex Talent Council, headed by the Group Chairman. The Apex Council reviews the work done by the Talent Councils and facilitates movement of talent across Sectors. The Sector/Functional Councils meet regularly throughout the year and the Apex Council interacts with each one of them separately once a year, and in addition conducts an integrated meeting where the Chairpersons of all the Councils are present.

The Talent Management process can be represented pictorially as under:

The talent pipeline is maintained and developed so as to ensure that there is a seamless flow of talent. An important part of this exercise is drawing up and implementing IDAPs (Individual Development Action Plans) for every Executive concerned using the 3E approach mentioned above.

POLICY FOR REMUNERATION OF THE DIRECTORS, KEY MANAGERIAL PERSONNEL AND OTHER EMPLOYEES

Purpose

This Policy sets out the approach to Compensation of Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and other employees in Mahindra Reva Electric Vehicles Limited.

Policy Statement

We have a well-defined Compensation policy for Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and all employees, including the Chairman, Presidents and other Members of the Group Executive Board who are employees of the Company. The overall compensation philosophy which guides us is that in order to achieve global leadership and dominance in domestic markets, we need to attract and retain high performers by compensating them at levels that are broadly comparable with the median of the comparator basket while differentiating people on the basis of performance, potential and criticality for achieving competitive advantage in the business.

In order to effectively implement this, we have built our Compensation structure by a regular annual benchmarking over the years with relevant players across the industry we operate in.

NON-EXECUTIVE INCLUDING INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS:

The Nomination and Remuneration Committee (NRC) shall decide the basis for determining the compensation, both Fixed and variable, to the Non Executive Directors, including Independent Directors, whether as commission or otherwise. The NRC shall take into consideration various factors such as director's participation in Board and Committee meetings during the year, other responsibilities undertaken, such as membership or Chairmanship of committees, time spent in carrying out their duties, role and functions as envisaged in Schedule IV of the Companies Act 2013 and such other factors as the NRC may consider deem fit for determining the compensation. The Board shall determine the compensation to Non-Executive Directors within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution.

Executive Directors/Managing Directors/Manager

The remuneration to Managing Director/Manager/Executive Director(s) shall be recommended by NRC to the Board. The remuneration consists of both fixed compensation and variable compensation and shall be paid as salary, commission, performance bonus, stock options (where applicable), perquisites and fringe benefits as approved by the Board and within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution. While the fixed compensation is determined at the time of their appointment, the variable compensation will be determined annually by the NRC based on their performance.

Key Managerial Personnel (KMPs)

The terms of remuneration of Chief Executive Officer (CEO), Chief Financial Officer (CFO), and the Company Secretary shall be determined by any director or such other person as may be authorised by the Nomination Remuneration Committee(NRC) from time to time. The remuneration shall be consistent with the competitive position of the salary for similar positions in the industry and their Qualifications, Experience, Roles and Responsibilities. Pursuant to the provisions of section 203 of the Companies Act 2013 the Board shall approve the remuneration at the time of their appointment.

The remuneration to directors, KMPs and senior management involves a balance between fixed and incentive pay reflecting short and long-term performance objectives appropriate to the working of the company and its goals.

Employees

We follow a differential approach in choosing the comparator basket for benchmarking, depending upon the level in the organization:

- a. For all employees from Operational to Executive Band, we benchmark with a set of comparators from the same industry.
- b. For Strategic band and above, we have a position-based approach and the comparator basket includes benchmarks from across relevant industries.

We have a CTC (Cost to Company) concept which includes a fixed component (Guaranteed Pay) and a variable component (Performance pay). The percentage of the variable component increases with increasing hierarchy levels, as we believe employees at higher positions have a far greater impact and influence on the overall business result. The CTC is reviewed once every year and the compensation strategy for positioning of individuals takes into consideration the following elements:

- Performance
- Potential
- Criticality
- Longevity in grade

Remuneration for the new employees other than KMPs and Senior Management Personnel will be decided by the HR, in consultation with the concerned business unit head at the time of hiring, depending upon the relevant job experience, last compensation and the skill-set of the selected candidate.

The Company may also grant Stock Options to the Employees and Directors (other than Independent Directors and Promoter) in accordance with the ESOP Scheme of the Company and subject to the compliance of the applicable statutes and regulations.

ANNEXURE 2 REFERRED IN PARAGRAPH 2(f) TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT OF EVEN DATE ON THE STANDALONE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS OF MAHINDRA REVA ELECTRIC VEHICLES LIMITED

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

To the Members of Mahindra Reva Electric Vehicles Limited

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Mahindra Reva Electric Vehicles Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2016, in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the Company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing as specified under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

Explanatory Paragraph

We also have audited, in accordance with the Standards on Auditing issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, as specified under Section 143(10) of the Act, the standalone financial statements of the Company, which comprise the Balance Sheet as at March 31, 2016, and the related Statement of Profit and Loss and Cash Flow Statement for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information, and our report of even date expressed an unqualified opinion thereon.

1. Corporate information

Mahindra Reva Electric Vehicles Limited (formerly Mahindra Reva Electric Vehicles Private Limited) ('the Company' or 'REVA') is engaged in design, manufacture, assembly, testing, marketing and selling of electrically powered vehicles and licensing of technology. The marketing of the car is done through a network of dealers in India and abroad.

The Company converted from private limited to public company effective from December 30, 2015.

2. Basis of preparation

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles in India (Indian GAAP). The Company has prepared these financial statements to comply in all material respects with the accounting standards notified under Section 133 of the Companies Act 2013, read together with paragraph 7 of the Companies (Accounts) Rules 2014. The financial statements have been prepared on an accrual basis and under the historical cost convention. The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of financial statements are consistent with those of previous year.

2.1 Summary of significant accounting policies

a. Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Indian GAAP requires the management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of the reporting period. Although these estimates are based on the management's best knowledge of current events and actions, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in the outcomes requiring a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities in future periods.

b. Tangible fixed assets

Fixed assets are stated at cost, net of accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any. The cost comprises purchase price, borrowing costs if capitalization criteria are met and directly attributable cost of bringing the asset to its working condition for the intended use. Any trade discounts and rebates are deducted in arriving at the purchase price.

Subsequent expenditure related to an item of fixed asset is added to its book value only if it increases the future benefits from the existing asset beyond its previously assessed standard of performance. All other expenses on existing fixed assets, including day-to-day repair and maintenance expenditure and cost of replacing parts, are charged to the statement of profit and loss for the period during which such expenses are incurred.

Gains or losses arising from de recognition of fixed assets are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognized in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is derecognized.

c. Depreciation on tangible fixed assets

Depreciation on fixed assets is calculated on a straight-line basis over the useful lives of assets estimated by the management. The Company has used the following rates to provide depreciation on its fixed assets.

Type of asset	Estimated Life (SLM)	Schedule II Estimated Life (SLM)
Plant and Equipment	15	15
Factory Building	30	30
Furniture & Fixtures	10	10
Computer Equipment	3	3
Vehicles	5	8
Batteries	8	Not defined
Tools and fixtures	8	Not defined
Office Equipment	5	5

Leasehold improvements at leased premises are depreciated over the unexpired lease period or 10 years useful life, whichever is less. Fixed assets individually having an original cost of Rs. 5,000 or less are fully depreciated in the year of purchase.

d. Intangible assets

Technical Know-how

Technical know-how is amortised using the straight-line method over a period not exceeding five years from the date of purchase/licensing.

Development expenditure

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Development expenditure incurred on individual products is capitalised as an intangible asset, when its future recoverability can reasonably be regarded as assured. Intangibles representing capitalised product development costs are amortised, on a straight line basis over a period not exceeding five years from the date of commercial production, based on the estimation of future economic life of the product by the management.

Computer Software

The expenditure incurred is amortised, on a straight line basis over a period of four years.

e. Operating Leases

Where the Company is a lessee

Leases of assets under which all the risks and rewards of ownership are effectively retained by the lessor are classified as operating leases. Lease payments under operating leases are recognized as an expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

Where the Company is a lessor

Leases in which the Company does not transfer substantially all the risks and benefits of ownership of the asset are classified as operating leases. Assets subject to operating leases are included in plant, property and equipment. Lease income on an operating lease is recognized in the statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Costs, including depreciation, are recognized as an expense in the statement of profit and loss. Initial direct costs such as legal costs, brokerage costs, etc. are recognized immediately in the statement of profit and loss.

f. Borrowing costs

Borrowing cost includes interest, amortization of ancillary costs incurred in connection with the arrangement of borrowings and exchange differences arising from foreign currency borrowings to the extent they are regarded as an adjustment to the interest cost.

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of an asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale are capitalized as part of the cost of the respective asset. All other borrowing costs are expensed in the period they occur.

g. Impairment of tangible and intangible assets

The carrying amounts of assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date if there is any indication of impairment based on internal/external factors. An impairment loss is recognized wherever the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the assets net selling price and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value at the weighted average cost of capital. After impairment, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the assets over its remaining useful life.

h. Government grants and subsidies

Grants and subsidies from the government are recognized when there is a reasonable assurance that (i) the Company will comply with the conditions attached to them, and (ii) the grant/subsidy will be received.

MAHINDRA REVA ELECTRIC VEHICLES LIMITED
(FORMERLY MAHINDRA REVA ELECTRIC VEHICLES PRIVATE LIMITED)

When the grant or subsidy relates to revenue, it is recognized as income on a systematic basis in the statement of profit and loss over the periods necessary to match them with the related costs, which they are intended to compensate. Where the grant relates to an asset, it is recognized as deferred income and released to income in equal amounts over the expected useful life of the related asset.

i. Investments

Investments that are readily realizable and intended to be held for not more than a year are classified as current investments. All other investments are classified as long-term investments. Current investments are carried at lower of cost and fair value determined on an individual investment basis. Long-term investments are carried at cost. However, provision for diminution in value is made to recognize a decline other than temporary in the value of the investments.

On disposal of an investment, the difference between its carrying amount and net disposal proceeds is charged or credited to the statement of profit and loss.

j. Inventories

Inventories are valued as follows:

Raw materials, components, stores and spares

Lower of cost and net realizable value. However, materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost if the finished products in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost is determined on a weighted average basis. Customs duty on materials in bonded warehouses is considered for valuation of inventories, as applicable.

Work-in-progress and finished goods

Lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost includes direct materials and labour and a proportion of manufacturing overheads based on normal operating capacity. Cost of finished goods includes excise duty.

Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less estimated costs of completion and to make the sale. Obsolete or slow moving inventories are adequately provided for on a specific identification basis.

k. Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the revenue can be reliably measured.

Sale of Products

Sale of cars, accessories and spares, are recognised on despatch of goods to customers and are shown net of trade discounts and returns, Sales Tax and Value Added Tax. Excise duty deducted from Sales (Gross) is the amount that is included in the amount of Sales (Gross) and not the entire amount of liability that arose during the year.

Income from services

Revenue relating to licensing of technology is recognized upon completion of performance obligations under the terms of agreement with the customer. Revenue relating to development of technology is recognized on the basis of proportionate completion method.

Revenues from maintenance contracts are recognized pro-rata over the period of the contract as and when services are rendered. The Company collects service tax on behalf of the government and, therefore, it is not an economic benefit flowing to the Company. Hence, it is excluded from revenue.

Interest

Revenue is recognised on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the rate applicable.

Foreign currency transactions and balances

(i) Initial recognition

Foreign currency transactions are recorded in the reporting currency, by applying to the foreign currency amount the exchange rate between the reporting currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction.

(ii) Conversion

Foreign currency monetary items are reported using the closing rate. Non-monetary items which are carried in terms of historical cost denominated in a foreign currency are reported using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction; and non-monetary items which are carried at fair value or other similar valuation denominated in a foreign currency are reported using the exchange rates that existed when the values were determined.

(iii) Exchange Differences

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items or on reporting Company's monetary items at rates different from those at which they were initially recorded during the year, or reported in previous financial statements, are recognised as income or as expenses in the year in which they arise.

(iv) Forward exchange contracts not intended for trading or speculation purposes

The premium or discount arising at the inception of forward exchange contracts is amortised as expense or income over the life of the contract. Exchange differences on such contracts are recognised in the statement of profit and loss in the year in which the exchange rates change. Any profit or loss arising on cancellation or renewal of forward exchange contract is recognised as income or as expense for the year.

m. Retirement and other employee benefits

Defined Contribution Plan (Provident fund)

Retirement benefit in the form of provident fund is a defined contribution scheme. The contributions to the provident fund are charged to the statement of profit and loss for the year when the contributions are due. The Company has no obligation, other than the contribution payable to the provident fund.

Defined Benefit Plan (Gratuity)

Gratuity liability is provided for based on the actuarial valuation on projected unit credit method made at end of each financial year. The gratuity plan is funded with insurance companies, in the form of qualifying insurance policies. Actuarial gains/losses are immediately taken to profit and loss account and are not deferred.

Leave Encashment

Accumulated leave, which is expected to be utilized within the next 12 months, is treated as short-term employee benefit. The Company measures the expected cost of such absences as the additional amount that it expects to pay as a result of the unused entitlement that has accumulated at the reporting date. The Company treats accumulated leave expected to be carried forward beyond twelve months, as long-term employee benefit for measurement purposes. Such long-term compensated absences are provided for based on the actuarial valuation using the projected unit credit method at the year-end. Actuarial gains/losses are immediately taken to the statement of profit and loss and are not deferred.

n. Income taxes

Tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. Current income tax is measured at the amount expected to be paid to the tax authorities in accordance with the Income-tax Act, 1961 enacted in India. Deferred income taxes reflect the impact of current year timing differences between taxable income and accounting income for the year and reversal of timing differences of earlier years. Deferred tax is measured based on the tax rates and the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets are recognised on carry forward of unabsorbed depreciation and tax losses only if there is virtual certainty that such deferred tax assets can be realised against future taxable profits. Unrecognised deferred tax assets of earlier years are re-assessed and recognised to the extent that it has become reasonably certain that future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised. As at March 31, 2016, the Company has carry forward loss and unabsorbed depreciation but no deferred tax assets have been recognised in absence of virtual certainty of profits in the near future.

o. Employee stock compensation cost

Measurement and disclosure of the employee share-based payment plans is done in accordance with the Guidance Note on Accounting for Employee Share-based Payments, issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. The Company measures compensation cost relating to employee stock options using the intrinsic value method. Compensation expense is amortized over the vesting period of the option on a straight line basis.

(FORMERLY MAHINDRA REVA ELECTRIC VEHICLES PRIVATE LIMITED)

Compensation expense means the excess of the intrinsic value of the underlying shares as at the date of grant of the options over the exercise price of the options.

p. Segment reporting

The Company is engaged in design, manufacture, assembly, testing, marketing and selling of electrically powered vehicles and licensing of technology. The risks and returns of the Company are predominantly determined by its principal product i.e. battery operated electric cars and accordingly the Company operates in single business segment. The geographical segment information is disclosed based on the location of the customer. There are no fixed assets located outside India.

q. Earnings/(Loss) Per Share

Basic earnings/(loss) per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders (after deducting preference dividends and attributable taxes) by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. Partly paid equity shares are treated as a fraction of an equity share to the extent that they were entitled to participate in dividends relative to a fully paid equity share during the reporting period. The weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period is adjusted for events of bonus issue; bonus element in a rights issue to existing shareholders; share split; and reverse share split (consolidation of shares).

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings/(loss) per share, the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares. Potential equity shares are anti-dilutive since their conversion to equity shares would decrease loss per share from continuing ordinary activities. Accordingly, the effects of anti-dilutive potential equity shares are ignored in calculating dilutive earnings per share.

r. Provisions

A provision is recognized when the Company has a present obligation as a result of past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. Provisions are not discounted to their present value and are determined based on the best estimate required to settle the obligation at the reporting date. These estimates are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates.

s. Contingent liabilities

A contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events whose existence will be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events beyond the control of the Company or a present obligation that is not recognized because it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation. A contingent liability also arises in extremely rare cases where there is a liability that cannot be recognized because it cannot be measured reliably. The Company does not recognize a contingent liability but discloses its existence in the financial statements.

t. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents for the purposes of cash flow statement comprise cash at bank and in hand and short-term investments with an original maturity of three months or less.

3. The Company continued to incur substantial losses i.e. Rs. 915.46 million (2015 – Rs. 940.83 million) and has accumulated losses of Rs. 4460.10 million (2015 – Rs. 3,544.64 million) as at March 31, 2016. However, owing to the continued support from the holding company and based on future business plans, the Company is confident of funding its operating and capital expenditure and continue business operations in the foreseeable future. Accordingly, these financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis.

ANNEXURE I TO THE DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31ST MARCH, 2016.

POLICY FOR REMUNERATION OF THE DIRECTORS, KEY MANAGERIAL PERSONNEL AND OTHER EMPLOYEES

Purpose

This Policy sets out the approach to Compensation of Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and other employees in NBS International Limited.

Policy Statement

We have a well-defined Compensation policy for Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and all employees, The overall compensation philosophy which guides us is that in order to achieve dominance in domestic markets, we need to attract and retain high performers by compensating them at levels that are broadly comparable with the industry while differentiating people on the basis of performance, potential and criticality for achieving competitive advantage in the business.

In order to effectively implement this, we have built our Compensation structure by benchmarking with relevant players across the industry we operate in.

NON-EXECUTIVE INCLUDING INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS:

The Nomination and Remuneration Committee (NRC) shall decide the basis for determining the compensation, both Fixed and variable, to the Non-Executive Directors, including Independent Directors, whether as commission or otherwise. The NRC shall take into consideration various factors such as director's participation in Board and Committee meetings during the year, other responsibilities undertaken, such as membership or Chairmanship of committees, time spent in carrying out their duties, role and functions as envisaged in Schedule IV of the Companies Act 2013 and such other factors as the NRC may consider deem fit for determining the compensation. The Board shall determine the compensation to Non-Executive Directors within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution.

Executive Directors:

The remuneration to Managing Director and Executive Director(s) shall be recommended by NRC to the Board. The remuneration consists of both fixed compensation and variable compensation and shall be paid as salary, commission, performance bonus, stock options (where applicable), perquisites and fringe benefits as approved by the Board and within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution. While the fixed compensation is determined at the time of their appointment, the variable compensation will be determined annually by the NRC based on their performance.

Key Managerial Personnel (KMPs)

The terms of remuneration of Chief Executive officer, Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and Company Secretary (CS) shall be determined by the Board and may be revised from time to time, either by any Director or such other person as may be authorised by the Board. The remuneration shall be consistent with the competitive position of the salary for similar positions in the industry and their Qualifications, Experience, Roles and Responsibilities. Pursuant to the provisions of section 203 of the Companies Act 2013 the Board shall approve the remuneration at the time of their appointment.

The remuneration to directors, KMPs and senior management involves a balance between fixed and incentive pay reflecting short and long-term performance objectives appropriate to the working of the company and its goals.

Employees

We follow a differential approach based on industry benchmarking and statutory requirement, depending upon the level in the organization i.e for all employees from Technician to Senior Management Band, we benchmark with competition from the same industry.

We have a CTC (Cost to Company) concept. In Managerial and Senior Managerial band starting from Grade M3 and above CTC includes a fixed component (Guaranteed Pay) and a variable component (Performance pay). The percentage of the variable component increases with increasing hierarchy levels, as we believe employees at higher positions have a far greater impact and influence on the overall business result. The CTC is reviewed once every year and the compensation strategy for positioning of individuals takes into consideration the following elements:

- Performance
- Potential
- Criticality
- Longevity in grade

Remuneration for the new employees other than KMPs and Senior Management Personnel will be decided by the HR, in consultation with the concerned business unit head at the time of hiring, depending upon the relevant job experience, last compensation and the skill-set of the selected candidate.

The Company may also grant Stock Appreciation Rights and/ or Stock Options to Employees and Directors (other than Independent Directors) in accordance with any Scheme of the Company and subject to compliance of the applicable statutes and regulations.

Purpose

The Talent Management Policy sets out the approach to the development and management of talent in the Mahindra Group to ensure the implementation of the strategic business plans of the Group and the Group Aspiration of being among the Top 50 globally most-admired brands by 2021.

Board:

Senior Management Personnel:

A good succession-planning program aims to identify high growth individuals, train them and feed the pipelines with new talent. It will ensure replacements for key job incumbents in KMPs and senior management positions in the organization.

Significantly, we have a process of identifying Hi-pots and critical positions. Successors are mapped for these positions at the following levels:

1. Emergency successor
2. Ready now
3. Ready in 1 to 2 years
4. Ready in 2 to 5 years
5. Ready in more than 5 years

in order to ensure talent readiness as per a ladder approach.

Policy Statement

The Talent Management framework of the Mahindra Group has been created to address three basic issues:

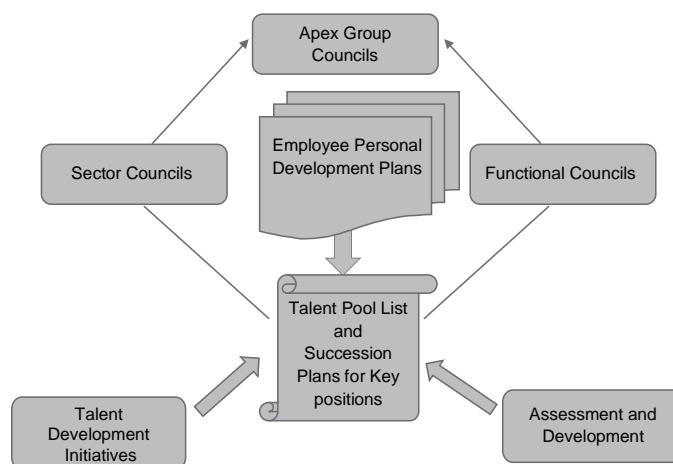

- 1) Given the strategic business plans, do we have the skills and competencies required to implement them? If not, how do we create them – by developing them internally or through lateral induction from outside?
- 2) For critical positions, what is the succession pipeline?
- 3) What are the individual development plans for individuals both in the succession pipeline as well as others?

The framework lays down an architecture and processes to address these questions using the 3E approach:

- a) Experience i.e. both long and short-term assignments. This has 70% weightage
- b) Exposure i.e. coaching and mentoring – 20% weightage
- c) Education i.e. learning and development initiatives – 10% weightage

The Talent Management process is applicable to all employees. Over the years, the Talent Management framework has become a well-structured and process-oriented system which is driven by an interactive and collaborative network of Talent Councils at the Group and Sector Levels. These Talent Councils, which consist mainly of senior business leaders supported by HR, are a mix of Sector (Business) and Functional Councils coordinated by an Apex Talent Council, headed by the Group Chairman. The Apex Council reviews the work done by the Talent Councils and facilitates movement of talent across Sectors. The Sector/Functional Councils meet regularly throughout the year and the Apex Council interacts with each one of them separately once a year, and in addition conducts an integrated meeting where the Chairpersons of all the Councils are present.

The Talent Management process can be represented pictorially as under:

The talent pipeline is maintained and developed so as to ensure that there is a seamless flow of talent. An important part of this exercise is drawing up and implementing IDAPs (Individual Development Action Plans) for every Executive concerned using the 3E approach mentioned above.

ANNEXURE II TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT OF EVEN DATE ON THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS OF NBS INTERNATIONAL LIMITED

Report on the Internal Financial Control under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of NBS International Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2016 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the period from April 1, 2015 to March 31, 2016.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that operate effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the Company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing, issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ("ICAI") and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of internal financial controls and, both issued by ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that

- (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company;
- (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and
- (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by ICAI.

These financial statements are presented in Indian rupees and rounded off to nearest lacs.

b) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles in India (Indian GAAP) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses and disclosure of contingent liabilities on the date of the financial statements. The estimates and assumptions used in the accompanying financial statements are based upon management's evaluation of the relevant facts and circumstances as of the date of financial statements which in management's opinion are prudent and reasonable. Actual results may differ from the estimates used in preparing the accompanying financial statements. Any revision to accounting estimates is recognised prospectively in current and future periods.

c) Inventories:

Inventories are valued at lower of cost or net realizable value. Basis of determination of goods in transits are valued inclusive of duties & taxes, where applicable.

Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less estimated costs of completion and estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

Spare parts & accessories are valued at moving average rate.

i) Tangible Assets:

Fixed Assets are stated on cost less accumulated depreciation. The total cost of assets comprises its purchase price, freight, duties, taxes and any other incidental expenses directly attributable to bringing the asset to the working condition for its intended use.

ii) Intangible assets:

Intangible assets are recognized if it is probable that the future economic benefits that are attributable to the assets will flow to the Company and cost of the assets can be measured reliably.

Depreciation:

- Leasehold Improvements are amortized over the period of lease or estimated period of useful life of such improvement, whichever is lower.
- Depreciation on other fixed assets is provided on Straight Line Method on a pro rata basis over its economic useful lives, as prescribed under Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013.

- Assets costing less than or equal to Rs. 5,000 are depreciated fully in the year of purchase.
- Cost of intangible assets are being amortised over a period of five years on time proportion basis.

e) Revenue Recognition:

Revenue is recognized to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the revenue can be reliably measured.

- Sales of goods:
Sale of vehicles/spares parts and accessories of vehicles (including customized) is recognised when delivery is accepted by the customer. Sales are stated net of discounts, duties and sales tax.
- Service Income:
Service income is recognized as per the terms of the contract when the related services are rendered. It is stated net of service tax.
- Interest income:
Interest income is recognized on time proportion basis.
- Other Income:
Income from financing vehicles, Insurance Income and other service income are accounted on accrual basis.

f) Retirement and Other Employee Benefits:

- Short term employee benefit
All employee benefits payable wholly within twelve months of rendering the service are classified as short-term employee benefits. These benefits include short term compensated absences such as paid annual leave. The undiscounted amount of short-term employee benefits expected to be paid in exchange for the services rendered by employees is recognized as an expense during the period. Benefits such as salaries and wages, etc. and the expected cost of the bonus/ ex-gratia are recognized in the period in which the employee renders the related service.
- Post employment employee benefits
Defined Contribution schemes
Company's contributions to the Provident Fund and Employee's State Insurance Fund are charged to the Statement of Profit and Loss of the year when the contributions to the respective funds are due.
Defined benefits plans
Company's liabilities towards gratuity is determined by independent actuary, using the projected unit credit method which considers each period of service as giving rise to an additional unit of benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation. Actuarial gain and losses are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss as income or expense in the year in which they occur. Obligation is measured at the present value of estimated future cash flow using a discount rate that is determined by reference to market yields at the Balance Sheet date on Government Bonds where the currency and terms of the Government Bonds are consistent with the currency and estimated terms of the defined benefit obligation.
Other long term employee benefits
Company's liabilities towards compensated absences to employees are accrued on the basis of valuations, as at the Balance Sheet date, carried out by an independent actuary using Projected Unit Credit Method. Actuarial gains and losses comprise experience adjustments and the effects of changes in actuarial assumptions and are recognized immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

g) Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period.

Diluted earnings per share are calculated after adjusting effects of potential equity shares (PES). PES are those shares which will convert into equity shares at a later stage. Profit/loss is adjusted by the expenses incurred on such PES. Adjusted profit/loss is divided by the weighted average number of ordinary plus potential equity shares.

h) Taxation

Income-tax expense comprises current tax, deferred tax charge or credit, minimum alternative tax (MAT).

Current tax

Provision for current tax is made for the tax liability payable on taxable income after considering tax allowances, deductions and exemptions determined in accordance with the prevailing tax laws.

Deferred tax

Deferred tax liability or asset is recognized for timing differences between the profits/losses offered for income tax and profits/losses as per the financial statements. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using the tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the Balance Sheet date.

Deferred tax asset is recognized only to the extent there is reasonable certainty that the assets can be realized in future; however, where there is unabsorbed depreciation or carried forward loss under taxation laws, deferred tax asset is recognized only if there is a virtual certainty of realization of such asset. Deferred tax asset is reviewed as at each Balance Sheet date and written down or written up to reflect the amount that is reasonably/virtually certain to be realized.

Minimum alternative tax (MAT) obligation in accordance with the tax laws, which give rise to future economic benefits in the form of adjustment of future income tax liability, is considered as an asset if there is convincing evidence that the Company will pay normal tax during the specified period. Accordingly, it is recognized as an asset in the Balance Sheet when it is probable that the future economic benefit associated with it will flow to the Company and the asset can be measured reliably.

i) Impairment of Assets

The Company assesses at each Balance Sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset or a group of assets (cash generating unit) may be impaired. If any such indication exists, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the asset or a group of assets. The recoverable amount of the asset (or where applicable, that of the cash generating unit to which the asset belongs) is estimated as the higher of its net selling price and its value in use. If such recoverable amount of the asset or the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs is less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount is reduced to its recoverable amount. The reduction is treated as an impairment loss and is recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss. After impairment, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the asset over its remaining useful life.

Value in use is the present value of estimated future cash flow expected to arise from the continuing use of the assets and from its disposal at the end of its useful life.

If at the Balance Sheet date there is an indication that a previously assessed impairment loss no longer exists, the recoverable amount is reassessed and the asset is reflected at the recoverable amount subject to a maximum of depreciable historical cost.

j) Provisions and Contingencies

A provision is recognized when an enterprise has a present obligation as a result of past event and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation, in respect of which a reliable estimate can be made. Provisions are not discounted to their present values and are determined based on management estimate required to settle the obligation at the Balance Sheet date. These are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current management estimates.

Contingent liabilities are disclosed in respect of possible obligations that have arisen from past events and the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of future events not wholly within the control of the Company.

When there is an obligation in respect of which the likelihood of outflow of resources is remote, no provision or disclosure is made.

3. During the current year company has incurred cash losses amounting to INR 94.36 lacs (previous year INR 180.79 lacs). Net-worth at the end of the year is also negative amounting to INR 239.93 lacs (previous year INR 947.68 lacs).

In the opinion of the management, taking into account its business and financial plans for the foreseeable future, the company is a going concern and accordingly the financial statements have been drawn up on that basis.

4. Pursuant to the Companies Act 2013 (the "Act") becoming effective from 1st April 2014, the Company has computed the depreciation based on the useful life of the assets as prescribed in Schedule II of The Act 4.

Senior Management Personnel:

A good succession-planning program aims to identify high growth individuals, train them and feed the pipelines with new talent. It will ensure replacements for key job incumbents in KMPs and senior management positions in the organization.

Significantly, we have a process of identifying Hi-pots and critical positions. Successors are mapped for these positions at the following levels:

1. Emergency successor
2. Ready now
3. Ready in 1 to 2 years
4. Ready in 2 to 5 years
5. Ready in more than 5 years

in order to ensure talent readiness as per a laddered approach.

Policy Statement

The Talent Management framework of the Mahindra Group has been created to address three basic issues:

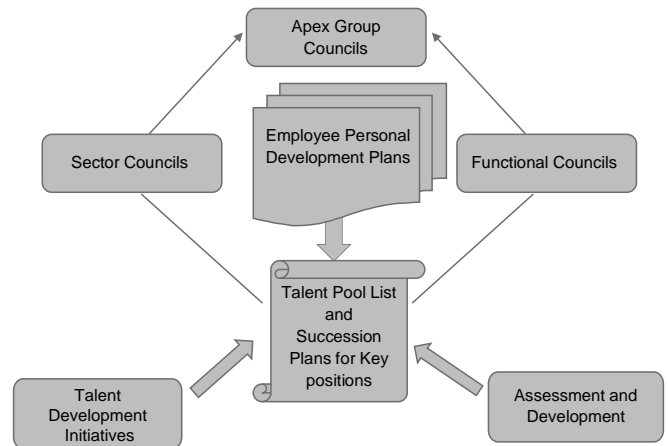

- 1) Given the strategic business plans, do we have the skills and competencies required to implement them? If not, how do we create them – by developing them internally or through lateral induction from outside?
- 2) For critical positions, what is the succession pipeline?
- 3) What are the individual development plans for individuals both in the succession pipeline as well as others?

The framework lays down an architecture and processes to address these questions using the 3E approach:

- a) Experience i.e. both long and short-term assignments. This has 70% weightage
- b) Exposure i.e. coaching and mentoring – 20% weightage
- c) Education i.e. learning and development initiatives – 10% weightage

The Talent Management process is applicable to all employees. Over the years, the Talent Management framework has become a well-structured and process oriented system which is driven by an interactive and collaborative network of Talent Councils at the Group and Sector Levels. These Talent Councils, which consist mainly of Senior business leaders supported by HR, are a mix of Sector (Business) and Functional Councils coordinated by an Apex Talent Council, headed by the Group Chairman. The Apex Council reviews the work done by the Talent Councils and facilitates movement of talent across Sectors. The Sector/Functional Councils meet regularly throughout the year and the Apex Council interacts with each one of them separately once a year, and in addition conducts an integrated meeting where the Chairpersons of all the Councils are present.

The Talent Management process can be represented pictorially as under:

The talent pipeline is maintained and developed so as to ensure that there is a seamless flow of talent. An important part of this exercise is drawing up and implementing IDAPs (Individual Development Action Plans) for every Executive concerned using the 3E approach mentioned above.

ANNEXURE II – B TO THE DIRECTORS’ REPORT

POLICY FOR REMUNERATION OF THE DIRECTORS, KEY MANAGERIAL PERSONNEL AND OTHER EMPLOYEES

Purpose

This Policy sets out the approach to Compensation of Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and other employees in Mahindra Trucks & Buses Limited.

Policy Statement

We have a well-defined Compensation policy which is in line with our parent company, Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd. for Managing Director, Manager, Key Managerial Personnel and all employees, of the Company. The overall compensation philosophy which guides us is that in order to achieve global leadership and dominance in domestic markets, we need to attract and retain high performers by compensating them at levels that are broadly comparable with the median of the comparator basket while differentiating people on the basis of performance, potential and criticality for achieving competitive advantage in the business.

In order to effectively implement this, we have built our Compensation structure by a regular annual benchmarking over the years with relevant players across the industry we operate in.

NON-EXECUTIVE INCLUDING INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS:

The Nomination and Remuneration Committee (NRC) shall decide the basis for determining the compensation, both Fixed and variable, to the Non-Executive Directors, including Independent Directors, whether as commission or otherwise. The NRC shall take into consideration various factors such as director’s participation in Board and Committee meetings during the year, other responsibilities undertaken, such as membership or Chairmanship of committees, time spent in carrying out their duties, role and functions as envisaged in Schedule IV of the Companies Act 2013 and such other factors as the NRC may consider deem fit for determining the compensation. The Board shall determine the compensation to Non-Executive Directors within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution.

Executive Directors:

The remuneration to Chairman & Managing Director and Executive Director(s) shall be recommended by NRC to the Board. The remuneration consists of both fixed compensation and variable compensation and shall be paid as salary, commission, performance bonus, stock options (where applicable), perquisites and fringe benefits as approved by the Board and within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution. While the fixed compensation is determined at the time of their appointment, the variable compensation will be determined annually by the NRC based on their performance.

Key Managerial Personnel (KMPs)

The terms of remuneration of Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and Company Secretary (CS) & other Key Managerial personnel, if any, shall be determined by the NRC from time to time. The remuneration shall be consistent with the competitive position of the salary for similar positions in the industry and their Qualifications, Experience, Roles and Responsibilities. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 203 of the Companies Act, 2013 the Board shall approve the remuneration at the time of their appointment.

The remuneration to directors, KMPs and senior management involves a balance between fixed and incentive pay reflecting short and long-term performance objectives appropriate to the working of the company and its goals.

Employees

We follow a differential approach in choosing the comparator basket for benchmarking, depending upon the level in the organization:

- a. For all employees from Operational to Executive Band, we benchmark with a set of comparators from the same industry.
- b. For Strategic band and above, we have a position-based approach and the comparator basket includes benchmarks from across relevant industries.

We have a CTC (Cost to Company) concept which includes a fixed component (Guaranteed Pay) and a variable component (Performance pay). The percentage of the variable component increases with increasing hierarchy levels, as we believe employees at higher positions have a far greater impact and influence on the overall business result. The CTC is reviewed once every year and the compensation strategy for positioning of individuals takes into consideration the following elements:

- Performance
- Potential
- Criticality
- Longevity in grade

Remuneration for the new employees other than KMPs and Senior Management Personnel will be decided by the HR, in consultation with the concerned business unit head at the time of hiring, depending upon the relevant job experience, last compensation and the skill-set of the selected candidate.

The Company may also grant Stock Options to the Employees and Directors (other than Independent Directors and Promoter) in accordance with the ESOP Scheme of the Company and subject to the compliance of the applicable statutes and regulations.

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of MAHINDRA TRUCKS AND BUSES LIMITED (“the Company”) as of March 31, 2016 in conjunction with our audit of the financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management’s Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company’s management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to Company’s policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor’s Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the “Guidance Note”) issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the Standards on Auditing prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A Company’s internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A Company’s internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the Company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the Company’s assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

NOTE 2 - STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

(A) Basis of Accounting:

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with the Generally Accepted Accounting Principles in India (Indian GAAP) to comply with the Accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the 2013 Act"), as applicable. The financial statements have been prepared on accrual basis under the historical cost convention. The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the financial statements are consistent with those followed in the previous year.

(B) Use of Estimates:

The preparation of the financial statements requires the Management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities on the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. The Management believes that the estimates used in preparation of the financial statements are prudent and reasonable. Future results could differ due to these estimates and the differences between the actual results and the estimates are recognised in the period in which the results are known/materialise.

(C) Tangible Assets:

- (a) Fixed Assets are carried at cost less depreciation.
- (b) Depreciable amount for assets is the cost of an asset less its estimated residual value.

Depreciation on tangible fixed assets has been provided on the straight-line method as per the useful life prescribed in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013 except in respect of the following categories of assets, in whose case the life of the assets has been assessed as under based on technical advice, taking into account the nature of the asset, the estimated usage of the asset, the operating conditions of the asset, past history of replacement, anticipated technological changes, etc.:

- Vehicles – 5 years.

(D) Impairment of Assets:

The carrying value of assets/cash generating units at each balance sheet date are reviewed for impairment. If any indication of impairment exists, the recoverable amount of such assets is estimated and impairment is recognised, if the carrying amount of these assets exceeds their recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the net selling price and their value in use. Value in use is arrived at by discounting the future cash flows to their present value based on an appropriate discount factor. When there is indication that an impairment loss recognised for an asset in earlier accounting periods no longer exists or may have decreased, such reversal of impairment loss is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

(E) Current Investments:

Current investments are valued at the lower of cost and fair value, determined by category of investment. Cost of investments include acquisition charges such as brokerage, fees and duties.

(F) Inventories:

Inventories comprise all costs of purchase and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

Stock-in-trade are valued at lower of cost or net realisable value after providing for obsolescence and other losses, where considered necessary. Cost is determined on the basis of weighted average method.

Excise duty is included in the value of inventory.

(G) Foreign Exchange Transactions:

Transactions in foreign currencies are recorded at the exchange rates prevailing on the date of transaction. Monetary items are translated at the year-end rates. The exchange difference between the rate prevailing on the date of transaction and on the date of settlement as also on translation of monetary items at the end of the year is recognised as income or expense, as the case may be.

(H) Revenue Recognition:

Sales are recognised, net of returns, trade discounts, VAT/Sales tax on transfer of risk and rewards of ownership of the products to the customers, which is generally on despatch of goods.

(I) Other Income:

Interest income is accounted on accrual basis. Dividend from investments is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss when the right to receive payment is established.

(J) Employee Benefits:

(i) Defined Contribution Plan

The Company's contributions paid/payable during the year to Provident Fund, Superannuation Fund are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss as an expense based on amount of contribution required to be made and when services are rendered by the employees.

(ii) Defined Benefit Plan/Compensated absences:

The Company's liability towards gratuity and compensated absences is determined using the Projected Unit Credit method which considers each period of service as giving rights to an additional unit of benefit entitlement and measure each unit separately to build up the final obligation. Past services are recognised on straight line basis over the average period until the benefits become vested. Actuarial gains and losses are recognised immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss as income or expense. Obligation is measured at the present value of estimated future cash flow using discounted rate i.e. determined by reference to the market yield at the Balance Sheet date on Government Bonds where the currency and terms of the Government Bonds are consistent with the currency and estimated terms of the defined benefit obligation.

(K) Product Warranty:

In respect of warranties given by the Company on sale of certain products, the estimated costs of these warranties are accrued at the time of sale on the basis of technical estimate. These estimates are established using historical information on the nature, frequency and average cost of warranty claims. The estimates for accounting of warranties are reviewed and revisions are made as required.

(L) Taxes on Income:

Current tax is the amount of tax payable on the taxable income for the year as determined in accordance with the applicable tax rates and the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961 and other applicable tax laws. Deferred tax assets are recognised for timing differences only to the extent that reasonable certainty exists that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which these can be realised.

1. Statement of significant accounting policies

General information

The financial report is a special purpose financial report prepared to satisfy the financial report preparation requirements of the Corporations Act 2001. The directors have determined that the company is not a reporting entity because in the opinion of the directors there are unlikely to exist users of the financial report who are unable to command the preparation of reports, tailored so as to satisfy specifically all of their information needs.

For the purposes of preparing the financial statements, the Company is a for profit entity.

Mahindra Automotive Australia Pty Limited is a proprietary company limited by shares, incorporated and domiciled in Australia. The immediate and ultimate parent entity is Mahindra & Mahindra Limited incorporated in India.

The following is a summary of the material accounting policies adopted by the company in the preparation of the financial report. The accounting policies have been consistently applied, unless otherwise stated. Any changes in accounting policies compared to the previous financial year have been disclosed in the Notes to the financial statements.

Basis of preparation

The report has been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Corporations Act 2001, the basis of accounting specified by all Accounting Standards and Interpretations, and the disclosure requirements of the following Accounting Standards:

AASB 101	: Presentation of Financial Statements
AASB 107	: Cash Flow Statements
AASB 108	: Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors
AASB 1054	: Australian Additional Disclosures

The financial report has been prepared on an accruals basis and is based on historical costs, and financial assets and financial liabilities for which fair value basis of accounting has been applied. All amounts have been stated in Australian dollars.

Adoption of new and revised accounting standards

New and revised Standards and Interpretations issued by the Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB) have not resulted in changes to the entity's accounting policies.

At the date of authorisation of the financial report, the Standards and Interpretations listed below were in issue but not yet effective. The potential impact of the new or revised Standards and Interpretations has not yet been determined.

Standard	Effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after	Expected to be initially applied in the financial year ending
AAASB 9 'Financial Instruments', and the relevant amending standards	1 January 2018	31 December 2018
AASB 15 'Revenue from Contracts with Customers' and AASB 2014-5 'Amendments to Australian Accounting Standards arising from AASB 15'	1 January 2018	31 December 2018
AASB 2015-1 'Amendments to Australian Accounting Standards – Annual Improvements to Australian Accounting Standards 2012-2014 Cycle'	1 January 2016	31 December 2017
AASB 2015-2 'Amendments to Australian Accounting Standards – Disclosure Initiative: Amendments to AASB 101'	1 January 2016	31 December 2016
AASB 2015-9 'Amendments to Australian Accounting Standards - Scope and application Paragraphs'	1 January 2016	31 December 2016

The following significant accounting policies have been adopted in the preparation and presentation of the financial report:

(a) Inventories

Stock on hand has been valued as follows:

New vehicles and tractors - at the lower of cost and net realisable value.

Spare parts and accessories - at the lower of cost price and net realisable value.

Demonstrator vehicles - at the lower of cost and net realisable value on a unit by unit basis.

(b) Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised on the company's balance sheet when the company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

i) Trade receivables

Trade receivables are measured at initial recognition at fair value, and are subsequently measured at amortised cost. Appropriate allowances for estimated irrecoverable amounts are recognised in profit or loss when there is objective evidence that the asset is impaired. The allowance recognised is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the initial fair value.

ii) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash on hand and demand deposits, and other short-term highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to a known amount of cash and are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

iii) Trade payables

Trade payables are initially measured at fair value, and are subsequently measured at amortised cost.

(c) Income tax

The charge for current income tax expense is based on the profit for the year adjusted for any non-assessable or disallowed items. It is calculated using the tax rates that have been enacted or are substantially enacted by the balance sheet date.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognised in respect of temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the financial statements, and on unused tax losses. No deferred tax assets or liabilities will be recognised from the initial recognition of an asset or liability excluding a business combination, that at the time of the transaction did not affect either accounting or taxable profit or loss.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset realised, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period. The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the Company expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

(d) Revenue recognition

i) Sales revenue

Revenue from sale of goods is recognised when the buyer has accepted the risks and rewards of ownership by taking delivery of the goods.

ii) Goods and Services Tax

All revenue is stated net of the amount of goods and services tax (GST). Cash flows are included in the cash flow statement on a gross basis. The GST component of cash flows arising from investing and financing activities which is recoverable from, or payable to, the taxation authority is classified as operating cash flows.

(e) Plant and equipment
i) Plant and equipment

Plant and equipment is measured on the cost basis less depreciation and impairment losses. Plant and equipment is measured initially at cost. Cost includes all directly attributable expenditure incurred including costs to get the asset ready for its use as intended by management. Costs includes an estimate of any expenditure expected to be incurred at the end of the asset's useful life. The following useful lives are used in the calculation of depreciation:

Plant and equipment	3 – 15 years
Furniture and fixtures	3 – 15 years
Motor Vehicles	4 – 8 years
Computer equipment	3 – 10 years

The carrying amount of plant and equipment is reviewed annually by directors for indications of impairment. If any such indications exist, an impairment test is carried out, and any impairment losses on the assets recognised.

Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount or recognised as a separate asset, as appropriate, only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the group and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. All other repairs and maintenance are charged to the income statement during the financial period in which they are incurred.

ii) Depreciation

The depreciable amount of all fixed assets is depreciated on a straight-line basis over their useful lives (commencing from the time the asset is ready for use). Leasehold improvements are depreciated over the shorter of either the unexpired period of the lease or the estimated useful lives of the improvements.

The depreciable amount is the carrying value of the asset less estimated residual amounts. The residual amount is based on what a similar asset of the expected condition of the asset at the end of its useful life could be sold for. The assets' residual values and useful lives are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate, at each balance sheet date.

Gains and losses on disposals are determined by comparing proceeds with the carrying amount. These gains and losses are included in the income statement. When revalued assets are sold, amounts included in the revaluation reserve relating to that asset are transferred back to the income statement as part of the profit or loss on disposal.

(f) Employee benefits

Provisions are made for the company's liability for employee benefits arising from services rendered by employees to balance sheet date. Employee benefits that are expected to be settled within one year have been measured at the amounts expected to be paid when the liability is settled. Employee benefits payable later than one year have been measured at the nominal value.

(g) Critical judgements in applying the entity's accounting policies

The following are the critical judgements that management has made in the process of applying the accounting policies and that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements:

In determining the value of the deferred tax asset management have applied judgement regarding recover ability of the asset in accordance with Note 1c.

Report on operations*General economic performance

In 2015 the Italian economy was characterized by an increase in the debt-GDP ratio, which reached an historical record of 132.8% as against an average of 90.7% in the Eurozone. That value is mainly due to the payment of debts by the Public Administrations. The deficit/GDP ratio was 2.6% as against an average of 2.1% in the Eurozone, while the variation of GDP in terms of volume was +0.8% compared to last year as against an European average of +0.8%. Positive results were registered from the first quarter of 2015. The European Commission's forecasts for 2016 are: GDP of 1.1% in 2016 and of 1.3% in 2017; deficit/GDP ratio of 2.6% dropping to 2.0% in 2016. Those forecasts are mainly driven by external factors such as the quantitative easing by the ECB, the fall in oil prices, the increase in exports, the sharp depreciation of the Euro and partially by internal factors such as structural reforms, low inflation, recover of labour market should give support to the purchasing power of private.

As for the developments on the labour market in Italy, the unemployment rate drop by 0.4 percentage points compared to the end of 2014 to 12.3% in December 2015 and 11.4% in March 2016. Youth unemployment rate of 37.9% in March 2016 causes serious concerns. The other positive sign comes from the reduction in the use of redundancy funds by enterprises.

In 2016, the average annual inflation rate remains low. This slowdown in inflation depends on a decrease in consumptions which should remain low for the 2015, mainly due to the poor economic recovery and a weak labour market as well as the presence of wide margins of unexploited earning capacity. Therefore, the European Central Bank is maintained its official interest rate at 0.05% till March 2016 and has further reduced its official interest rate at 0.00% to support economic recovery in the 2016 and to avoid the risk of deflation.

The economic forecast is particularly influenced by the possible evolution of international demand, Euro exchange rate, the solution to the Greek debt crisis and to the Syrian crisis and the supply of credit, all subject to the ECB easing measures. In Italy, the poor supply of consumer credit could continue to negatively influence consumers' confidence, their purchasing power and spending capacity. This could significantly affect the Company's business perspectives. The measures introduced by the national budget aimed at reducing the tax wedge will have a positive impact.

In general, the Company operates in a sector which is historically subject to repeated cycles and this tends to affect the general economic trend, in some cases also widening its scope.

In order to achieve positive results, the Company had to adjust its fixed costs to minimum sales volumes thorough downsizing operations. The Company also improved its capacity to generate positive cash flows by increasing the net working capital turn. In this context, the increase in sales volumes resulted in an increase in revenues and in a reduced use of self-liquidating credit lines.

Demand and reference market trends

The company sold 976 vehicles during the year with an increase of 81% over prior year (539 vehicles) thanks in particular to the expansion of the Italian and Spanish markets and the higher sales of SUV XUV500 which accounted for 56% of the total sales (equalling the levels reached at its launch on the market) as compared to 68% for prior year, thanks to the refresh version. 722 vehicles were registered, thus registering a +47% over prior year.

The vehicles registered in the European market are more than 14 millions, with a 9.2% increase over the previous year (source: ACEA). However, the results of the 5 Major Markets are characterized by a strong recovery and the results at the end of 2015 were: Spain +20.9%, United Kingdom +6.3%, Italy +15.8%, Germany +5.6%, France +6.8%.

Only 1,574,775 new cars were registered on the Italian car market in 2015 (+15.8%). The market showed an increase for the second time since the beginning of the crisis in the car sector in 2008. In six years of crises the sales volumes in Italy were reduced by a half, while in 2015 the variations were positive throughout the year.

In particular, increased tax burden and higher operating costs caused a change in consumers' mobility habits. Italians had to use less their cars (with a consequent drop in mileages and consumptions) and nevertheless incurred in higher expenses for fuel, insurance, car tax, etc. We also recorded a change in the tastes of Italian consumers who now prefer low weight and low consumption vehicles (in 2015 petrol vehicles fell under 31% of the market share) and the registrations of diesel engine vehicles recovered from the decline recorded in previous years exceeding 55% of the market share, also thanks to the excellent performance of the rental sector. Natural gas vehicles fell thanks to the price of fuel and expired the public incentives, while electrical and hybrid vehicles continue to rise in number thanks to the new products and the registrations with public incentives on low overall emissions.

The demand from private clients have begun a slow recovery (+18.1%) falling under 63,9% of the total thanks to replacement demand, promotional campaigns and to lower interest rates, while the rental sector had the lion's share on the market in 2015, recording more than 48,000 new registrations compared with 2014 (+18.2%) and reaching 19.8% of the total market share, thanks to EXPO event. The volumes linked to VAT registered consumers showed a slight increase after the continuous falls in the previous years, but they did not go over 18.8% of the total private market share.

The share of the business cars in Italy is lower than in the other 4 major European markets, as a result of different tax policies applied in those countries. However, the "super amortization" introduced from 15th October 2015 to all 2016 year seems to bring a slight benefit to the company vehicles.

Crossover vehicles dominated the market in 2015 and 2014 and reached almost 16.9% of the total market share. If we add this result to the traditional off-road vehicles, we can state that little more than 1/4 of the consumers were attracted by vehicles in this segment. We record a slight fall in the sales of sedan, representing slightly more than 55% of the consumers' choices.

2015 recorded a further reduction in average CO2 emissions (g/km), which were 115.1 as against 117.8 in 2014, thanks also to the attention paid by consumers to the weight of cars, following what EU regulations require.

The first quarter of 2016 marked a +8.2% at European level, a +20.87 on the Italian market and a +6.9% on the Spanish market. Such recoveries were confirmed in March 2016 with +6.6 (EU), +17.48 (IT) and Spanish market stationary -0.6% (SP).

In 2015 the market of light commercial vehicles in Europe (EU28) showed an increase by 12.4% over 2014, +13.2% in Italy and +36.4% in Spain.

In March the LCV market recorded a month of growth with +8.0%. In the first quarter 2016 total growth was +12.1%. On the major markets we recorded +27.9% in Italy, +10.6% in Spain but in the month of March '16 negative signal of -0.6%.

The Mahindra Europe share in Italy in the Pick-up market was 3.6% in 2015 increasing over 0.8% compared with 2014.

XUV500 represented 0.02% of the market share in 2015, also in 2014 and in the first quarter of 2016.

Competitors' performance

The automobile industry is highly competitive, especially in the sector of the distribution of cars, light commercial vehicles and spare parts. The Company competes in Europe with other groups having international relevance in the distribution of cars, light commercial vehicles and in the supply of the relevant components. All these markets are highly competitive in terms of product quality, innovation, price, fuel efficiency, reliability and safety, customer service and financial services offered.

In the last years competition has significantly increased – especially in terms of price – in the sector where the Company operates. Furthermore, partly because of the recent decrease in the demand for vehicles, the global productive capacity of the automobile industry is largely greater than the current demand. This productive overcapacity, combined with high competition and weak market conditions of the major world economies, could increase pressure on the price of vehicles.

In the automobile business, trends in demand are cyclical and change according to the general conditions of economy, propensity to consume of final customers, the availability of financing and the possible presence of public incentives. Furthermore, this sector is also subject to a continuing renewal of the offer by means of frequent launches of new models on the market. A negative trend of the demand for vehicles, or in case of a Mahindra Group's slow reaction to effectively follow market evolutions, could negatively affect the Company's business perspectives, its economic results and its financial situation.

The Mahindra brand continues to perform its activities in the European countries where it is present. In the LCV it intensively promoted pick-up vehicles (Goa and Genio), especially with public bodies, and in the end of 2015 it launched the distribution of its new line Quanto. As for Mahindra XUV 500, after the launched in 2014 the distribution of its economic version W6, during 2015 refresh version of XUV500 was launched; it was promoted with a very competitive launch price and in the versions suited for trucks N1, which attracted the business sector. Such initiatives resulted into positive sales results.

The Company expects a significant increase in the quantity and scope of technical rules and regulations on emissions and road safety, such as Euro 6 regulations in force since September 1 2015, which could require considerable financial and managerial resources, in particular in the design and development phases. The higher costs incurred to ensure the products' compliance represent a problem for all car makers and will affect the final cost of cars. On the other hand, the deadlines established by the regulations cause the implementation of significant run-out measures leading to a decrease in the sale price of vehicles.

Social, political and labour scenario

All the company's employees are hired under collective bargaining agreements and/or safeguarded by the labour law rules in force which may limit the Company's possibility to reorganize quickly its activities and reduce costs to react to the changing market conditions.

In March 2015 the Company reached an agreement with Trade Unions' representatives and the Regione Lazio for an extraordinary redundancy fund involving 14 employees from March to August 2015.

The Company has good relations with Trade Unions and this enables more flexibility and adjustment to the actual needs.

Business trends in our reference sectors

The business year closed was positive, because the Company maintained and increased its market share, both in the sector of commercial vehicles and in the SUV sector, and by improving its net current assets it also improved its net financial situation.

The table below shows the value of production, gross operating margin and result before taxes for the last three financial years.

Euro	31/03/2016	31/03/2015	31/03/2014
Value of production	15,976,553	9,641,553	7,638,147
Gross operating margin	(36,804)	(361,112)	(1,428,124)
Result before taxes	401,956	34,528	(920,895)

INR	31/03/2016	31/03/2015	31/03/2014
Value of production	11,977,62	7,228,27	5,726,32
Gross operating margin	(27,59)	(270,73)	(1,070,66)
Result before taxes	301,35	25,89	(690,39)

The negative GOM is basically due to the sales incentives granted in the year to face the general drop in prices on the reference market, and to the delay in the launch of the QUANTO models.

Another important factor to take into account is that other financial income is not included in the GOM calculation, as it consists mainly in the parent company's refunds for guarantees on the European market and in costs related to the lack of quality of the products. They represent income from the operating management which could lead to a positive GOM. More details are provided in the paragraph describing relations with parent companies.

The company is not in a difficult financial situation and an agreement made with a major bank for a further line of credit of approx two millions Euro will avoid any financial concern for next year. Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd has confirmed the strategic importance of the Company by granting its financial support. For these reasons the financial statements were drafted in a going concern basis for the next financial year.

The secondary margin of about 1.7 million Euro is more than enough to cover the permanent stock or technical stock, which is necessary to support the Company's operating cycle.

The positive net financial position is due to the ordinary funding of the net working capital, in particular trade receivables reflect the positive trends in payments as discussed in this report and the capacity to repay the oldest trade receivables.

For a more detailed description of the financial position, the table below shows a few indicators and their comparison with the corresponding indicators for the previous financial years.

	31/03/2016	31/03/2015	31/03/2014
Cash ratio	0,88	0,75	0,83
Acid test ratio	1,25	1,25	1,25
Debt ratio	3,58	3,24	3,57
Fixed assets coverage ratio	5,65	3,69	3,85

The cash ratio is 0.88. The financial situation of the Company is good and adequate to meet the current monthly needs of the company; it was better from the previous year.

The acid test ratio is 1.25. The value of the working capital is satisfactory compared to the amount of current debt.

The situation has not changed from the previous year.

The debt ratio is 3.58. The amount of payables is not a source of concern, since 78% of the payables are with the parent company. The amount of payables to banks is not significant compared to existing own resources, however it is necessary to finance the average time required to collect trade receivables. The Company has zeroed its payables with banks as compared to previous years.

The fixed assets coverage ratio 5.65 shows that the amount of own resources and of long-term debt is appropriate if compared to the amount of fixed assets, taking into account the company's technical stock and the financial risk related to the industrial plant held on lease. A increase over last year was recorded.

Environment and staff

In the light of social corporate responsibility, as referred to also in the document on directors' reports issued by the National Board of Tax Consultants and Accounting Experts, information about the environment and the personnel are provided below.

Personnel

There has been no fatality on the job involving any of our employees on payroll during the year, nor any serious accident on the job causing major or extremely serious injuries to any of our employees.

No job-related disease or mobbing case was reported by our employees or former employees during the year, for which the company was declared ultimately liable.

During the year our Company has made significant investments in personnel security through training courses addressed to all company employees, focused in particular on first aid, antifire and the purchase of the PPE required under the laws in force; the Company has met all the obligations required under Legislative Decree no. 81/2008 as amended and supplemented. Our Risk Assessment Report was updated on 07/07/2015.

Environment

No damage to the environment were caused during the accounting period, for which the company was declared ultimately liable. Our company has not been charged with fines or final punishments for offences or damage against the environment during the year.

The Company respects the environment by improving its recycle and reuse policies, especially with paper and packaging boxes, as well as its Energy saving policies. The Company is a member of a Conai (Consortio nazionale imballaggi - National Packaging Consortium), Ecotyre (Consortio per lo smaltimento dei pneumatici fuori uso - Consortium for the disposal of used tyres), and Coou (Consortio obbligatorio degli oli usati - Compulsory Consortium for exhausted oils).

The EC Regulation no. 443/2009 of the European Parliament and Council of 23 April 2009 establishes the performance levels required to reach the target of decreasing CO<sub>2</sub> emissions of vehicles in the period 2012 - 2020. The Community Target for 2012 is 120 gr/km of CO<sub>2</sub>. However, it should be underlined that emissions are not assessed for each individual car but as an average of all the new vehicles registered by an individual car maker for that year.

On 20/12/2011, Mahindra obtained from the European Community a derogation of CO<sub>2</sub> emissions for motor vehicles (M1) under the EU Directive 443/2009 for five years starting from January 1, 2012.

To-date the two vehicles (M1) marketed by Mahindra Europe in Europe are XUV500 FWD and XUV500 AWD whose average CO<sub>2</sub> emissions are 172 gr/Km and 184 gr/Km respectively, as compared to the target emissions stated in gr/Km:

Years	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016
Mahindra	205	183	173	162	144

In the years 2012, 2013 and 2014, Mahindra average CO<sub>2</sub> emissions in Europe were as follows (in gr/km):

Years	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016
Mahindra	179	181	174.9	177.88	-

However, in April 2014 the regulation no. 333/2014 modified article 2 of the regulation no. 443/2009, exempting automobile manufactures with less than 1,000 registrations in the whole territory of Europe from the obligation to comply with emission targets.

Research & Development activities

The following information is provided pursuant to Section 2428 § 2.1 of the Italian Civil Code:

The company is not engaged in any important Research & Development activity. Such activities are carried out by the parent company Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd. During this year the parent company has launched on the market the new refresh version of XUV500 and the QUANTO model for the European countries.

Intercompany relationships

The company has had the following intercompany relationships:

Company Euro	Trade receivables	Trade payables	Sales	Purchases
Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd	260,415	5,476,802	481,393	9,914,900
Total	260,415	5,476,802	481,393	9,914,900

Company INR	Trade receivables	Trade payables	Sales	Purchases
Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd	195,23	4,105,96	360,90	7,433,20
Total	195,23	4,105,96	360,90	7,433,20

These relationships do not include non-typical and/or unusual transactions and are on an arm's length basis, in particular those with the parent company Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd are solely of a trading nature.

Trade receivables are refunds on guarantees recognised and approved by the parent company but not yet settled, while trade payables are invoices for the purchase of vehicles and spares not yet settled.

Purchases relate entirely to vehicles and spare parts, while sales relate to refunds recognised by Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd for guarantees approved or product compliance costs.

Treasury stock/Shares in parent companies

The company does not own directly or indirectly any treasury stock or shares in parent companies.

Risk statement pursuant to Section 2428 § 2.6-bis of the Italian Civil Code

Pursuant to Section 2428, § 2.6-bis of the Italian Civil Code, information about the use of financial resources are reported below, to the extent affecting the evaluation of the company's equity and financial position.

Some quantitative information are supplied below in order to give indications as to the size of the company's exposure to risks.

Exchange risk

Consistently with its risk management policies, the Company tries to face exchange fluctuations and interest rate risks by means of hedging financial instruments. In spite of these hedging measures, sudden currency fluctuations or unexpected interest rate variations could negatively affect the company's economic performances or net financial position. In the financial year the company has not used foreign exchange transactions.

Credit risk

The company has a good credit standing, the amount of trade payables considered of doubtful collection, about Euro 170,000, - 127,45 INR/Laks is more than covered by the provision for bad debts.

Our current maximum exposure, without considering collaterals or other elements improving credit quality, amounts to Euro 200,000, - 149,94 INR/Laks i.e. about 6% of trade receivables, and arise from longer average collection times due mostly to the liquidity crisis that is being faced by the companies in the automotive industry.

However, the company holds Euro 2 million, - 149.94 INR/Laks in bank guarantees to cover its trade receivables.

Liquidity risk

The future performance of the company will depend, among other things, on its ability to cover the requirements arising from payables falling due and investments planned with the cash flow from operations, the cash presently available, the extension or re-financing of bank loans and perhaps the resort to other funding resources.

Even though the company has adopted measures to support its working capital and liquidity, it might be forced to make use of further borrowing, even in unfavourable market conditions, that would result in a general decrease in available resources of funding at higher costs.

The difficulties, if any, in finding such additional loans might adversely affect the prospects and business of the company as well as its financial position and performance.

As regards the policies and options by which the company plans to cope with liquidity risks, please note that:

- The company holds financial assets that are on a cash market and that can be promptly converted into cash;
- There are enough credit lines to cover cash requirements;
- The company holds deposits with credit institutions to meet its liquidity needs; There are several sources of funding;
- There are no significant concentrations of liquidity risk on both the financial assets side and on the sources of funding side.

As the company faces the liquidity risk on the basis of the expected due dates, we confirm that the forthcoming scheduled due dates for the next few months are largely covered by the cash available and the cash flow that we expect to be generated in the same term. The company is in the process to get credit lines which, as of the reference date of the financial statements, are unused because not operated.

Market risk

The balance sheet, income statement and financial positions of the company are affected by the various factors of the macroeconomic scenario – including the increase or decrease of the GNP, the degree of consumer and enterprise trust, the trends of consumer credit interest rates, the cost of raw materials, the unemployment rate – in each of the countries where the company does business. In a generally weak economic scenario, the demand in the reference areas and markets of the company has significantly reduced compared to pre-crisis levels; the company had to handle with its own resources the drop in sales volumes and the lack of State-funded incentive schemes.

In the event that, despite the measures taken by Governments or monetary authorities or as a consequence of amendments introduced to reduce their scope of application or to remove them, the general weakness of the economy and its consequent impact on the demand for automotive products persists in the future, the activities, strategies and prospects of the Company might be adversely affected and this might in turn reflect in a worsening of the financial position and performance of the Company.

On the other hand, even if there is no recession or deterioration of the credit market, any macro-economic event - such as an increase in energy prices, fluctuations in commodities and other raw material prices, adverse fluctuations in key factors like interest and exchange rates, new government policies (including environment regulations) – capable of adversely affecting the business area where the company operates, might compromise the prospects and activities of the company as well as its financial position and performance.

Even in the present market scenario, the company expects to maintain an adequate ability to generate financial resources out of ordinary operations. The initiatives taken for a procurement compatible with the present sales volumes and stock, and the slow but inevitable recovery of European markets, are expected to reflect positively on the ability to generate cash flows from operations.

The company's policy is to maintain the available liquidity invested in bank accounts, splitting its investments among an adequate number of parties, mainly banks, with the main purpose of having promptly cashable deposits. Banks are selected on the basis of the credit market, reliability and quality of services.

Environmental risks and ruling compliance risks

The business of the company are subject to many EU environmental laws and regulations which are becoming stricter. These regulations also concern, among other things, requirements for products with polluting gas and CO2 emissions, fuel consumption and safeness, waste disposal, water and soil contamination. In order to comply with these laws and regulations, the company uses considerable resources and it is likely that heavy costs will be incurred in future in this respect.

In addition, the changes made by government in respect of tax treatments may substantially influence the level of revenues and retail prices of the company's products. The scope and duration of government measures are neither predictable, nor under the company's control.

Significant events occurred after year end

At the date of the Board of Directors' Meeting, there are no significant events, neither negative, nor positive. The company carries on its business in line with its plans.

Predictable developments

The positive data on sales are likely to be confirmed in the next accounting period. Such growth will be mainly driven by the sound recovery of the major reference markets, Italy and other EU countries, and by a careful management of resources and communication in order to make Mahindra more visible. The launch of the Euro 6 version of the Mahindra XUV 500 (in the middle of the year). The operating income is expected to remain positive, but not proportionate to the sales volumes because of the harsh competition in the sales of end-of-series-vehicles.

Revaluation of company assets pursuant to Italian Law Decree no. 185/2008

The company does not own any real property and therefore did not use the optional revaluation of corporate assets envisaged by Italian Law no. 342/2000.

Allocation of profits

We propose to the Shareholders to allocate the profits as follows:

Result for the year as at 31/03/2016	Euro	555,868

Basis of preparation

These Financial Statements comply with Article 2423 and following of the Italian Civil Code, as shown in these Notes to the Accounts, which are drawn up pursuant to Article 2427 of the Italian Civil Code and are an integral part of the Financial Statements according to Article 2423 of the Italian Civil Code.

Accounting figures are expressed in INR/Laks and the amounts are rounded off. Any rounding difference is listed under the item "Reserve from round-offs in INR/Laks" in the Net Equity and "Round-offs from INR/Laks" under the item "Extraordinary income and charges" in the Income statement.

Pursuant to art. 2423, par. 5 of the Italian Civil Code, values are expressed in INR/Laks in the Notes to the Accounts.

Reporting criteria

(Ref. art. 2427, par. 1, no. 1 of the Italian Civil Code and accounting principle OIC [Official Italian Accounting Board] 12.

The accounting principles and evaluation criteria adopted for drawing up the Financial Statements as at 31/03/2016 are in line with those used to draw up the Financial Statements of the previous year.

Individual items were evaluated according to prudence and matching principles on a going concern basis and taking into account the economic function of the asset or liability under consideration.

By applying the prudence principle, every element characterizing single posts or entries among assets or liabilities was assessed individually and losses to be recognized were not settled against non-recognizable profits.

In compliance with the matching principle, the effect of operations and other events was registered in the year which such operations and events refer to and not in the year in which receipts and payments are made.

Applying the same assessment criteria every year is important for the comparability of the company data over the years.

By taking into account the economic function of the asset or liability considered for the evaluation and thus taking into account substance over form that it is compulsory where not explicitly in conflict with other specific norms on accounting operations are represented in their economic reality underlying formal aspects.

Exemptions

(Ref. art. 2423, par. 4 of the Italian Civil Code)

There were not exceptional circumstances requiring the use of exemptions under art. 2423, par. 4 of the Italian Civil Code.

In particular, the assessment criteria adopted for the financial statements are described below.

Fixed assets

Intangible fixed assets

They are reported at historical purchase cost, net of depreciations over the years.

The costs relating to plant and machinery, research, development and advertising whose effects regard several different years are depreciated over a period of 5 business years, while the costs for the approval of vehicles are amortized over a period of 3 business years.

Software licenses were recorded in the assets and are amortized over a period of 2 business years.

Improvements to third party assets are amortized with rates depending upon the duration of the contract.

Tangible assets

They are entered at purchase cost and adjusted in the corresponding depreciation funds.

The values in the Financial Statements are expressed taking into account the ancillary costs and the costs incurred using the asset, applying relevant trading and cash discounts.

The depreciation rates entered in the Income Statement have been calculated taking into account the use, the purpose and the economic/technical life of the goods, according to the residual possibility of use. We think that the following rates are appropriate, they were not modified from last year and reduced by half if compared to the first year of use:

PLANT AND MACHINERY

• Specific plants	15%
• Generic plants	10%
• Alarm systems	30%
• Telephone systems	20%

INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL EQUIPMENT

• Miscellaneous equipment	15%
• Presses	15%

OTHER GOODS

• Electronic machines	20%
• Motor vehicles	20%
• Office furniture and machinery	12%
• Cars	25%
• Fixed equipment	10%

Should durable losses in value arise, regardless of depreciations applied in the accounts, the fixed asset is depreciated accordingly. If the conditions for depreciation are no longer in place in the following years, the original value is restored, adjusted by depreciations only.

Financial leasing transactions

The equity method has been used to enter financial leasing transactions in the Financial Statements the fees paid are included in the Income Statement on an accrual basis. The relevant section of the Notes to the Accounts contains the complementary information required by law in relation to the representation of financial leasing contracts according to the financial method.

As for financial leasing transactions resulting from lease back operations, gains are recorded in the Income Statement applying the matching principle through deferred income and gradual attribution to revenues in the Income Statement, based on the duration of the financial leasing contract.

Receivables

Receivables are recognized at their estimated realizable value. The adjustment of the nominal value of receivables to the assumed realizable value is obtained through a reserve for bad debts, taking into consideration the general and industrial economic conditions and country risk.

Receivables originally claimable by the end of the year and subsequently transformed into long-term receivables were entered in the Balance Sheet under financial fixed assets.

Receivables were removed from the Financial Statement when contract rights on financial flows resulting from receivables are annulled or if all risks relating to receivables to be cancelled are transferred.

Payables

Payables are recognized at nominal value, modified in case of returned goods or invoicing changes.

Accrued income and prepayments

Prepayments and accrued income are determined on an accrual basis over the year.

The conditions determining the original entry of multi-annual prepayments and accrued income were verified and the required variations were made, where necessary.

Inventory

Raw and auxiliary materials and finished products are entered at purchase or manufacturing cost, whichever is lower, and at the realisation value based on market performance, applying the average weighted cost for spare and accessory parts and the specific cost for automobiles.

The value so obtained is then adjusted with the "Inventory obsolescence provision" in order to take into account the goods for which a realizable value inferior to the cost is expected.

As for the previously depreciated stock, if the conditions causing the reduction of the realizable value no longer exist, the original cost has been restored.

Shareholding

Other shareholdings are recorded at purchase or subscription cost.

The shareholdings recorded under fixed assets represent a durable and strategic investment for the company.

The shareholdings recorded at purchase cost have not been depreciated as they have not undergone any durable losses in value.

Provisions for liabilities and other charges

Provisions for liabilities and charges are allocated to hedge acknowledged or possible losses or payables, whose amount and date cannot not be determined at the end of the business year.

In assessing these provisions, the general criteria of prudence and the accrual basis method were adopted and no general provisions without an economic justification were created.

Potential liabilities were recorded in the Financial Statements and included in the provisions as they were deemed probable and the amount of the relevant cost could be reliably estimated.

Post-employment benefit

This item represents the actual liability for the post-employment benefit (TFR) accrued at year end in favour of employees, calculated in compliance with the applicable law and labour agreements and taking into account all forms of remuneration on a continuous basis.

The provision corresponds to the sum of individual indemnities accrued in favour of employees at the closing date, net of advance payments made, and to the amount to be paid to employees in the case of termination of employment relations on such date.

Income taxes

Income taxes are recognized on an accrual basis. They reflect:

- Provisions for taxes already paid or to be paid during the year, calculated in accordance with applicable rates and laws;
- The amount of deferred taxes or taxes paid in advance relating to temporary differences arising or cancelled during the year.

Revenues

Revenues resulting from the sale of products are recognized at the date of the transfer of ownership, which is usually identified with the delivery or dispatch of the goods. The company sells cars with retention of title under Article 1523 of the Italian Civil Code.

Financial revenues and revenues from services are recognised on an accrual basis.

Revenues and costs relating to transactions in foreign currency are recognized at the exchange rate at the date of the transaction.

Revenues and charges on repurchase transactions, including the difference between forward price and spot price, are entered for the period.

Adjustment criteria

No adjustments were made to the reporting criteria adopted.

Guarantees, pledges, third party assets and risks

The Company has not given any real or personal guarantee for third parties' payables.

They are charged in the memorandum accounts at their nominal value, as derived from related documentary evidences.

The Company does not own third party's goods in its premises, with the exception of the real estate leasing.

The risks for which liabilities are only possible are described in the notes, without any provision being made for risks according to the reference accounting standards.

The risks for which liabilities are only possible are described in the notes, without any provision being made for risks according to the reference accounting standards. Remote risks were not considered.

Significant events during the year

In a context where the Italian automotive market sector is beginning to show the first signs of recovery, business continuity is guaranteed in large part by orders that the Mahindra group & Mahindra Ltd. Plan to assign to the company.

The company continues business activities aimed at increasing customers not belonging to the group.

Basis of preparation

The following financial statements have been prepared in accordance with articles 2423 et seq of the Italian Civil Code, as reported in these notes, which have been drawn up in compliance with article 2427 of the Italian Civil Code, and, under article 2423, constitute an integral part of the financial statements for the year.

The valuation criteria applied to items and adjustments in the financial statements comply with the provisions of the Italian Civil Code and with the guidance issued by the Italian Accounting Board.

The financial statements are presented in Euros and the amounts have been rounded. Any rounding differences have been recorded in the "Euro rounding reserve" within Shareholders' Equity and as "Euro rounding differences" within item "extraordinary income and costs" in the Profit and loss account.

In accordance with article 2423, paragraph 5, of the Italian Civil Code, the notes to the accounts have been prepared in Euros.

The financial statements have been drawn up in abbreviated form in accordance with article 2435 of the Italian Civil Code. However, for greater reporting clarity the financial statement schedules have been presented in the ordinary form.

Valuation Criteria

The criteria used in the preparation of the financial statements for the year ended 31/03/2016 have not changed from those used in the financial statements of the previous year, in particular with respect to the principles of valuation and consistency.

All items in the financial statements have been valued in accordance with the general principles of prudence and accruals and on a going-concern basis, also taking into account the economic function of the asset or liability.

The application of the prudence principle entailed the assessment of the individual elements of each asset and liability in order to prevent losses that should be recognised from being offset against unrealised profits which should not.

In accordance with the accrual principle, the effects of transactions and other events are recognised in the period to which they refer, and not in the period in which the associated cash flows (receipts and payments) occur.

Consistency of valuation criteria over time is fundamental for ensuring the comparability of the company's financial statements between different periods.

Recognition of assets and liabilities on the basis of their economic function reflects the principle of substance over form – obligatory where not expressly contrary to other specific accounting principles – and makes it possible to report transactions in accordance with the economic reality underlying the formal aspects.

Derogations

There were no exceptional circumstances that made it necessary to resort to derogations under article 2423, paragraph 4 of the Italian Civil Code.

Fixed Assets

Intangible assets

Intangible assets are recorded at historical acquisition cost and shown net of accumulated amortisation charged directly to the individual items.

Following approval by the Supervisory Body, purchased goodwill has been recorded at an amount equal to the cost incurred and paid to G.R. Grafica Ricerca Design S.r.l. in 2008 for the acquisition of a business unit, and is amortised on a straight-line basis over 10 years. This period does not exceed the expected useful life of the assets.

Rights to use intellectual property are amortised at an annual rate of 20%. These relate only to software. Annual fees for the use of graphic licenses are recognised on an accrual basis in the Profit and loss account.

Other intangible assets consist of leasehold improvements and are amortised on a straight-line basis based on the future useful life of the costs incurred.

In the event that, regardless of the amortisation already recorded, an impairment loss occurs, the fixed asset is written down accordingly. If in subsequent years the reasons for the write-down should cease to apply then the original value is reinstated, adjusted for the relevant amortisation.

Changes in tangible fixed assets

Tangible Assets

Tangible assets are recorded at acquisition cost and shown net of accumulated depreciation.

The carrying amounts take into account incidental costs and costs sustained for the use of the fixed asset, less any material trade or cash discounts.

The depreciation rates charged to the profit and loss account have been calculated bearing in mind the use, destination, and the economic and technical life of the assets, based on the criterion of remaining useful life. We believe that this criterion is properly represented by the following rates which have not changed from the previous year and which are reduced by half in the year that an asset comes into operation:

- Equipment:	15%
- Furnishings:	12%
- Motor vehicles:	20%
- Office machinery, furniture and fittings:	12%
- Electrical office machinery:	20%
- Internal communication devices:	25%

In the event that, regardless of the depreciation already recorded, an impairment loss occurs, the fixed asset is written down accordingly. If in subsequent years the reasons for the write-down should cease to apply then the original value is reinstated, adjusted for the relevant depreciation.

No assets have been discretionarily or voluntarily revalued and the valuations carried out have been determined objectively based on the use of the assets in question.

Current assets: Accounts receivable

Receivables

Receivables are recorded at their estimated realisable value. The nominal value of receivables is adjusted to this value through the provision for bad debts, taking general economic and sector conditions and also country risk into consideration.

Receivables are derecognised in the financial statements when the rights to the cash flows from the assets expire or when the assets are sold and all the risks connected to them are transferred.

Accruals and prepayments

Accrued income and prepaid expenses have been determined in accordance with the accruals concept.

For long term accruals and prepayments the conditions that determined their initial recognition have been verified and any necessary changes made.

Accruals and prepayments include income and expenses whose impact on profit or loss comes before or after their actual cash payment and/or documentary support; regardless of the date of payment or collection of the income or expenses, they relate to two or more financial years and are allocated over time.

As at 31/03/2016 there are no accruals and prepayments with a duration of more than five years.

Taxes on income for the year – current, deferred
Current, deferred taxes
Income tax

Taxes are accounted for on an accruals basis and therefore represent:

- provisions for taxes paid or to be paid for the year, determined in accordance with the rates and regulations in force
- the amount of taxes deferred or paid in advance in respect of temporary differences arising or reversed during the year

Tax payable is recorded under tax payables net of payments on account, withholding taxes and, generally, of tax credits.

Deferred IRES is calculated on the temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities determined according to statutory criteria and the corresponding tax values.

Deferred IRAP is calculated on the temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities determined according to statutory criteria and the corresponding tax values solely with reference to the company.

Current and deferred IRAP is determined solely with reference to the company.

These controls are monitored throughout the company and all employees are required to maintain the highest ethical standards in ensuring the company's business is conducted in a manner that in all reasonable circumstances is above reproach. The focus of risk management in the company is on identifying, assessing, managing and monitoring all known forms of risk across the company. While operating risk cannot be fully eliminated, the company endeavours to minimise it by ensuring that appropriate infrastructure, controls, systems and ethical behaviour are applied and managed within predetermined procedures and constraints.

The directors are of the opinion, based on the information and explanations given by management, that the system of internal control provides reasonable assurance that the financial records may be relied on for the preparation of the annual financial statements. However, any system of internal financial control can provide only reasonable, and not absolute, assurance against material misstatement or loss.

Directors' Responsibility for the Financial Statements

The company's directors are responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards and the requirements of the Companies Act of South Africa, and for such internal control as the directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1. Presentation of Financial Statements

The annual financial statements have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards, and the Companies Act 71 of 2008. The financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis, except for the measurement of certain financial instruments at fair value, and incorporate the principal accounting policies set out below. They are presented in South African Rands and convenience translation at ZAR 1 = INR 4.44.

These accounting policies are consistent with the previous period.

1.1 Significant judgements and sources of estimation uncertainty

In preparing the annual financial statements, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts represented in the financial statements and related disclosures. Use of available information and the application of judgement is inherent in the formation of estimates. Actual results in the future could differ from these estimates which may be material to the annual financial statements. Significant judgements include:

Deferred revenue

The fair value of deferred revenue from service plans is management's best estimate of the company's future income and cost based on the estimated service cost that would occur for the selected models over a period of three to five years adjusted for inflation and possible price increases in parts and labour used in the service of the selected model.

Provision for warranties

Warranty provisions are management's best estimate of the company's liability (after the expected reimbursement from the manufacturer) on vehicles under two, three or five year warranties based on the three years actual historical sales and warranty claims occurred. The cost per day calculated on those claims is used to estimate the future cost for the remaining warranty days under consideration.

Fair value measurement

The company measures financial instruments at fair value at each reporting date.

The fair values of financial instruments measured at amortised cost are disclosed should it be determined that the carrying value of these instruments do not reasonably approximate their value at each reporting date.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- In the principal market for the asset or liability; or;
- In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability.

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the company.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest. At fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in the highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data is available to measure fair value, maximizing the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorized within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

- Level 1 – Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities; or
- Level 2 – Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable; or
- Level 3 – Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

1.2 Property, plant and equipment

The cost of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised as an asset when:

- it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the company; and
- the cost of the item can be measured reliably.

Property, plant and equipment is initially measured at cost.

Costs include costs incurred initially to acquire or construct an item of property, plant and equipment and costs incurred subsequently to add to, replace part of, or service it. If a replacement cost is recognised in the carrying amount of an item of property, plant and equipment, the carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognised.

Property, plant and equipment are depreciated on the straight line basis over their expected useful lives to their estimated residual value.

Property, plant and equipment is carried at cost less accumulated depreciation and any impairment losses.

The useful lives of items of property, plant and equipment have been assessed as follows:

Item	Average useful life
Plant and machinery	3 years
Furniture and fixtures	3 years
Motor vehicles	4 years
Office equipment	6 years
IT equipment	4 years
Computer software	5 years
Leasehold improvements	3 years

The residual value, useful life and depreciation method of each asset are reviewed at the end of each reporting period. If the expectations differ from previous estimates, the change is accounted for as a change in accounting estimate.

Each part of an item of property, plant and equipment with a cost that is significant in relation to the total cost of the item is depreciated separately.

The depreciation charge for each period is recognised in profit or loss.

The gain or loss arising from the derecognition of an item of property, plant and equipment is included in profit or loss when the item is derecognised. The gain or loss arising from the derecognition of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the net disposal proceeds, if any, and the carrying amount of the item.

1.3 Financial instruments

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial instruments are recognised initially when the company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments.

Financial assets and liabilities are initially recognized at fair value.

The company classifies financial instruments, or their component parts, on initial recognition as a financial asset, a financial liability or an equity instrument in accordance with the substance of the contractual arrangement.

Trade and other receivables

Trade receivables are measured at initial recognition at fair value, and are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate method. Appropriate allowances for estimated irrecoverable amounts are recognised in profit or loss when there is objective evidence that the asset is impaired. Significant financial difficulties of the debtor, probability that the debtor will enter bankruptcy or financial reorganisation, and default or delinquency in payments (more than 30 days overdue) are considered indicators that the trade receivable is impaired. The allowance recognised is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the effective interest rate computed at initial recognition.

The carrying amount of the asset is reduced through the use of an allowance account, and the amount of the loss is recognised in profit or loss within operating expenses. When a trade receivable is uncollectable, it is written off against the allowance account for trade receivables. Subsequent recoveries of amounts previously written off are credited against operating expenses in profit or loss.

Trade and other receivables are classified as loans and receivables.

Trade and other payables

Trade payables are initially measured at fair value, and are subsequently measured at amortised cost, using the effective interest rate method.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise of cash on hand and demand deposits, and other short term highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to a known amount of cash and are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. These are initially and subsequently recorded at fair value.

Bank overdraft and borrowings

Bank overdrafts and borrowings are initially measured at fair value, and are subsequently measured at amortised cost, using the effective interest rate method. Any difference between the proceeds (net of transaction costs) and the settlement or redemption of borrowings is recognised over the term of the borrowings in accordance with the company's accounting policy for borrowing costs.

Other financial liabilities are measured initially at fair value and subsequently at amortised cost, using the effective interest rate method.

Derivatives

Derivative financial instruments, which are not designated as hedging instruments, consisting of foreign exchange contracts and interest rate swaps, are initially measured at fair value on the contract date, and are re measured to fair value at subsequent reporting dates.

Changes in the fair value of derivative financial instruments are recognised in profit or loss as they arise.

Derivatives are classified as financial assets at fair value through profit or loss – held for trading.

1.4 Tax

Current tax assets and liabilities

Current tax is based on taxable profit for the year.

Current tax for current and prior periods is, to the extent unpaid, recognised as a liability. If the amount already paid in respect of current and prior periods exceeds the amount due for those periods, the excess is recognised as an asset.

Current tax liabilities (assets) for the current and prior periods are measured at the amount expected to be paid to (recovered from) the tax authorities, using the tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities

A deferred tax liability is recognised for all taxable temporary differences, except to the extent that the deferred tax liability arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction which at the time of the transaction, affects neither accounting profit nor taxable profit (tax loss).

A deferred tax asset is recognised for all deductible temporary differences to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary difference can be utilised. A deferred tax asset is not recognised when it arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction at the time of the transaction, affects neither accounting profit nor taxable profit (tax loss).

A deferred tax asset is recognised for the carry forward of unused tax losses to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the unused tax losses can be utilised.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply to the period when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

Tax expenses

Income tax expenses represents the sum of the tax currently payable and the movement in deferred tax.

Current and deferred taxes are recognised as income or an expense and included in profit or loss for the period, except to the extent that the tax arises from:

- a transaction or event which is recognised, in the same or a different period, to other comprehensive income, or
- a transaction or event which is recognised, in the same or a different period, directly in equity, or
- a business combination.

Current tax and deferred taxes are charged or credited directly to equity if the tax relates to items that are credited or charged, in the same or a different period, directly in equity.

1.5 Leases

A lease is classified as a finance lease if it transfers substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership. A lease is classified as an operating lease if it does not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership.

Operating leases – lessee

Operating lease payments are recognised as an expense on a straight line basis over the lease term. The difference between the amounts recognised as an expense and the contractual payments are recognised as an operating lease asset. This liability is not discounted.

1.6 Inventories

Inventories are measured at the lower of cost and net realisable value.

Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business less the estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs (towards rebates or incentives) necessary to make the sale.

The cost of inventories comprises of all costs of purchase, costs of conversion and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

The cost of inventories is assigned using the weighted average cost formula. The same cost formula is used for all inventories having a similar nature and use to the entity.

1.7 Impairment of assets

The company assesses at each end of the reporting period whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired. If any such indication exists, the group estimates the recoverable amount of the asset.

If there is any indication that an asset may be impaired, the recoverable amount is estimated for the individual asset. If it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of the individual asset, the recoverable amount of the cash generating unit to which the asset belongs is determined.

The recoverable amount of an asset or a cash generating unit is the higher of its fair value less costs to sell and its value in use.

If the recoverable amount of an asset is less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset is reduced to its recoverable amount. That reduction is an impairment loss.

An impairment loss of assets carried at cost less any accumulated depreciation or amortisation is recognised immediately in profit or loss. Any impairment loss of a revalued asset is treated as a revaluation decrease.

An entity assesses at each reporting date whether there is any indication that an impairment loss recognised in prior periods for assets other than goodwill may no longer exist or may have decreased. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amounts of those assets are estimated.

The increased carrying amount of an asset other than goodwill attributable to a reversal of an impairment loss does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognised for the asset in prior periods.

A reversal of an impairment loss of assets carried at cost less accumulated depreciation or amortisation other than goodwill is recognised immediately in profit or loss. Any reversal of an impairment loss of a revalued asset is treated as a revaluation increase.

1.8 Share capital and equity

An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of an entity after deducting all of its liabilities.

Ordinary shares are classified as inventory.

1.9 Employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits

The cost of short term employee benefits, (those payable within 12 months after the service is rendered, such as paid vacation leave and sick leave, bonuses, and non monetary benefits such as medical care), are recognised in the period in which the service is rendered and are not discounted.

The expected cost of compensated absences is recognised as an expense as the employees render services that increase their entitlement or, in the case of non accumulating absences, when the absence occurs.

The expected cost of profit sharing and bonus payments is recognised as an expense when there is a legal or constructive obligation to make such payments as a result of past performance.

Defined contribution plans

Payments to defined contribution retirement benefit plans are charged as an expense as they fall due.

1.10 Provisions and contingencies

Provisions are recognised when:

- the company has a present obligation as a result of a past event;
- it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation; and
- a reliable estimate can be made of the obligation.

The amount of a provision is the present value of the expenditure expected to be required to settle the obligation.

Where some or all of the expenditure required to settle a provision is expected to be reimbursed by another party, the reimbursement shall be recognised when, and only when, it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received if the entity settles the obligation. The reimbursement shall be treated as a separate asset. The amount recognised for the reimbursement shall not exceed the amount of the provision.

Provisions are not recognised for future operating losses.

If an entity has a contract that is onerous, the present obligation under the contract shall be recognised and measured as a provision.

Contingent assets and contingent liabilities are not recognised.

1.11 Revenue

Revenue from the sale of goods is recognised when all the following conditions have been satisfied:

- the company has transferred to the buyer the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods;
- the company retains neither continuing managerial involvement to the degree usually associated with ownership nor effective control over the goods sold;
- the amount of revenue can be measured reliably;
- it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the company; and
- the costs incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliably.

When the outcome of a transaction involving the rendering of services can be estimated reliably, revenue associated with the transaction is recognized by reference to the stage of completion of the transaction at the end of the reporting period.

The outcome of a transaction can be estimated reliably when all the following conditions are satisfied:

- the amount of revenue can be measured reliably;
- it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the company;
- the stage of completion of the transaction at the end of the reporting period can be measured reliably; and
- the costs incurred for the transaction and the costs to complete the transaction can be measured reliably.

When the outcome of the transaction involving the rendering of services cannot be estimated reliably, revenue shall be recognised only to the extent of the expenses recognized that are recoverable.

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable and represents the amounts receivable for goods and services provided in the normal course of business, net of trade discounts and volume rebates, and value added tax.

Revenue from the sale of service plans is deferred over the term of the service plan.

Interest is recognised, in profit or loss, using the effective interest rate method.

1.12 Cost of sales

When inventories are sold, the carrying amount of those inventories is recognised as an expense in the period in which the related revenue is recognised. The amount of any write down of inventories to net realisable value and all losses of inventories are recognised as an expense in the period the write down or loss occurs. The amount of any reversal of any write down of inventories, arising from an increase in net realisable value, is recognised as a reduction in the amount of inventories recognised as an expense in the period in which the reversal occurs.

The related cost of providing services recognised as revenue in the current period is included in cost of sales.

1.13 Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs are recognised as an expense in the period in which they are incurred.

1.14 Translation of foreign currencies Foreign currency transactions

A foreign currency transaction is recorded, on initial recognition in Rands, by applying to the foreign currency amount the spot exchange rate between the functional currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction.

At the end of the reporting period:

- foreign currency monetary items are translated using the closing rate;
- non monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction; and
- non monetary items that are measured at fair value in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates at the date when the fair value was determined.

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items or on translating monetary items at rates different from those at which they were translated on initial recognition during the period or in previous financial statements are recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

Cash flows arising from transactions in a foreign currency are recorded in Rands by applying to the foreign currency amount the exchange rate between the Rand and the foreign currency at the date of the cash flow.

1.15 Levies

IFRIC 21 addresses the issue of when to recognize a liability to pay a levy. The Interpretation defines a levy, and specifies that the obligating event that gives rise to the liability is the activity that triggers the payment of the levy, as identified by legislation. The Interpretation provides guidance on how different levy arrangements should be accounted for, in particular, it clarifies that neither economic compulsion nor the going concern basis of financial statements preparation implies that an entity has a present obligation to pay a levy that will be triggered by operating in a future period. The company has inventory stored in a bonded warehouse where duties, levies and taxes are due once the inventory leaves the bonded warehouse, or 24 months, whichever are earlier. IFRIC 21 is applied retrospectively.

2. New Standards and Interpretations

At the date of approval of these annual financial statements, certain new accounting standards, amendments and interpretations to existing standards have been published but are not yet effective, and have not been adopted early by the entity.

Management anticipates that all of the pronouncements will be adopted in the entity's accounting policies for the first period beginning after the effective date of the pronouncement. Information on new standards, amendments and interpretations that are expected to be relevant to the entity's financial statements is provided below. Certain other new standards and interpretations have been issued but are not expected to have a material impact on the entity's financial statements.

2.1 Standards and interpretations not yet effective and adopted in the current year

In the current year, the company has adopted the following standards and interpretations that are effective for the current financial year and that are relevant to its operations:

IFRIC 21: Levies

IFRIC 21 addresses the issue as to when to recognise a liability to pay a levy imposed by government. The Interpretation defines a levy, and specifies that the obligation event that gives rise to the liability is the activity that triggers the payment of the levy, as identified by legislation. The Interpretation provides guidance on how different levy arrangements should be accounted for, in particular, it clarifies that neither economic compulsion nor the going concern basis of financial statements preparation implies that an entity has a present obligation to pay a levy that will be triggered by operating in future period.

IFRIC 21 has been applied retrospectively and prior year figures has been appropriately restated.

The company has adopted the Interpretation for the first time in the current year.

IAS 16 Property, Plant and Equipment

Amendments to the revaluation method will be implemented relating to proportionate restatement of accumulated depreciation.

The effective date of the amendment is for years beginning on or after 1st July, 2014.

The company has adopted the amendment for the first time in the 2015 annual financial statements.

The impact of the amendment is not material.

IAS 36: Impairment assets

The amendments to IAS 36 clarified the required disclosures of information about the recoverable amount of impaired assets if that amount is based on fair value less costs of disposal.

The effective date of the amendment is for years beginning on or after 1st January, 2014.

The company has adopted the amendment for the first time in the 2015 annual financial statements.

The impact of the amendment is not material.

2.2 Standards and interpretations not yet effective

The company has chosen not to early adopt the following standards and interpretations, which have been published and are mandatory for the company's accounting periods beginning on or after 01st April, 2015 or later periods:

IFRS 9 Financial Instruments

The IASB aims to replace IAS 39 'Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement' (IAS 39) in its entirety with IFRS 9. To date, the chapters dealing with recognition, classification, measurement, derecognition of financial assets and liabilities and hedge accounting have been issued. Chapters dealing with impairment methodology are still being developed. Further, in November 2011, the IASB tentatively decided to consider making limited modifications to IFRS 9's financial asset classification model to address application issues.

The effective date of the amendment is for years beginning on or after 1st January 2018.

The adoption of this standard is not expected to impact on the results of the company, but may result in more disclosure than is currently provided in the annual financial statements.

IFRS 15: Revenue from Contracts with Customers

This standard provides guidance on recognition of revenue that requires recognition of revenue in a manner that depicts the transfer of goods or services to customers at an amount that reflects the consideration the entity expects to be entitled to in exchange for those goods or services.

The effective date of standard is for years beginning on or after 1st January, 2017.

The adoption of this standard is not expected to impact on the results of the company, but may result in more disclosure than is currently provided in the annual financial statements.

Foreign currency sensitivity

The following table illustrates the sensitivity of the net result for the year and equity in regards to the company's financial assets and financial liabilities and the US Dollar Rand exchange rate.

It assumes a +5% and -12% change of the Rand/US Dollar exchange rate for the year ended 31 March 2016 (2015: +5% and -10 %). This has been determined based on the average market volatility in exchange rates in the previous 12 months. The sensitivity analysis is based on the company's foreign currency financial instruments held at balance sheet date and also takes into account forward exchange contracts that offset effects from changes in currency exchange rates.

If the Rand had strengthened against the US Dollar by 5% (2015: 5%) then this would have had the following impact:

	2016		2015
	Rs.	ZAR	Rs.	ZAR
Net results for the year ....	268,491	60,471	69,619	15,680

If the Rand had weakened against the US Dollar by 12% (2015: 12%) then this would have had the following impact:

	2016		2015
	Rs.	ZAR	Rs.	ZAR
Net results for the year ....	(644,382)	(145,131)	(167,086)	(37,632)

Exposure to foreign exchange rates varies during the year depending on the volumes of overseas transactions. Nonetheless the analysis above is considered to be representative of the company's exposure to currency.

NOTE C – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant accounting policies are detailed below:

1. Basis of preparation

- The accompanying financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with the accounting and reporting requirements of generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America (“US GAAP”) to reflect the financial position, results of operation and cash flows of the Company.
- The financial statements are for the years ended March 31, 2016 and March 31, 2015.
- Financial information in this report is shown in U.S. dollars (“USD”) and in Indian rupees (“INR”). For the years ended March 31, 2016 and March 31, 2015, dollar amounts are translated for convenience into Indian rupees at an exchange rate of 66.35 INR per dollar, which is the average of the telegraphic transfer buying and selling rates quoted by the Mumbai Branch of State Bank of India on March 31, 2016. Within the notes to the financial statements, Indian rupee amounts are shown parenthetically following the U.S. dollar amounts.

- Previous year figures have been reclassified wherever required for comparability.

2. Use of estimates

Preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

3. Property and equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. Cost of items of property and equipment comprises cost of purchase and other costs necessarily incurred to bring it to the condition and location necessary for its intended use.

The Company depreciates property and equipment over the estimated useful life using the straight-line method. Upon retirement or disposal of assets, the cost and accumulated depreciation are eliminated from the accounts and the resulting gain or loss is credited or charged to operations.

Property and equipment are considered to have a useful life of three (3) to thirty (30) years. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged to expense. Property and equipment is reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value of the asset may not be recoverable.

4. Operating leases

Lease rent expenses on operating leases are charged to expense over the lease term. Certain operating lease agreements provide for scheduled rent increases over the lease term. Rent expense for such leases is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

5. Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity of twelve months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents.

6. Income taxes

Income taxes are provided for the tax effects of transactions reported in the financial statements and consist of taxes currently due, plus deferred taxes related primarily to differences between the basis of certain assets and liabilities for financial and tax reporting. The deferred taxes represent the future tax return consequences of those differences, which will either be taxable or deductible when the assets and liabilities are recovered or settled, respectively.

The Company has determined whether any tax positions have met the recognition threshold and has measured the Company’s exposure to those tax provisions. Management believes that the Company has adequately addressed all relevant tax positions and that there are no unrecorded tax liabilities. Federal and state taxing authorities generally have the right to examine and audit the previous three years of tax returns filed. Any interest or penalties from federal and state taxing authorities were recorded in the accompanying financial statements.

7. Revenue recognition

Revenues from contracts are recognized when earned and collectability is reasonably assured. The Company’s contract with its principle customer, Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd (M&M) specifies that invoices may be raised for the costs incurred in engineering and developing drivable concept prototype vehicles plus an agreed upon profit margin. Anticipated losses on contracts are recorded when determinable.

8. Government incentive

The Company receives incentives from the Michigan Economic Development Corporation in the form of business development grants. These grants are recognized at their fair values in the statement of income where there is a reasonable assurance that all grant conditions have been complied with and the grant will be received.

In assessing the realization of deferred tax assets, the likelihood of whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized must be considered. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent on the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which temporary difference become deductible. Management considers the projected future taxable income and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. Based on the level of projections for future taxable income for which the deferred tax assets are deductible, the management believes there exists reasonable certainty regarding the realization of deferred tax assets on the net operating losses and research & development credit.

The Company recognizes the financial statement impact of a tax position when it is more likely than not that the position will be sustained upon examination. The adoption of this standard had no material effect on the Company's financial position, results of operation or cash flows.

NOTE B - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

A summary of the significant accounting policies applied in the preparation of the accompanying financial statements is as follows:

1. Basis of preparation
  - a. The accompanying financial statements are prepared under the historical cost convention on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with the accounting and reporting requirements of generally accepted accounting principles in the United States ("US GAAP") to reflect the financial position, results of operation and cash flows of the Company. The Company meets the definition of a non-public entity and accordingly, relaxations from specific disclosures have been considered wherever available.
  - b. The financial statements are for the year April 1, 2015 to March 31, 2016 and April 1, 2014 to March 31, 2015.
  - c. The financial information in this report is shown in both US Dollars (USD) and in Indian Rupees (INR). For March 31, 2016 and March 31, 2015, dollar amounts are translated for convenience into Indian rupees at exchange rate of 66.35 INR per dollar which is the average of the telegraphic transfer buying and selling rates quoted by the Mumbai branch of State Bank of India on March 31, 2016. Within the notes to the financial statements, Indian rupee amounts are shown parenthetically following the U.S. dollar amount.
  - d. Certain reclassifications, regroupings and reworking have been made in the financial statements of prior periods to conform to the classifications used in the current year. These changes had no impact on previously reported net income or stockholders' equity.
2. Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with United States generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reported period. The management's estimates for allowance for doubtful debts and provision for current and deferred taxes, provision for warranty costs represent some of the estimates. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

3. Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers all cash accounts, money market accounts, and certificates of deposit with maturities of less than three months to be cash and cash equivalents. Cash balances in bank accounts are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to an aggregate of $250,000.

4. Revenue recognition

Service revenue

During the previous year ended March 31, 2015, the Company rendered research and development services that were reimbursed by a third party. Revenues on this cost-plus contract were recognized as the services are performed. The Company's effort, measured on a monthly basis, represents the contractual milestone or output measure, which is the contractual earnings pattern. However, the Company discontinued such research and developments services to the party with effect from April 1, 2015.

Sale of products

The Company recognizes revenues when assembled E-Bikes and manufactured GenZe 2.0 Electric Scooters (collectively known as "GenZe Products") have been shipped pursuant to a purchase order or other contractual arrangement, the sales price is fixed or determinable, and collectability is reasonably assured. The Company's revenues are also generated from the sale of accessories.

Deposits received in advance from the customers are recognized as deferred revenue.

5. Government incentive

The Company receives incentive from the Michigan Economic Development Council in the form of grants. Grants are recognized at their fair values in the statement of loss where there is a reasonable assurance that grant is received and all attaching conditions will be complied with.

6. Provision for warranty costs

The Company generally provides for the estimated cost of product warranties at the time the related revenue is recognized. The Company estimates the warranty cost as a percentage of cost of goods sold. The Company assesses the adequacy of its accrued warranty liabilities and adjusts the amounts as necessary based on actual experience and changes in future estimates.

7. Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. Cost of items of property, plant and equipment comprise cost of purchase and other costs necessarily incurred to bring it to the condition and location necessary for its intended use. The Company depreciates property, plant and equipment over the estimated useful life using the straight-line method. Upon retirement or disposal of assets, the cost and accumulated depreciation will be eliminated from the accounts and the resulting gain or loss will be credited or charged to operations.

The estimated useful life used to determine depreciation is:

Class of asset	Useful life
Engineering equipment	3 years
Machinery & equipment	5 to 7 years
Production tools	60,000 units
Computer software	2 to 3 years
Computer equipment	3 years
Furniture equipment	3 years
Vehicles	2 to 5 years
Leasehold improvements	Lease term

The cost of property, plant and equipment not ready for use before such date are disclosed under capital work-in-progress.

8. Impairment of long-lived assets

Long-lived assets, including certain identifiable intangible assets, to be held and used are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of such assets may not be recoverable. Such assets are considered to be impaired if the carrying amount of the assets is higher than the future undiscounted net cash flows expected to be generated from the assets. The impairment amount to be recognized is measured by the amount by which the carrying value of the assets exceeds its fair value.

9. Accounts receivable & allowance for doubtful accounts

Accounts receivable from ultimate parent company represent service fee receivable. Trade receivables represents receivable on sale of GenZe Product and its accessories. The Company does not maintain an allowance for doubtful account for the parent company receivable. For the trade receivables, the Company follows the specific identification method for recognizing allowance for doubtful debts. Management analyzes composition of the accounts receivable aging, historical bad debts, current economic trends and customer credit worthiness of each accounts receivable when evaluating the adequacy of the allowance for doubtful accounts. Allowance for doubtful debt is included in selling, distribution and administration expenses in the statements of loss.

10. Research and development costs

Revenue expenditure on research and development is expensed as incurred. Capital expenditure incurred on equipment and facilities that are acquired or constructed for research and development activities and having alternative future uses is capitalized as tangible assets when acquired or constructed.

11. Income taxes

In accordance with the provisions of Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 740 "Income Taxes," income taxes are accounted for using the asset and liability method. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases and operating loss carry-forwards. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date. The deferred tax asset is reduced by a valuation allowance if it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the asset will not be realized.

12. Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and market value. Cost is determined using the standard costing method. Cost in the case of raw materials comprises the purchase price and attributable direct costs, less trade discounts. Cost in the case of work-in-progress and finished goods comprise direct labor, material cost and production overheads. A write down of inventory to the lower of cost or market value at the close of a fiscal period creates a new cost basis and is not marked up based on changes in underlying facts and circumstances. Inventories are reviewed on a periodic basis for identification and write-off of slow moving, obsolete and impaired inventory. Such write-downs, if any, are included in cost of revenues.

13. Fair value measurements and financial instruments

The Company applies fair value measurements to certain assets, liabilities and transactions that are periodically measured at fair value.

Assets and liabilities recorded at fair value in the financial statements are categorized based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure their fair value. Hierarchical levels which are directly related to the amount of subjectivity associated with the inputs to the valuation of these assets or liabilities are as follows:

Level 1 – unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access as of the measurement date.

Level 2 – inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are directly observable for the asset or liability or indirectly observable through corroboration with observable market data.

Level 3 – unobservable inputs for the asset or liability only used when there is little, if any, market activity for the asset or liability at the measurement date.

This hierarchy requires the Company to use observable market data, when available, and to minimize the use of unobservable inputs when determining fair value.

The Company's financial instruments consist of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities. The estimated fair value of cash, accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities approximate their carrying amounts due to the short-term nature of these instruments. None of these instruments are held for trading purposes.

14. Operating leases

Lease rent expenses on operating leases are charged to expense over the lease term. Certain operating lease agreements provide for scheduled rent increases over the lease term. Rent expense for such leases is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

15. Advertising expense

Advertising costs are presented as part of selling, general, and administrative expenses in the statement of loss. Advertising costs are expensed as incurred. The amount of advertising and marketing costs incurred by the Company for the years ended March 31, 2016 and March 31, 2015 is $ 1,738,452 (INR 115,346,291) and $ 831,003 (INR 55,137,049), respectively.

16. Commitments and contingencies

Liabilities for loss contingencies arising from claims, assessments, litigation, fines, and penalties and other sources are recorded when it is probable that a liability has been incurred and the amount can be reasonably estimated. Legal costs incurred in connection with loss contingencies are expensed as incurred.

Realization of net deferred tax assets is dependent upon generation of sufficient taxable income in future years, benefit from the reversal of taxable temporary differences and tax planning strategies. Management assesses the available positive and negative evidence to estimate whether sufficient future taxable income will be generated to permit use of the existing deferred tax assets. The amount of net deferred tax assets considered realizable is subject to adjustment in future periods if estimates of future taxable income change.

Based on the current year loss and profitability projections for future tax years, the management believes that it is more likely than not that the deferred tax assets may not be realized during foreseeable future and accordingly, a valuation allowance of $ 6,944,568 (INR 460,772,072) was recognized as at March 31, 2016.

The net deferred tax assets recognized were $ Nil (INR NIL) and $ 242,521 (INR 16,091,268) as at March 31, 2016 and March 31, 2015 respectively. The Company has federal net operating losses of $ 14,422,940 (INR 956,962,069) as at March 31, 2016, which if unutilized will expire in the year 2035. The company has R&D credit carryforwards and FTC carryforwards of $ 223,001 (INR 14,796,116) and $ 1,658,095 (INR 110,014,603) as on March 31, 2016.

Accounting for uncertain tax position

The Company recognizes the benefit of a tax position only after determining that the relevant tax authority would more likely than not sustain the position following an audit. For tax positions meeting the more-likely-than-not threshold, the amount recognized in the financial statements is the largest benefit that has a greater than 50% likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement with the relevant tax authority. The Company has no unrecognized tax positions as at March 31, 2016 and March 31, 2015.

The tax years of 2013 through 2014 remain subject to examination by the taxing authorities.

In the competing market, the market share has risen by 1.8% from 14.9% in 2014 to 16.7% in 2015.

We have audited the accompanying separate financial statements of Ssangyong Motor Company (the "Company"), which comprise the separate statements of financial position as of December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014, respectively, and the separate statements of comprehensive income, separate statements of changes in stockholders' equity and separate statements of cash flows, for the years ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's Responsibility for the Separate Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these separate financial statements in accordance with Korean International Financial Reporting Standards ("K-IFRS") and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of separate financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an audit opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Korean Standards on Auditing ("KSAs"). Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the separate financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2015, and December 31, 2014, respectively and its financial performance and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with K-IFRS.

Others

The Company has not applied the following new and revised IFRSs that have been issued but are not yet effective.

Amendments to K-IFRS 1001 – Presentation of Financial Statements

The amendments to K-IFRS 1001 clarify the concept of applying materiality in practice and restrict an entity reducing the understandability of its financial statements by obscuring material information with immaterial information or by aggregating material items that have different natures or functions. The amendments to K-IFRS 1001 are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2016.

Amendments to K-IFRS 1016 – Property, plant and Equipments

The amendments to K-IFRS 1016 prohibit the Company from using a revenue-based depreciation method for items of property, plant and equipment. The amendments are effective for the annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2016.

Amendments to K-IFRS 1038– Intangible Assets

The amendments to K-IFRS 1038 do not allow presumption that revenue is an appropriate basis for the amortization of intangible assets, which the presumption can only be limited when the intangible asset expressed as a measure of revenue or when it can be demonstrated that revenue and consumption of the economic benefits of the intangible asset are highly correlated. The amendments apply prospectively for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2016.

Amendments to K-IFRS 1110 – Consolidated Financial Statements & K-IFRS 1112 Disclosure of interests in other entities & K-IFRS 1028 Investment in associates

The amendments clarify that in applying the equity method of accounting to an associate or a joint venture that is an investment entity, an investor may retain the fair value measurements that the associate or joint venture used for its subsidiaries. The amendments are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2016.

Amendments to K-IFRS 1111– Accounting for Acquisitions of Interests in Joint Operations

The amendments to K-IFRS 1111 provides guidance on how to account for the acquisition of a joint operation that constitutes a business as defined in K-IFRS 1103 Business Combinations. A joint operator is also required to disclose the relevant information required by K-IFRS 1103 and other standards for business combinations. The amendments to K-IFRS 1111 are effective for the annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2016.

Amendments to K-IFRS 1109 – Financial Instruments

The amendments to K-IFRS 1109 contain the requirements for the classification and measurement of financial assets and financial liabilities based on a business model whose objective is achieved both by collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets and based on the contractual terms that give rise on specified dates to cash flows, impairment methodology based on the expected credit losses, and broadened types of instruments that qualify as hedging instruments and the types of risk components of non-financial items that are eligible for hedge accounting and the change of the hedge effectiveness test. The amendments are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2018.

Amendments to K-IFRS 1115 – Revenue from Contracts with Customers

The core principle under K-IFRS 1115 is that an entity should recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. The amendments introduces a 5-step approach to revenue recognition and measurement: 1) Identify the contract with a customer, 2) Identify the performance obligations in the contract, 3) Determine the transaction price, 4) Allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract, 5) Recognize revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation. This standard will supersede K-IFRS 1011 - Construction Contracts, K-IFRS 1018- Revenue, K-IFRS 2113 - Customer Loyalty Programmes, K-IFRS 2115-Agreements for the Construction of Real Estate, K-IFRS 2118 - Transfers of Assets from Customers, and K-IFRS 2031-Revenue-Barter Transactions Involving Advertising Services. The amendments are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2018.

Annual Improvements to K-IFRS 2012-2014 Cycle

The Annual Improvements include amendments to a number of K-IFRSs. The amendments introduce specific guidance in K-IFRS 1105 Non-current Assets Held for Sale and Discontinued Operations for when an entity reclassifies an asset (or disposal group) from held for sale to held for distribution to owners (or vice versa), such a change is considered as a continuation of the original plan of disposal not as a change to a plan of sale. Other amendments in the Annual Improvements include K-IFRS 1107 Financial Instruments: Disclosures, K-IFRS 1019 Employee Benefits, and K-IFRS 1034 Interim Financial Reporting.

Amendments to K-IFRS 1027 – Separate Financial Statements

The following amendments discuss accounting for investment in subsidiaries, related parties and joint ventures at cost basis, as well as allowing application of K-IFRS 1039, Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement, methods and application of equity method accounting under K-IFRS 1028, Investment in Associates and Joint Ventures. The amendments are effective for the annual periods beginning on or after 1st January, 2016.

The Company does not anticipate that these amendments referred above will have a significant effect on the Company's separate financial statements and disclosures.

(2) Accounting for investments in subsidiaries and joint ventures

The Company in accordance with the K-IFRS 1027 'Consolidated and Separate financial statements', is a parent company and it has subsidiaries of which Ssangyong Motor (Shanghai) Co., Ltd and Ssangyong European Parts Center B.V. and has a joint venture of which SY auto capital Co.,Ltd. When the Company prepares separate statements, the investments in subsidiaries and a joint venture are accounted for at cost basis by the direct investment proportion. And also the Company recognizes a dividend from a subsidiary in profit or loss in the separate financial statements when its right to receive the dividend is established.

(3) Revenue recognition

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable. Revenue is reduced for estimated customer returns, rebates and other similar allowances. The Company recognizes revenue when the amount of revenue can be reliably measured; when it is probable that future economic benefits will flow to the entity; and when specific criteria have been met for each of the Company's activities, as described below.

1) Sale of goods

Revenue from the sale of goods is recognized when the Company has transferred to the buyer the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods.

2) Rendering of services

Revenue from a contract to provide services is recognized by reference to the stage of completion of the contract. Depending on the nature of the transaction, the Company determines the stage of completion by reference to surveys of work performed, services performed to date as a percentage of total services to be performed, or the proportion that costs incurred to date bear to the estimated total costs of the transaction, as applicable.

3) Dividend and interest income

Dividend income from investments is recognized when the shareholder's right to receive payment has been established (provided that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the amount of income can be measured reliably).

Interest income from a financial asset is recognized when it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the amount of income can be measured reliably. Interest income is accrued on a time basis, by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable, which is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts through the expected life of the financial asset to that asset's net carrying amount on initial recognition

(4) Foreign currencies

The individual financial statements of each entity are presented in the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates (its functional currency). For the purpose of the financial statements, the results and financial position of each entity are expressed in Korean Won, which is the functional currency of the entity and the presentation currency for the consolidated financial statements.

In preparing the financial statements of the individual entities, transactions in currencies other than the entity's functional currency (foreign currencies) are recognized at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions. At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at that date. Non-monetary items carried at fair value that are denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at the date when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are not retranslated.

(5) Financial Instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized when a an entity becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments. Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognized immediately in profit or loss.

All regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognized and derecognized on a trade date basis. Regular way purchases or sales are purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the time frame established by regulation or convention in the marketplace.

Financial assets are classified into the following specified categories: 'financial assets at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)', 'held-to-maturity investments', 'available-for-sale (AFS) financial assets' and 'loans and receivables'. The classification depends on the nature and purpose of the financial assets and is determined at the time of initial recognition.

1) Effective interest method

The effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortized cost of a debt instrument and of allocating interest income over the relevant period. The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts (including all fees and points paid or received that form an integral part of the effective interest rate, transaction costs and other premiums or discounts) through the expected life of the debt instrument, or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount on initial recognition.

Income is recognized on an effective interest basis for debt instruments other than those financial assets classified as at FVTPL.

2) Financial assets at FVTPL

Financial assets are classified as at FVTPL when the financial asset is contingent consideration that may be paid by an acquirer as part of business combination to which K-IFRS 1103 applies.

A financial asset is classified as held for trading if:

- it has been acquired principally for the purpose of selling it in the near term; or
- on initial recognition it is part of a portfolio of identified financial instruments that the Company manages together and has a recent actual pattern of short-term profit-taking; or
- it is a derivative that is not designated and effective as a hedging instrument.

A financial asset other than a financial asset held for trading or contingent consideration that may be paid by an acquirer as part of a business combination may be designated as at FVTPL upon initial recognition if:

- such designation eliminates or significantly reduces a measurement or recognition inconsistency that would otherwise arise; or
- the financial asset forms part of a Company of financial assets or financial liabilities or both, which is managed and its performance is evaluated on a fair value basis, in accordance with the Company's documented risk management or investment strategy, and information about the grouping is provided internally on that basis; or
- it forms part of a contract containing one or more embedded derivatives, and K-IFRS 1039 Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement permits the entire combined contract (asset or liability) to be designated as at FVTPL.

Financial assets at FVTPL are stated at fair value, with any gains or losses arising on remeasurement recognized in profit or loss. The net gain or loss recognized in profit or loss incorporates any dividend or interest earned on the financial asset and is included in the 'other gains and losses' line item in the statement of comprehensive income.

3) Held-to-maturity investments

Non-derivatives financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturity dates that the Company has the positive intent and ability to hold to maturity are classified as held-to-maturity investments.. Held-to-maturity investments are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method less any impairment, with revenue recognized on an effective yield basis.

4) Available-for-sale ("AFS") financial assets

AFS financial assets are non-derivatives that are either designated as AFS or are not classified as (a) loans and receivables, (b) held-to-maturity investments or (c) financial assets at fair value through profit or loss.

They are subsequently measured at fair value at the end of each reporting period. Changes in the carrying amount of AFS monetary financial assets relating to changes in foreign currency rates (see below), interest income calculated using the effective interest method and dividends on AFS equity investments are recognized in profit or loss. Other changes in the carrying amount of AFS financial assets are recognized in other comprehensive income (as investments revaluation reserve). When the investment is disposed of or is determined to be impaired, the cumulative gain or loss previously accumulated in other comprehensive income is reclassified to profit or loss.

Dividends on AFS equity instruments are recognized in profit or loss when the Company's right to receive the dividends is established.

The fair value of AFS monetary financial assets denominated in a foreign currency is determined in that foreign currency and translated at the spot rate prevailing at the end of the reporting period. The foreign exchange gains and losses that are recognized in profit or loss are determined based on the amortized cost of the monetary asset. Other foreign exchange gains and losses are recognized in other comprehensive income.

AFS equity investments that do not have a quoted market price in an active market and whose fair value cannot be reliably measured and derivatives that are linked to and must be settled by delivery of such unquoted equity investments are measured at cost less any identified impairment losses at the end of each reporting period.

5) Loans and receivables

Trade receivables, loans, and other receivables that have fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market are classified as 'loans and receivables'. Loans and receivables are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, less any impairment. Interest income is recognized by applying the effective interest rate, except for short-term receivables when the effect of discounting is immaterial.

6) Impairment of financial assets

Financial assets, other than those at FVTPL, are assessed for indicators of impairment at the end of each reporting period. Financial assets are considered to be impaired when there is objective evidence that more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the financial asset, the estimated future cash flows of the investment have been affected.

For AFS equity investments, a significant or prolonged decline in the fair value of the security below its cost is considered to be objective evidence of impairment.

For all other financial assets, objective evidence of impairment include:

- significant financial difficulty of the issuer or counterparty; or
- default or delinquency in interest or principal payments; or
- it becoming probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or financial re-organization; or
- the disappearance of an active market for that financial asset because of financial difficulties.

For certain categories of financial asset, such as trade receivables, assets that are assessed not to be impaired individually are, in addition, assessed for impairment on a collective basis. Objective evidence of impairment for a portfolio of receivables could include the Company's past experience of collecting payments, an increase in the number of delayed payments in the portfolio past the average credit period of [xx] days, as well as observable changes in national or local economic conditions that correlate with default on receivables.

For financial assets carried at amortized cost, the amount of the impairment loss recognized is the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows, discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate.

For financial assets that are carried at cost, the amount of the impairment loss recognized is the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows, discounted at the current market rate of return for a similar financial asset. Such impairment loss will not be reversed in subsequent periods.

The carrying amount of the financial asset is reduced by the impairment loss directly for all financial assets with the exception of trade receivables, where the carrying amount is reduced through the use of an allowance account. When a trade receivable is considered uncollectible, it is written off against the allowance account. Subsequent recoveries of amounts previously written off are credited against the allowance account. Changes in the carrying amount of the allowance account are recognized in profit or loss.

When an AFS financial asset is considered to be impaired, cumulative gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income are reclassified to profit or loss in the period.

For financial assets measured at amortized cost, if, in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognized, the previously recognized impairment loss is reversed through profit or loss to the extent that the carrying amount of the investment at the date the impairment is reversed does not exceed what the amortized cost would have been had the impairment not been recognized.

In respect of AFS equity securities, impairment losses previously recognized in profit or loss are not reversed through profit or loss. Any increase in fair value subsequent to an impairment loss is recognized in other comprehensive income. In respect of AFS debt securities, impairment losses are subsequently reversed through profit or loss if an increase in the fair value of the investment can be objectively related to an event occurring after the recognition of the impairment loss.

7) Derecognition of financial assets

The Company derecognizes a financial asset only when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another entity. If the Company neither transfers nor retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership and continues to control the transferred asset, the Company recognizes its retained interest in the asset and an associated liability for amounts it may have to pay. If the Company retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of a transferred financial asset, the Company continues to recognize the financial asset and also recognizes a collateralized borrowing for the proceeds received.

On derecognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and receivable and the cumulated gain or loss that had been recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity is recognized in profit or loss.

On derecognition of a financial assets other than in its entirety (e.g. when the Company retains an option to repurchase part of a transferred asset, or it retains a residual interest and such an retained interest indicates that the transferor has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership and has retained control of the transferred asset), the Company allocates the previous carrying amount of the financial asset between the part it continues to recognize under continuing involvement, and the part it no longer recognizes on the basis of the relative fair value of those parts on the date of the transfer. The difference between the carrying amount allocated to the part that is no longer recognized and the sum of the consideration received for the part that is no longer recognized and any cumulative gain or loss allocated to it that had been recognized in other comprehensive income is recognized in profit or loss. A cumulative gain or loss that had been recognized in other comprehensive income is allocated between the part that continues to be recognized and the part that is no longer recognized on the basis of the relative fair value of those parts.

(6) Financial liabilities and equity instruments

1) Classification as debt or equity

Debt and equity instruments are classified as either financial liabilities or as equity in accordance with the substance of the contractual arrangement and the definitions of financial liability and an equity instrument.

2) Equity instruments

An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of an entity after deducting all of its liabilities. Equity instruments issued by the Company are recognized at the proceeds received, net of direct issue costs.

Repurchase of the Company's own equity instruments is recognized and deducted directly in equity. No gain or loss is recognized in profit or loss on the purchase, sale, issue or cancellation of the Company's own equity instruments.

3) Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are recognized when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments. Financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction cost that are directly attributable to the issue of financial liabilities are deducted from the fair value of the financial liabilities on initial recognition. Transaction cost directly attributable to acquisition of financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognized immediately in profit or loss.

Financial liabilities are classified as either financial liabilities at FVTPL or other financial liabilities.

4) Financial liabilities at FVTPL

Financial liabilities are classified as at FVTPL when the financial liability is contingent consideration that may be paid by an acquirer as part of a business combination to which K-IFRS 1103 applies, or held for trading, or it is designated as at FVTPL.

A financial liability is classified as held for trading if:

- it has been acquired principally for the purpose of repurchasing it in the near term; or
- on initial recognition it is part of a portfolio of identified financial instruments that the Company manages together and has a recent actual pattern of short-term profit-taking; or
- it is a derivative that is not designated and effective as a hedging instrument.

A financial liability other than a financial liability held for trading or contingent consideration that may be paid by an acquirer as part of a business combination may be designated as at FVTPL upon initial recognition if:

- such designation eliminates or significantly reduces a measurement or recognition inconsistency that would otherwise arise; or
- the financial liability forms part of a Company of financial assets or financial liabilities or both, which is managed and its performance is evaluated on a fair value basis, in accordance with the Company's documented risk management or investment strategy, and information about the grouping is provided internally on that basis; or
- it forms part of a contract containing one or more embedded derivatives, and K-IFRS 1039 Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement permits the entire combined contract (asset or liability) to be designated as at FVTPL.

Financial liabilities at FVTPL are stated at fair value, with any gains or losses arising on remeasurement recognized in profit or loss. The net gain or loss recognized in other gains and losses line item in the statement of comprehensive income.

5) Other financial liabilities

Other financial liabilities are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, with interest expense recognized on an effective yield basis.

The effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortized cost of a financial liability and of allocating interest expense over the relevant period. The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash payments including all fees and points paid or received (that form an integral part of the effective interest rate) and transaction costs and other premiums or discounts through the expected life of the financial liability, or (where appropriate) a shorter period, to the net carrying amount on initial recognition.

6) Derecognition of financial liabilities

The Company derecognize financial liabilities when the Company's obligation are discharged, cancelled or they expire. The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid and payable is recognized in profit or loss.

(7) Derivative financial instruments

The Company enters into a variety of derivative financial instruments to manage its exposure to interest rate and foreign exchange rate risk, including foreign exchange forward contracts, interest rate swaps and cross currency swaps.

Derivatives are initially recognized at fair value at the date the derivative contract is entered into and are subsequently remeasured to their fair value at the end of each reporting period. The resulting gain or loss is recognized in profit or loss immediately unless the derivative is designated and effective as a hedging instrument, in such case the timing of the recognition in profit or loss depends on the nature of the hedge relationship.

A derivative with a positive fair value is recognized as a financial asset; a derivative with a negative fair value is recognized as a financial liability. A derivative is presented as a non-current asset or a non-current liability if the remaining maturity of the instrument is more than 12 months and it is not expected to be realized or settled within 12 months. Other derivatives are presented as current assets or current liabilities.

1) Cash flow hedges

The effective portion of changes in the fair value of derivatives that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges is recognized in other comprehensive income. The gain or loss relating to the ineffective portion is recognized immediately in other gains and losses line item.

Amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity are reclassified to profit or loss in the periods when the hedged item is recognized in profit or loss, in the same line of the statement of comprehensive income as the recognized hedged item. However, when the forecast transaction that is hedged results in the recognition of a non-financial asset or a non-financial liability, the gains and losses previously accumulated in equity are transferred from equity and included in the initial measurement of the cost of the non-financial asset or non-financial liability.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the Company revokes the hedging relationship, when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or it no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. Any gain or loss accumulated in equity at that time remains in equity and is recognized when the forecast transaction is ultimately recognized in profit or loss. When a forecast transaction is no longer expected to occur, the gain or loss accumulated in equity is recognized immediately in profit or loss.

(8) Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost of inventories, except for those in in-transit, are measured under the weighted average method and consists of the purchase price, cost of conversion and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition. Net realizable value represents the estimated selling price for inventories less all estimated costs of completion and costs necessary to make the sale.

When inventories are sold, the carrying amount of those inventories is recognized as an expense (cost of sales) in the period in which the related revenue is recognized. The amount of any write-down of inventories to net realizable value and all losses of inventories is recognized as an expense in the period the write-down or loss occurs. The amount of any reversal of any write-down of inventories, arising from an increase in net realizable value, is recognized as a reduction in the amount of inventories recognized as an expense in the period in which the reversal occurs.

(9) Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost less subsequent accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. The cost of an item of property, plant and equipment is directly attributable to their purchase or construction, which includes any costs directly attributable to bringing the asset to the location and condition necessary for it to be capable of operating in the manner intended by management. It also includes the initial estimate of the costs of dismantling and removing the item and restoring the site on which it is located.

Subsequent costs are recognized in carrying amount of an asset or as a separate asset if it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the assets will flow into the Company and the cost of an asset can be measured reliably. Routine maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred.

The Company does not depreciate land. Depreciation expense is computed using the straight-line method based on the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

	Useful lives (Years)
Buildings	24-50
Structures	13-30
Machinery and Equipment	10
Vehicles	6-10
Other	6-10

If each part of an item of property, plant and equipment has a cost that is significant in relation to the total cost of the item, it is depreciated separately.

The Company reviews the depreciation method, the estimated useful lives and residual values of property, plant and equipment at the end of each annual reporting period. If expectations differ from previous estimates, the changes are accounted for as a change in an accounting estimate.

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognized upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. Any gain or loss arising on derecognition of the property (calculated as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset) is included in profit or loss in the period in which the property is derecognized.

1) Intangible assets acquired separately

Intangible assets with finite useful lives that are acquired separately are carried at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses. Amortization is recognized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives. The estimated useful life and amortization method are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effect of any changes in estimate being accounted for on a prospective basis. Intangible assets with indefinite useful lives that are acquired separately are carried at cost less accumulated impairment losses.

2) Internally-generated intangible assets – research and development expenditure

Expenditure on research activities is recognized as an expense in the period in which it is incurred.

Expenditure arising from development (or from the development phase of an internal project) is recognized as an intangible asset if, only if, the development project is designed to produce new or substantially improved products, and the Company can demonstrate the technical and economical feasibility and measure reliably the resources attributable to the intangible asset during its development.

The amount initially recognized for internally-generated intangible assets is the sum of the expenditure incurred from the date when the intangible asset first meets the recognition criteria. Where no internally-generated intangible asset can be recognized, development expenditure is recognized in profit or loss in the period in which it is incurred.

Subsequent to initial recognition, internally-generated intangible assets are reported at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses, on the same basis as intangible assets that are acquired separately.

3) Derecognition of intangible assets

An intangible asset is derecognized on disposal, or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Gains or losses arising from derecognition of an intangible asset, measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset, and are recognized in profit or loss when the asset is derecognized.

(11) Impairment of property, plant and equipment

At the end of each reporting period, the Company reviews the carrying amounts of its tangible and intangible assets to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss (if any). Where it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs. Where a reasonable and consistent basis of allocation can be identified, corporate assets are also allocated to individual cash-generating units, or otherwise they are allocated to the smallest group of cash-generating units for which a reasonable and consistent allocation basis can be identified.

Intangible assets with indefinite useful lives and intangible assets not yet available for use are tested for impairment at least annually, and whenever there is an indication that the asset may be impaired.

Recoverable amount is the higher of fair value less costs to sell and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset for which the estimates of future cash flows have not been adjusted.

If the recoverable amount of an asset (or a cash-generating unit) is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset (or the cash-generating unit) is reduced to its recoverable amount. An impairment loss is recognized immediately in profit or loss, unless the relevant asset is carried at a revalued amount, in which case the impairment loss is treated as a revaluation decrease.

(12) Retirement benefit costs and termination benefits.

For defined benefit retirement benefit plans, the cost of providing benefits is determined using the Projected Unit Credit Method, with actuarial valuations being carried out at the end of each reporting period. Remeasurement, comprising actuarial gains and losses, the effect of the changes to the asset ceiling (if applicable) and the return on plan assets (excluding interest), is reflected immediately in the statement of financial position with a charge or credit recognized in other comprehensive income in the period in which they occur. Remeasurement recognized in other comprehensive income is reflected immediately in retained earnings and will not be reclassified to profit or loss. Past service cost is recognized in profit or loss in the period of a plan amendment. Net interest is calculated by applying the discount rate at the beginning of the period to the net defined benefit liability or asset. Defined benefit costs are composed of service cost (including current service cost, past service cost, as well as gains and losses on curtailments and settlements), net interest expense (income), and remeasurement.

The Company presents the service cost and net interest expense (income) components in profit or loss, and the remeasurement component in other comprehensive income. Curtailment gains and losses are accounted for as past service costs.

The retirement benefit obligation recognized in the statement of statement of financial position represents the actual deficit or surplus in the Company's defined benefit plans. Any surplus resulting from this calculation is limited to the present value of any economic benefits available in the form of refunds from the plans or reductions in future contributions to the plans.

A liability for a termination benefit is recognized at the earlier of when the entity can no longer withdraw the offer of the termination benefit and when the entity recognizes any related restructuring costs.

Discretionary contributions made by employees or third parties reduce service cost upon payment of these contributions to the plan. When the formal terms of the plans specify that there will be contributions from employees or third parties, the accounting depends on whether the contributions are linked to service, as follows:

If the contributions are not linked to services (e.g. contributions are required to reduce a deficit arising from losses on plan assets or from actuarial losses), they are reflected in the remeasurement of the net defined benefit liability (asset).

If contributions are linked to services, they reduce service costs. For the amount of contribution that is dependent on the number of years of service, the entity reduces service cost by attributing the contributions to periods of service using the attribution method required by K-KFRS 1019 paragraph 70 for the gross benefits. For the amount of contribution that is independent of the number of years of service, the entity reduces service cost in the period in which the related service is rendered.

(13) Provisions

Provisions are recognized when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that the Company will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

The amount recognized as a provision is the best estimate of the consideration required to settle the present obligation at the end of the reporting period, taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation. When a provision is measured using the cash flows estimated to settle the present obligation, its carrying amount is the present value of those cash flows (where the effect of the time value of money is material). The discount rate used is a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. Where discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage is recognized in profit or loss as borrowing cost.

When some or all of the economic benefits required to settle a provision are expected to be recovered from a third party, a receivable is recognized as an asset if it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received and the amount of the receivable can be measured reliably.

At the end of each reporting period, the remaining provision balance is reviewed and assessed to determine if the current best estimate is being recognized. If the existence of an obligation to transfer economic benefit is no longer probable, the related provision is reversed during the period.

(14) Lease

Leases are classified as finance leases whenever the terms of the lease transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessee. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

1) The Company as lessor

Amounts due from lessees under finance leases are recognized as receivables at the amount of the Company's net investment in the leases. Finance lease income is allocated to accounting periods so as to reflect a constant periodic rate of return on the Company's net investment outstanding in respect of the leases.

Rental income from operating leases is recognized on a straight-line basis over the term of the relevant lease. Initial direct costs incurred in negotiating and arranging an operating lease are added to the carrying amount of the leased asset and recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

2) The Company as lessee

Assets held under finance leases are initially recognized as assets of the Company at their fair value at the inception of the lease or, if lower, at the present value of the minimum lease payments. The corresponding liability to the lessor is included in the statement of financial position as a finance lease obligation.

Lease payments are apportioned between finance expenses and reduction of the lease obligation so as to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. Finance expenses are recognized immediately in profit or loss, unless they are directly attributable to qualifying assets, in which case they are capitalized in accordance with the Company's general policy on borrowing costs (see Note 2. (12)). Contingent rentals are recognized as expenses in the periods in which they are incurred.

Operating lease payments are recognized as an expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term, except where another systematic basis is more representative of the time pattern in which economic benefits from the leased asset are consumed. Contingent rentals arising under operating leases are recognized as an expense in the period in which they are incurred.

In the event that lease incentives are received to enter into operating leases, such incentives are recognized as a liability. The aggregate benefit of incentives is recognized as a reduction of rental expense on a straight-line basis, except where another systematic basis is more representative of the time pattern in which economic benefits from the leased asset are consumed.

(15) Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of qualifying assets, which are assets that necessarily take a substantial period of time to get ready for their intended use or sale, are added to the cost of those assets, until such time as the assets are substantially ready for their intended use or sale.

Investment income earned on the temporary investment of specific borrowings pending their expenditure on qualifying assets is deducted from the borrowing costs eligible for capitalization.

All other borrowing costs are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred.

(16) Government grants

Government grants are not recognized until there is reasonable assurance that the Company will comply with the conditions attaching to them and that the grants will be received.

The benefit of a government loan at a below-market rate of interest is treated as a government grant, measured as the difference between proceeds received and the fair value of the loan based on prevailing market interest rates.

Government grants related to assets are presented in the statement of financial position by deducting the grant from the carrying amount of the asset. The related grant is recognized in profit or loss over the life of a depreciable asset as a reduced depreciation expense.

Government grants related to income are recognized in profit or loss on a systematic basis over the periods in which the Company recognizes as expenses the related costs for which the grants are intended to compensate. Government grants that are receivable as compensation for expenses or losses already incurred or for the purpose of giving immediate financial support to the Company with no future related costs are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they become receivable.

(17) Taxation

Income tax expense represents the sum of the tax currently payable and deferred tax.

1) Current tax

The tax currently payable is based on taxable profit for the year. Taxable profit differs from profit as reported in the statement of profit or loss and comprehensive income because of items of income or expense that are taxable or deductible in other years and items that are never taxable or deductible. The Company's liability for current tax is calculated using tax rates that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

2) Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognized on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit. Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognized for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are generally recognized for all deductible temporary differences to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilized. Such deferred tax assets and liabilities are not recognized if the temporary difference arises from goodwill or from the initial recognition (other than in a business combination) of other assets and liabilities in a transaction that affects neither the taxable profit nor the accounting profit.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries and associates, and interests in joint ventures, except where the Company is able to control the reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred tax assets arising from deductible temporary differences associated with such investments and interests are only recognized to the extent that it is probable that there will be sufficient taxable profits against which to utilize the benefits of the temporary differences and they are expected to reverse in the foreseeable future.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset realized, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period. The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the Company expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset if, and only if the Company has a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities, and the deferred tax assets and liabilities relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority on either the same taxable entity or different taxable entities which intend either to settle current tax liabilities and assets on a net basis, or to realize the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously, in each future period in which significant amounts of deferred tax liabilities or assets are expected to be settled or recovered.

For the purpose of measuring deferred tax liabilities and deferred tax assets for investment properties that are measured using the fair value model, the carrying amounts of such properties are presumed to be recovered entirely through sale, unless the presumption is rebutted. The presumption is rebutted when the investment property is depreciable and is held within a business model whose objective is to consume substantially all of the economic benefits embodied in the investment properties over time, rather than through sale.

3) Current and deferred tax for the year

Current and deferred tax are recognized in profit or loss, except when they relate to items that are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively. Where current tax or deferred tax arises from the initial accounting for a business combination, the tax effect is included in the accounting for the business combination.

(18) Fair value

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date, regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using another valuation technique. In estimating the fair value of an asset or a liability, the Company takes into account the characteristics of the asset or liability if market participants would take those characteristics into account when pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date. Fair value for measurement and/or disclosure purposes in these financial statements is determined on such a basis, except for share-based payment transactions that are within the scope of K-IFRS 1102 Share-based payment, leasing transactions that are within the scope of K-IFRS 1017 Leases, and measurements that have some similarities to fair value but are not fair value, such as net realisable value in K-IFRS 1002 Inventories or value in use in K-IFRS 1036 Impairment of Assets.

In addition, for financial reporting purposes, fair value measurements are categorized into Level 1, 2 or 3 based on the degree to which the inputs to the fair value measurements are observable and the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, which are described as follows:

- Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the entity can access at the measurement date;
- Level 2 inputs are inputs, other than quoted prices included within Level 1, that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly; and
- Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.

(19) Segment information

Segment information is presented in the same format as the reporting material presented to the Company's management. The Company's management is liable for the assessment of the resources to be allocated to the business segments and the performance results of the business segments.

(20) Accounting Treatment related to the Emission Rights Cap and Trade Scheme

Company classifies the emission rights as intangible assets. Emission rights allowances the Government allocated free of charge are measured at nil, and emission rights allowances purchased are measured at cost, which the Company paid to purchase the allowances. If emission rights the Government allocated free of charge are sufficient to settle the emission rights allowances allotted for vintage year, the emissions liabilities are measured at nil. However, for the emissions liabilities that exceed the allowances allocated free of charge, the shortfall is measured at best estimate at the end of the reporting period.

3. CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES AND ASSUMPTIONS:

In the application of the Company accounting policies, which are described in Note 2, management is required to make judgments, estimates and assumptions about the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered to be relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

The following are the key assumptions concerning the future, and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the end of the reporting period, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year.

(1) Provision for product warranties

The Company provides warranties for its products at recognition of sale and establishes a provision for product warranties at the end of each reporting period based on the best estimate of the expenses necessary to provide present and future warranty obligations.

(2) Retirement benefit obligation

The retirement benefit obligation recognized in the statements of financial position represents the present value of the defined benefit obligation as adjusted for unrecognized actuarial gains and losses and unrecognized past service cost, and as reduced by the fair value of plan assets. For defined benefit retirement benefit plans, the cost of providing benefits is determined using the Projected Unit Credit Method, with actuarial valuations being carried out at the end of each reporting period. The present value of defined benefit obligations is expressed in a currency in which retirement benefits will be paid and is calculated by discounting expected future cash outflows with the interest rate of high quality corporate bonds which maturity is similar to the payment date of retirement benefit obligations. Other significant assumptions related to defined benefit obligation are partly based on the current market situation.

4. CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS:

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand and in banks and highly liquid short-term financial instruments that may be easily converted into cash and whose risk of value fluctuation is not material.

5. RESTRICTED FINANCIAL ASSETS:

Restricted financial assets as of December 31, 2015, and 2014, are as follows:

7. TRADE AND OTHER RECEIVABLES:

All current trade and other receivables are due within 1 year from December 31, 2015, and because the present value discount effect is not material, the fair value of the aforementioned receivables is equal to the book value.

(2) Credit risk and allowance for doubtful accounts

The above-mentioned trade and non-trade receivables and other receivables are classified as loans and receivables and measured at amortized cost.

If a credit risk occurs with respect to a dealership sale, which is a major type of the Company's sales, the respective dealership bears all of the risk; the Company manages credit risk on product sales using two management indexes, agreed liability rate and agreed excess rate, and when the management index exceeds the agreed rate, it imposes a release restriction on the respective dealership and transfers a credit risk arising from product sales.

The Company's trade receivables are usually collected within 30 days but some of the notes receivable are collected within 75 days. Based on the past experience, receivables that are overdue for more than one year are usually not collected, and the Company reserves the full amount of those receivables as an allowance for doubtful accounts. The Company estimates an allowance for the receivables that are overdue for more than 90 days but less than one year through an individual analysis based on each transacting party; for receivables that are not subject to individual analysis, the Company estimates an allowance based on the historical loss rates.

Some of the trade receivables that are overdue for more than 90 days are not included in the above-mentioned trade receivables (refer to the aging analysis below); the Company did not reserve an allowance for the aforementioned receivables since their credit ratings did not change materially and they are expected to be collected. The Company has no collaterals pledged or credit enforcement provided for the aforementioned receivables and does not have a legal right to offset those receivables with the debt of the transacting parties.

The Company estimates allowances for doubtful accounts through individual analysis, and an allowance for the receivables that are not subject to separate individual analysis is estimated based on the historical collection rates. For troubled receivables (default, liquidation, bankruptcy, court receivership, workout, disappearance, full-scale capital erosion, etc.), the Company assesses collectability of each receivable through an individual analysis and reserves 100% allowance. For the receivables that are not subject to individual analysis, the allowance is estimated by applying the average loss rate for the past three years to the remaining balance of the receivables at the end of a reporting period; the three-year average loss rate is calculated by dividing the amount of actual loss occurred in the past three years by the average balance of the receivables.

(5) Fair value of financial instruments

1) The Company's management deems that the differences between carrying value and fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities recognized as amortized cost on financial statements is not significant.

2) Valuation methods and assumptions applied in fair value measurement.

The fair values of financial instruments (i.e., government bonds and unsecured corporate bonds) traded on active markets are determined with reference to quoted market prices. The Company uses the closing price as the quoted market price for its financial assets.

The fair values of derivatives where no active market exists or where quoted prices are not otherwise available are determined by using valuation techniques. Non-option derivatives are evaluated by discounted cash flow method using the yield curve available. Options are evaluated by option-pricing models. Foreign exchange forward contracts are determined using the yield curve derived from market interest rates with the same maturity of forward contracts. To measure interest rate swaps, the cash flows are estimated by the yield curve derived from market interest rate and discounted to calculate the present value of swaps.

Fair values of other financial assets and liabilities (except those stated above) are calculated by generally accepted valuation models based on discounted cash flow analysis.

3) The following table provides an analysis of financial instruments that are measured subsequent to initial recognition at fair value, classified as Level 1, 2 or 3, based on the degree to which the fair value is observable.

Level 1	Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities
Level 2	Inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability either directly or indirectly
Level 3	Inputs that are not based on observable market data

Fair values of financial instruments by heirarchy level as of December 31, 2015, and 2014, are as follows:

(Unit: Korean won in thousands)

		December 31, 2015
Type		Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Fair value

4) The Company measures the foreign exchange forward contract (derivative assets: ₩1,707,695 thousand (Rs. 97,082 thousand), derivative liabilities : ₩24,074 thousand (Rs. 1,369 thousand) based on the forward rate announced officially in the market as of December 31, 2014. In the event that no corresponding forward rate with residual period of the foreign exchange forward contract in the market exists, the Company measured the market value through interpolation method.

As input factors used in measuring market value of foreign exchange forward are from observable exchange forward rate, the Company classified the fair value of the foreign exchange forward as Level 2.

DIRECTORS' REPORT

Ssangyong European Parts Center B.V. (the Company) is pleased to present the financial information of the Company for the year ended 31 December 2015.

Principal Activities

The Company was established in 2006 as a 100% subsidiary of Ssangyong Motor Company ("SYMC", hereinafter), an automotive manufacturing company in Korea with its products of SUV's (sports utility vehicles) and a large-sized sedan. On behalf of SYMC, the Company is supplying spare parts to SYMC's overseas distributors in Europe for their after-sales services, through its warehouse facilities in Breda, since April 2007.

Risks

The Company is performing its business activities based on the service agreement settled with SYMC.

Debtor risk:

The Company's sales are predominantly to clients which have a contract with SYMC for car sales and services, under which the sale of spare parts is covered. If any client is unable to fulfil its payment obligation, the balance of the Company's account receivable that is not collected from the client can be offset against the Company's outstanding balance of accounts payable to SYMC resulting from purchases of spare parts (i.e. any costs relating to bad debtors incurred by the Company will be fully reimbursed by SYMC). Therefore, the Company has no debtor risk for spare-part supplies to clients under contract with SYMC.

Currency risk:

The Company is mainly active in the European Union and all receivables and payables are denominated in Euro, accordingly, the currency risk is not hedged.

Interest rate risk:

The Company is exposed to interest rate risk mainly on the interest-bearing cash at bank. The Company is exposed to the consequences of variable interest rates on cash at bank. The Company has not entered into any derivative contracts to hedge the interest risk on assets or liabilities.

Operations in 2015

The Company achieved annual re-invoicing sales of around EUR 11.8 million (around Rupees 854.0 million) in 2015, which is significantly higher than in the previous year.

With respect to gross operating structure, excluding the effects from its provision for bad inventory and the yearend adjustment for the agreed compensation with SYMC, the Company's Cost Of Goods Sold (COGS) rate decreased by around 1.8% points to 71.2% in 2015 from 73.0% a year earlier.

In terms of the Company's local operational cost, its Sales, General & Administrative expenses (SG&A) decreased this year around 5.50% to EUR 2.2 million (around Rupees 160 million), primarily due to the investments in its ERP system and Human Resources to prepare for the further reduced outsourcing work scopes, mentioned in the 'Significant events in 2015' in this report. As of 31 December 2015, the Company employs 7 local people including expatriates from SYMC.

Cash Flow

The Company's Cash Flow Statement shows a negative cash flow which is the primarily the result of the Company's function as a warehouse for spare parts for SYMC's distributors in Europe and one major responsibility is to ensure a safety stock is kept at all times. Inherent to a safety stock is that it is not sold within one year but should remain available for clients at all times, which means that while purchased from SYMC subsequent sales and the cash related to it will be made/received at a much later time. The inventory has therefore been increased due to stocking of spare parts for the new models launched by SYMC in 2015 and will continue for the new models to be launched in 2016, and as the purchases of spare parts increased so did the liability towards SYMC.

Significant events in 2015

The Company entered into a 5 year service agreement with Pantos Logistics Benelux B.V. effectively at 1 January 2012 to outsource its warehousing facilities and IT system. This change has enabled the Company to reduce around 52% of its fixed outsourcing cost, which accounted for around 78% of total SG&A in 2011, 56% of total SG&A in 2012, 51% of total SG&A in 2013, 53% of total SG&A in 2014 and 57% of total SG&A in 2015.

During 2011, the Company settled with SYMC on the service agreement, of which the Dutch tax authorities acknowledged the validity through an Advanced Pricing Agreement (APA) with the Company.

In both 2015 and 2014 the Company significantly lowered its provision for bad inventory following the sale- and scrap of the older spare parts for models no longer sold or serviced within the European Union. At the same time this enabled the Company to free up warehouse space that will be needed for the spare parts for the new models the parent company scheduled to launch in 2016 and thereafter.

Future Prospects

The Company predicts that its sales in the year of 2016 will be favourable compared to the prior period. And the Company's operating profit will be going forward favourably by the new environment under which its logistics service provider and the outsourced work scopes changed since 1 January 2012.

The Company will focus on having a stable operation structure to meet any requirement that is coming from the customers' side and occurs internally as well.

The shareholder has been fully supporting for the Company's operation going further in the year of 2016 and the after, considering that the Company's distribution of spare parts is a basic value in automotive business against Distributors and Partners in European territories.

In 2016 the Company will see a change in its senior management with the resignation of Mr. Yoon to return to the shareholder company and per 1 January 2016 the appointment of Mr. Yang as a new Managing Director. The appointment of Mr. Yang has the full support of the shareholder and he will bring a further advancement to the development of the Company based on his long experience. No further significant changes in personnel and investments are expected in 2016.

As the current contract with Pantos Logistics Benelux B.V. will reach it's expiry date on 31 December 2016 and in line with the conditions of said contract, the Company is exploring the possibility of a contract renewal with Pantos Logistics Benelux B.V. as of March 2016.

As the Advanced Pricing Agreement (APA) with the Dutch Tax Authorities expired on 31 December 2015 the Company already started exploring the possibility of a renewal of- or a new APA with the Dutch Tax Authorities in 2015, once the APA is agreed upon it will be effective retroactive 1 January 2016. At the same time the service agreement with SYMC will be reviewed and when necessary renewed.

In 2015 SYMC has launched several new models among which a B-segment SUV named Tivoli which is proving to be a great success in several European countries as well as in Korea, and sales (pre-stocking) of spare parts has risen in line with the sales of the Tivoli Gasoline and Diesel model. SYMC plans to launch another new model of the Tivoli which would be very interesting for business and large family usage in the second quarter of 2016 and expectations are that the sales of spare parts will again increase following this launch.

In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control.

An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion with respect to the financial statements

In our opinion, the financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of Ssangyong European Parts Center B. V. as at December 31, 2015 and of its result for the year then ended in accordance with Part 9 of Book 2 of The Dutch Civil Code.

Report on other legal and regulatory requirements

Pursuant to the legal requirement under Section 2:393 sub 5 at e and f of The Dutch Civil Code, we have no deficiencies to report as a result of our examination whether the director's report, to the extent we can assess, has been prepared in accordance with Part 9 of Book 2 of this Code, and whether the information as required under Section 2:392 sub 1 at b-h has been annexed.

Significant estimates include those required in the valuation of inventories, deferred taxes, accounting of provisions and the impairment of intangible, tangible and financial fixed assets. All assumptions, anticipations, expectations and forecasts used as a basis for certain estimates within the financial statements represented good-faith assessments of the Company's future performance. ### 2 Accounting policies for the balance sheet

2.1 General information

The financial statements are prepared according to the stipulations in chapter 9 Book 2 of The Netherlands Civil Code.

Valuation of assets and liabilities and determination of the result takes place under the historical cost convention. Unless presented otherwise at the relevant principle for the specific balance sheet item, assets and liabilities are valued according to the cost model.

Income and expenses are accounted for on accrual basis. Profit is only included when realized on the balance sheet date. Losses originating before the end of the financial year are taken into account if they have become known before preparation of the financial statements.

The financial information is denominated in Euros.

2.2 Proforma information

All amounts disclosed in Indian Proforma Indian Rupees are the Euro amount converted against a currency rate of approximately Rupees 72.55 = Euro 1 for 2015 and 2014.

The same rate is applied for the opening balance sheet, the results and closing balance sheet. The comparative information has also been translated against this same currency rate.

2.3 Related party transactions

In the ordinary course of business the Company purchases approximately 99% of its products from affiliated parties. The Company is furthermore financed by an intercompany payable, reference is made to note 5.8.

2.4 Prior-year comparison

The accounting policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, if not specifically stated otherwise.

2.5 Foreign currencies

Receivables, liabilities and obligations denominated in foreign currencies are translated against the exchange rates prevailing at balance sheet date. Transactions in foreign currencies during the financial year are recognised in the financial statements against the exchange rates prevailing at transaction date. The exchange differences resulting from the translation as of balance sheet date, are recorded in income statement.

Transactions, receivables and debts

Foreign currency transactions in the reporting period are translated into the functional currency using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions.

Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into the functional currency at the rate of exchange prevailing at the balance sheet date. Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions and from the translation at year-end exchange rates are recognised in the income statement.

Translation differences on non-monetary assets held at cost are recognised using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions.

2.6 Financial instruments

Financial instruments be both primary financial instruments, such as receivables and payables, and financial derivatives. The notes to the specific items of the balance sheet disclose the fair value of the related instrument if this deviates from the carrying amount. If the financial instrument is not recorded in the balance sheet the information on the fair value is disclosed in the notes to the "Contingent rights and obligations." For the principles of primary financial instruments, in case applicable, reference is made to the treatment per balance sheet item.

2.7 Intangible fixed assets

Intangible fixed assets are presented at cost less accumulated amortisation. Amortisation is charged as a fixed percentage of cost, as specified in more detail in the notes to the balance sheet. The useful life and the amortisation method are reassessed at the end of each financial year.

2.8 Tangible fixed assets

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment and are depreciated over their estimated useful lives on a straight line basis. Ordinary maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred.

Property, plant and equipment are depreciated over their estimated useful lives as from the inception of their use. Land and investment property are not depreciated. Future depreciation and amortisation is adjusted if there is a change in estimated useful life.

2.9 Financial fixed assets

Deferred tax assets are stated under the financial fixed assets if and to the extent it is probable that the tax claim can be realised in due course. These deferred tax assets are valued at nominal value and are predominantly long-term in nature.

2.10 Impairment of assets

On balance sheet date, the company tests whether there are any indications of an asset, which could be subject to impairment. If there are such indications, the company estimates the recoverable amount of the asset conceded. If this is not possible, the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs, is identified. An asset is subject to impairment if its book value exceeds its recoverable value; the recoverable value is the higher of the value in use and the fair value less costs to sell.

Impairment is recognized as an expense in the profit and loss account immediately, unless the asset is carried at the revalued amount; in that case, the impairment is treated as a revaluation decrease.

2.11 Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. The valuation is based on weighted average prices. Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less applicable variable selling expenses. A provision is made for obsolete inventories by individual assessment of inventories, where considered necessary.

2.12 Receivables

Upon initial recognition the receivables are included at fair value and then valued at amortised cost. The fair value and amortized cost equal the face value. Any provision for doubtful accounts deemed necessary is deducted. These provisions are determined by individual assessment of the receivables.

2.13 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash in hand, bank balances and deposits held at call with maturities of less than 12 months. Cash and cash equivalents are stated at face value.

2.14 Provisions

Provisions are recognised for legally enforceable or constructive obligations existing at the balance sheet date, the settlement of which is probable to require an outflow of resources whose extent can be reliably estimated. Provisions are measured on the basis of the best estimate of the amounts required to settle the obligations at the balance sheet date. Unless indicated otherwise, provisions are stated at the present value of the expenditure expected to be required to settle the obligations.

2.15 Deferred income tax assets and liabilities

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognised to provide for temporary differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities, and their carrying amounts in the financial information. Deferred income tax is determined using tax rates that have been enacted or substantially enacted by the balance sheet date and are expected to apply when the related deferred income tax asset is realised or the deferred income tax liability is settled. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognised at face value.

2.16 Short term Liabilities

Upon initial recognition, liabilities recorded are stated at fair value and then valued at amortized costs.

3 Accounting policies for the income statement*3.1 Net turnover

Net turnover represents amounts invoiced for goods and services supplied during the financial year reported on, net of discounts and value added taxes.

Revenues ensuing from the sale of goods are accounted for when all major entitlements to economic benefits as well as all major risks have transferred to the buyer. The cost price of these goods is allocated to the same period.

Revenues from services are recognised in proportion to the services rendered, based on the cost incurred in respect of the services performed up to balance sheet date, in proportion to the estimated costs of the aggregate services to be performed. The cost price of these services is allocated to the same period.

3.2 Cost of sales

Cost of sales represents the direct and indirect expenses attributable to net turnover.

3.3 Selling, General and Administrative expenses

Selling, General and Administrative expenses are recognised at the historical cost convention that are not directly attributable to the cost of the goods sold, and are allocated to the reporting year to which they are related. Selling expenses are related to various communication activities for the Company's logistics and administrative support services. General and Administrative expenses include the employee benefits, depreciations, outsourcing cost and other general cost.

Salaries, wages and social security contributions are taken to the income statement based on the terms of employment, where they are due to employees.

Provisions for employee benefits:

The pension plans are financed through contributions to pension providers such as insurance companies. The pension obligations are valued according to the 'valuation to pension fund approach'. This approach accounts for the contribution payable to the pension provider as an expense in the profit and loss account.

Based on the administration agreement it is assessed whether and, if so, which obligations exist in addition to the payment of the annual contribution due to the pension provider as at balance sheet date. These additional obligations, including any obligations from recovery plans of the pension provider, lead to expenses for the company and are included in a provision on the balance sheet.

A pension receivable is included in the balance sheet when the company has the right of disposal over the pension receivable and it is probable that the future economic benefits which the pension receivable holds will accrue to the Company and the pension receivable can be reliably established. As at year-end 2015 (and 2014) no pension receivables and no obligations existed for the company in addition to the payment of the annual contribution due to the pension provider.

3.4 Finance income and costs

Interest paid and received

Interest paid and received is recognised on a time-weighted basis, taking account of the effective interest rate of the assets and liabilities concerned. When recognising interest paid, allowance is made for transaction costs on loans received.

3.5 Income tax expense

Income tax is calculated on the result before tax in the income statement, taking into account any losses carried forward from previous financial years where not included in deferred income tax assets and tax exempt items, and plus non deductible expenses. Account is also taken of changes in deferred income tax assets and liabilities owing to changes in the applicable tax rates.

3.6 Principles for preparation of the cash flow statement

The cash flow statement is prepared according to the indirect method. The funds in the cash flow statement consist of cash and cash equivalents. Cash equivalents can be considered as highly liquid investments.

Cash flows in foreign currencies are translated at an estimated average rate. Exchange rate differences concerning finances are shown separately in the cash flow statement.

Corporate income taxes, issuance of share capital, interest received and dividends received are presented under the cash flow from operating activities. Interest paid and dividends paid are presented under the cash flow from financing activities.

Transactions that do not result in exchange of cash and cash equivalents, such as financial lease, are not presented in the cash flow statement. The payment of lease terms on account of the financial lease contract is considered as an expenditure of financing activities as far as it concerns redemptions and as an expenditure of operational activities as far as it concerns interest.

4 Risk management*4.1 Currency risk

The Company is mainly active in the European Union and all receivables and payables are denominated in Euro. Accordingly, the currency risk is not hedged.

4.2 Interest rate risk

The Company is exposed to interest rate risk mainly on the interest-bearing cash at bank. The company is exposed to the consequences of variable interest rates on cash at bank. The company has not entered into any derivative contracts to hedge the interest risk on assets or liabilities.

- (1) Cash comprises cash on hand and deposits that can be readily withdrawn on demand;
- (2) Cash equivalents are short-term (“Short-term” usually refers to three months or less from the date of acquisition), highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

6. Receivables

The individually significant receivables are tested separately for impairment. Where there is objective evidence that the receivables are impaired, the excess of the carrying amount over its present value of the future cash flows is recognized as the impairment losses, with provision made for bad debts. Receivables that are not impaired after separate testing are classified into several portfolios by credit risk characteristics, and the impairment losses are calculated at a certain proportion of balance of the receivables portfolios on balance sheet date, with provision made for bad debts.

Identification criteria of doubtful debts:

- (1) Revoke or bankruptcy of debtor; debts cannot be settled through judicial process; debt clean-up costs exceed the amount of the debt;

- (2) The debtor is faced with insolvency and closure caused by serious natural disaster and is unable to settle the debts in a short time;
- (3) Ageing of the debts exceeds 3 years and there is conclusive evidence indicating the debts are not recovered.

7. Inventories

Inventories include raw material, material in transit, commodities in stock, and low-cost items.

Inventories are initially measured at cost. Cost of inventories comprises all costs of purchase, costs of conversion and other costs.

The Company adopts the weighted average cost formula to assign the actual costs of inventories and amortizes low-cost items and packaging materials by using immediate write-off method.

The Company adopts the perpetual inventory system.

At the balance sheet date, inventories are measured at the lower of cost and net realizable value. When the circumstances that previously caused inventories to be written down below cost no longer exist, the amount of the write-down is reversed. The reversal is limited to the amount originally provided for the decline in value of inventories. The amount of the reversal is included in profit or loss for the current period.

If the cost of inventories is higher than the net realizable value, a provision for decline in value of inventories shall be recognized in profit or loss for the current period.

8. Fixed assets

Fixed assets are tangible assets that are held for use in the production or supply of goods or services, for rental to others, or for administrative purposes and that have useful lives more than one accounting year.

Fixed assets are recognized only when it is probable that economic benefits associated with the assets will flow to the Company and the cost of the assets can be measured reliably. Subsequent expenditures incurred for fixed assets that meet the recognition criteria are included in the cost of the fixed assets; meanwhile the carrying value of the replaced part are derecognized. Subsequent expenditures that fail to meet the recognition criteria are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred.

Fixed assets are initially measured at cost while effect of any expected abandoning costs are considered. Generally, costs of fixed assets comprise the purchase price, related taxes, and any directly attributable expenditure for bringing the asset to working condition for its intended use, such as delivery costs and installation costs. However, where payment for the purchase price of fixed assets are deferred beyond normal credit terms, cost of the fixed assets are determined based on the present value of the purchase price.

Straight-line method is applied for depreciation of fixed assets. Useful lives, estimated net residual value, and the depreciation rates of each type of fixed assets are as follows:

Type of fixed asset	Estimated net residual value (%)	Estimated useful life (year)	Annual depreciation rate
Office equipment	10	5	18%
Transport equipment	10	5	18%

Depreciation of fixed assets is provided monthly. Depreciation of a new fixed asset is not provided in the same month when it is added, but since the following month; depreciation of a fixed asset is still provided in the same month when it is abandoned, and the provision stops since the following month.

Where each part of a fixed asset has different useful lives or brings economic benefits to the Company in different patterns, different depreciation rates apply.

Depreciation policy for assets leased through finance lease is consistent with that for the Company's owned fixed assets. If there is reasonable certainty that the Company will obtain ownership of the leased asset by the end of the lease term, the leased asset is depreciated over its useful life. If there is no reasonable certainty that the Company will obtain ownership of the leased asset by the end of the lease term, the leased asset is depreciated over the shorter of the lease term and its useful life.

Useful lives, estimated net residual values, and depreciation methods of fixed assets are assessed at least at each financial year-end and adjustments are made when necessary.

9. Construction in progress

Costs of construction in progress are determined on the basis of actual expenditure of the construction, including any construction expenditures, capitalized borrowing costs before the construction has achieved the working condition for its intended use, and other related expenses.

Construction in progress is recognized as a fixed asset once it has achieved the working condition for its intended use.

10. Intangible assets

Intangible assets are identifiable non-monetary assets without physical substance owned or controlled by the Company, including land use right and software.

Intangible assets are measured initially at cost. When it is probable that economic benefits associated with the intangible assets will flow to the Company and the cost of the assets can be measured reliably, expenditures incurred for intangible assets are included in the cost of the intangible assets; any other related expenditure is recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred.

Intangible assets with finite useful lives are amortized within their estimated useful lives by applying the straight-line method since the assets are available for use.

Useful lives and amortization methods of intangible assets are assessed at the end of the period and any changes are accounted for as changes of accounting estimates.

11. Long-term deferred expenses

Long-term deferred expense refers to expense that has occurred and that shall be borne by the current period and subsequent period and amortized during over-one-year period. Cost incurred for improvement of a fixed asset leased to the Company under operating lease is recognized as long-term deferred expenses and averagedly amortized over the periods benefited from such costs. Start-up costs are recognized in profit or loss when they occur.

12. Impairment of assets

The Company adopts the following impairment policies, except for inventories, construction contracts, deferred tax, financial assets, and long-term equity investments which have no quoted price from an active market and whose fair value cannot be reliably measured:

The Company assesses at the balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired. If any indication exists that an asset may be impaired, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the asset. Goodwill arising in a business combination and an intangible asset with an indefinite useful life is tested for impairment annually, irrespective of whether there is any indication that the asset may be impaired.

The recoverable amount of an asset is the higher of its fair value less costs to sell and the present value of the future cash flows expected to be derived from the asset. If there is any indication that an asset may be impaired, recoverable amount is estimated for the individual asset. If it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of the individual asset, the Company determines the recoverable amount of the asset group to which the asset belongs. Identification of an asset group is based on whether major cash inflows generated by the asset group are largely independent of the cash inflows from other assets or asset groups.

If the recoverable amount of an asset or asset group is less than its carrying amount, the Company reduces the carrying amount to its recoverable amount. That reduction is recognized in profit or loss for the current period and a provision for impairment loss of the asset or asset group is recognized accordingly.

For the purpose of impairment testing, the Company allocates the carrying amount of goodwill on a reasonable basis to each of the related asset groups from the acquisition date. If it is not possible to allocate to the related asset groups, the Company allocates to each of the related sets of asset groups. Each of related asset groups or sets of asset groups is an asset group or set of asset group that is able to benefit from the synergies of the business combination and is not be larger than a reportable segment defined by the Company.

In testing asset groups or sets of asset groups with goodwill for impairment, if there is any indication that the related asset groups or sets of asset groups may be impaired, the Company first tests those asset groups or sets of asset groups to which goodwill has not been allocated. Then the Company recognizes any impairment losses after determining the recoverable amount and comparing it with the relevant carrying amount. After that, the Company tests those asset groups or sets of asset groups to which goodwill has been allocated, by comparing the carrying amount of such related asset groups or sets of asset groups with their recoverable amount. If the recoverable amount is less than the carrying amount, the Company first reduces the amount of impairment loss from the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to the asset group or set of asset groups, and then reduce from the carrying amount of other assets (other than goodwill) within the asset group or set of asset groups, pro rata on the basis of the carrying amount of each asset.

Once the foregoing asset impairment loss is recognized, it will not be reversed in a subsequent period.

13. Employee benefits

In the accounting period in which employees render services to the Company, the Company recognizes the employee benefits payable for the services as a liability.

The Company has attended the employee social insurance system, including basic pensions, medical insurance, housing fund, and etc., expenditures incurred are included in the cost of relevant assets or are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred.

When the Company terminates the employment relationship with employees before the end of the employment contracts or provides compensation as an offer to encourage employees to accept voluntary redundancy, a provision is recognized for the compensation arising from termination of employment relationship with employees, provided that the Company has a formal plan for termination of employment relationship or has made an offer for voluntary redundancy, which will be implemented immediately, and that the Company cannot unilaterally withdraw from the termination plan or the redundancy offer.

Early retirement plan is also accounted for by using the same termination benefit principle. As for salaries and social insurances to be paid / contributed during the period starting from the day of terminating rendering services to the day of normal retirement for early-retired employees, the Company recognizes them in profit or loss for the current period (i.e. termination benefits) when they meet the reorganization conditions of provisions.

14. Provisions

An obligation related to a contingency is recognized as a provision when all of the following conditions are satisfied: the obligation is a present obligation of the Company; it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation; and the amount of the obligation can be measured reliably.

At the balance sheet date, the Company takes into consideration factors pertaining to a contingency such as the risks, uncertainties and time value of money and measures the provision at the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the related present obligation.

Where all or part of the expenditure required for provision settlement is expected to be reimbursed by a third party, the reimbursement is recognized as a separate asset only when it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received. The amount recognized for the reimbursement will not exceed the carrying amount of the provision.

(1) Revenue from sale of goods

Only when the Company has transferred to the buyer the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods, the Company retains neither continuing managerial involvement to the degree usually associated with ownership nor effective control over the goods sold, the amount of revenue can be measured reliably, it is probable that the associated economic benefits will flow to the Company, and the associated costs incurred or to be incurred can be measured reliably, the Company recognizes revenue from sale of goods.

(2) Revenue from rendering of services

When the outcome of a transaction involving the rendering of services can be estimated reliably at the balance sheet date, revenue associated with the transaction is recognized using the percentage of completion method. Stage of completion of such transactions is determined on the basis of surveys of work performed.

The outcome of a transaction involving the rendering of services can be estimated reliably when all of the following conditions are satisfied: the amount of revenue can be measured reliably; it is probable that the associated economic benefits will flow to the Company; the stage of completion of the transaction can be measured reliably; and the costs incurred and to be incurred for the transaction can be measured reliably.

When the outcome of a transaction involving the rendering of services cannot be estimated revenue is recognized to the extent of costs incurred that are expected to be recoverable and an equivalent amount is charged to profit or loss as service costs. If the costs incurred are not expected to be recoverable, the costs incurred are recognized in profit or loss for the current period and no service revenue is recognized.

(3) Revenue from royalties

The amount of royalties is determined on the accrual basis according to relevant contract or agreement.

(4) Revenue from interest

The amount of interest is determined according to the length of time for which the Company's monetary fund is used by others and the effective interest rate.

16. Leases

A finance lease is a lease that transfers in substance all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of an asset. An operating lease is a lease other than a finance lease.

1. Accounting of operating leases as a lessee

The Company recognizes the lease payments under an operating lease on a straight-line basis over the lease term, and either includes in the cost of another related asset or charges to profit or loss for the current period.

2. Accounting of operating leases as a lessor

The Company recognizes the income from operating leases in profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

3. Accounting of finance leases as a lessee

At the commencement of the lease term, the Company records the leased asset at an amount equal to the lower of the fair value of the leased asset and the present value of the minimum lease payments, each determined at the inception of the lease, and recognize a long-term payable at an amount equal to the minimum lease payments. The difference between the recorded amount of the leased asset and the recorded amount of the payable is accounted for as unrecognized finance charge. Unrecognized finance charge is allocated to each period during the lease term. The Company recognizes finance charge for the current period using the effective interest method.

17. Accounting of income tax

(1) Income tax expense

Income tax expense includes current tax and deferred tax of an enterprise.

Current/deferred tax expense or income is recognized in profit or loss, except that current tax and deferred tax arising from transactions or events which are directly recognized in owners' equity is recognized in owners' equity and that deferred tax arising from business combinations is adjusted to the carrying amount of the goodwill.

(2) Current income tax

At the balance sheet date, current income tax liabilities (or assets) for the current and prior periods are measured at the amount expected to be paid (or recovered) according to the requirements of tax laws. Taxable profit is calculated on the basis of pre-tax profit adjusted according to tax laws.

(3) Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities

As for differences between the carrying amount of certain assets or liabilities and their tax base as well as temporary differences between the carrying amount and tax base of those items that are not recognized as assets or liabilities but have a tax base that can be determined according to tax laws, the Company recognizes such differences as deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities by applying the balance-sheet-debt method.

At the balance sheet date, deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply to the period when the asset is realized or the liability is settled, according to the requirements of tax laws.

At the balance sheet date, the Company assesses the carrying amount of a deferred tax asset. If it is probable that sufficient taxable profits will not be available in future periods to allow the benefit of the deferred tax asset to be utilized, the carrying amount of the deferred tax asset is reduced. Any such reduction in amount is reversed when it becomes probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available.

18. Uncertainty of significant accounting estimates

The following are other major sources of uncertainty of key assumptions and estimates of future events at the balance sheet date, and such uncertainty may cause significant adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the next accounting year.

(1) Impairment provision of receivables

The Company provides for doubtful debts on the basis of recoverability of receivables. When any indication exists that receivables are not recoverable, provision for doubtful debts is required. Provision for doubtful debts requires professional judgment and estimation. Differences between the result of re-estimate and existing estimate may influence the carrying amount of receivables in the period the estimates change.

(2) Useful life and residual value of fixed assets

The Company estimates useful life and residual value of fixed assets on the basis of past experience with actual useful life and residual value of similar fixed assets. If the useful life of such fixed assets shortens, the Company increases their depreciation rate or disposes of obsolete/idle fixed assets.

(3) Income tax and deferred tax assets

Since certain issues relating to the enterprise income tax are not confirmed by the tax authority when the income tax is accrued, the Company follows existing tax laws and regulations to achieve reliable estimate and judgment for accrued income tax. Differences between the conclusion made by tax authority and the amount recognized by the Company will influence the income tax of the current period.

Deferred tax assets include asset impairment provision, deductible losses, warranty provision, and temporary difference between the carrying amount and tax base of expense relating to early retirement. All tax losses that are not deducted yet are recognized as deferred tax assets to the extent that it is probable that there is sufficient taxable profit to deduct the losses. Realization of deferred tax assets relies largely on the future taxable profit and the actual tax rate of the year in which temporary differences are reversed. Therefore, management is required to apply judgment to estimate the time and amount of future taxable profit, and together with tax planning, to decide the amount of deferred tax assets.

(4) Liability of early retirement benefits

The Company has recognized part of early retirement benefits as a liability. The amount of such benefits/liability are calculated and paid on the basis of several assumptions, including discount rate, benefit increase rate of relevant period, and other factors. Differences between the actual amount and the assumption are recognized as expense for the current year. Although management believes such assumptions are reasonable, past experience the Company relies on and changes of assumption premise will influence balances of expenses and liabilities relating to the Company retirement benefits.

Company Overview

SYAC, with its headquarters located in Pyeongtaek, was established by SYMC and KB Capital in October 2015 with a capital investment of 20 billion won for a share ownership of 51% and 49% respectively. It is a captive finance company providing financing to customers of Ssangyong Motor Company for installment purchases of new vehicles. The company employed 41 people including two executives as of December 2015.

SYAC started operations in January of 2016 and conducts businesses in the area of facility leasing and installment financing under the Specialized Credit Financial Business Act.

Operation Overview & Financial Status

SYAC posted an operating loss of 0.65 billion won and a net loss of 0.65 billion won in 2015. As of end of 2015, the company's assets were 19.6 billion won, total liability 0.26 billion won, and equity 19.3 billion won, which is the amount after deducting the net loss from the capital of 20 billion won.

In 2015, the company incurred a loss as expenses occurred in the process of preparing for the start of operations such as personnel expenses.

Future Business Plan

SYAC's target for 2016 is to secure a market share of 52.5% in SYMC's sales using financial services and to realize sales of 729.8 billion won and a net profit of 0.25 billion won.

In 2016, the auto financing market is expected to show growing competition among the auto financing companies (HMC's captive finance company Hyundai Capital offering aggressive products amidst heated competition fueled by other financial companies) that may reduce profitability.

Nevertheless, SYAC will make an effort to expand its market share in Ssangyong's sales using financial services based on stable funding through its partnership with SYAC's majority shareholder SYMC and KB Capital, develop competitive installment financing products to meet customers' expectations and maximize our shareholders' profits.

As for Q1 2016 performance, the company posted a market share of 60.5% (115% of business plan) and recorded a financial sales of 162.2 billion won and a net profit of 0.7 billion won. It recovered the loss of 0.65 billion won of 2015 and escaped from the state of capital erosion increasing its profit size month-over-month.

As 2016 is the first year of SYAC's operations, the company will internally build the basis for profit generation and increase its managing capacities. Externally, SYAC will focus on stabilizing its presence in the new car installment financing market with the goal of becoming a major financial company.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

The significant accounting policies applied in the preparation of Financial Statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all periods presented, unless otherwise stated.

2.1. Basis of Preparation

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with the International Financial Reporting Standards as adopted by the Republic of Korea ("Korean IFRS" hereafter). These are the standards, subsequent amendments and related interpretations issued by the International Accounting Standards Board ("IASB") that have been adopted by the Republic of Korea.

The preparation of the financial statements requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise judgment in the process of applying the Company's accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgment or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the financial statements are disclosed in Note 3.

The Indian rupee amounts presented in these financial statements were computed by translating the Korean Won into Indian rupees based on the Bank of Korea Basic Rate (W1 to Rs. 0.05685 at 31st December, 2015), solely for the convenience of the reader. These convenience translations into Indian rupees should not be constructed as representations that the Korean won amounts have been, could have been, or could in the future be, converted at this or any other rate of exchange.

2.2. Changes in Accounting Policies and Disclosure

(a) New standards and interpretations not yet adopted

New standards and amendments issued but not effective for the financial year beginning January 1, 2015, and not early adopted are enumerated below. The Company expects that these standards and amendments would not have a material impact on its financial statements.

- Korean IFRS 1001, Presentation of Financial Statements

- Korean IFRS 1110, Consolidated Financial Statements, and Korean IFRS 1112, Disclosures of Interests in Other Entities: Exemption for consolidation of investee
- Korean IFRS 1111, Joint Agreements
- Annual Improvements to Korean IFRS 2012-2014 Cycle

2.3. Foreign Currency Translation

(a) Functional and Presentation Currency

Items included in the financial statements of the Company are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which it operates ("the functional currency"). The financial statements are presented in Korean won, which is the Company's functional and presentation currency.

(b) Transactions and Balances

Foreign currency transactions are recognized by the functional currency with the exchange rate on the date of transactions or the rate on the valuation date in case of revaluation. Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions or from the translation at year-end exchange rates of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are recognized in net income.

2.4. Financial Assets

(a) Recognition and Classification

The Company classifies its financial assets in the following categories: financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, available-for-sale financial assets, loans and receivables, and held-to-maturity financial assets. Regular purchases and sales of financial assets are recognized on trade date.

At initial recognition, the financial assets are measured by their fair value. Except the financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, acquisition expenses are added to the fair value. The acquisition expenses of the financial assets at fair value through profit and loss are expensed on the period. After the initial recognition, subsequent fair value measurements are made over available-for-sales financial assets and those at fair value through profit or loss. Loans and receivables and held-to-maturity financial assets are recognized at acquisition cost less amortization using effective interest method.

The change in fair value of the financial assets at fair value through profit or loss is included in net income. Regarding available-for-sales financial assets, it is counted up on other comprehensive income then reclassified for net income once impaired or disposed.

(b) Impairment

The Company assesses at the end of each reporting period whether there is any objective evidence that a financial asset or group of financial assets are impaired. A financial asset or a group of financial assets is impaired and impairment losses are incurred, if and only if, there is objective evidence of impairment as a result of one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the asset (a 'loss event') and that loss event (or events) has an impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset or group of financial assets that can be reliably estimated.

Impairment of loans and receivables is presented as a deduction in an allowance account. Impairment of other financial assets is directly deducted from their carrying amount. The Company writes off financial assets when the assets are determined to be no longer recoverable.

The objective evidence of the impairments includes significant financial difficulty of the issuer or obligor and more than six-month overdue of principal or interest payment. In case of the available-for sales items, more than 30% decrease in fair values against their acquisition costs or fair value declination for more than six months in a row are considered as the objective evidence of impairment.

(c) Derecognition

If the Company transfers the contractual rights to receive the cash flows of the financial asset, but retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset, the Company continues to recognize the whole transferred asset and recognize a financial liability for the consideration received.

(d) Offsetting

A financial asset and a financial liability are offset and the net amount presented in the statement of financial position when, and only when, the Company currently has a legally enforceable right to offset the recognized amounts and intends either to settle on a net basis, or to realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. The legally enforceable right to offset is not contingent upon subsequent events and is enforceable under any circumstances – under regular business, default or bankruptcy.

2.5. Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is presented in the cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. The historical cost includes expenditure directly related to the acquisition of the property. Land is not depreciated whereas other property and equipment are depreciated using the straight-line method for their estimated useful lives. The depreciable amounts of the assets are acquisition costs less residual values.

The estimated useful lives of the assets are as follows:

	Estimated useful lives
Leasehold and improvement	5 years
Equipment	5 years

The residual value, the useful life and the depreciation method applied to an asset are reviewed at the end of each reporting period and, if expectations differ from previous estimates or if there has been a change in the expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits embodied in the asset, the changes are accounted for as a change in an accounting estimate.

2.6. Financial Liabilities

(a) Classification and measurement

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are financial instruments held for trading. Financial liabilities incurred principally for the purpose of repurchasing in near term is considered as the financial liabilities held for trading.

The Company classifies non-derivative financial liabilities, except for financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, financial guarantee contracts and financial liabilities that arise when a transfer of financial assets does not qualify for derecognition, as financial liabilities carried at amortized cost and presented as 'other financial liabilities' in the statement of financial position.

(b) Derecognition

Financial liabilities are derecognized from the statement of financial position when the obligation specified in the contract is discharged, cancelled or expired or when the terms of an existing financial liability are substantially modified.

2.7. Provisions

Provisions are measured at present value of expenditure that is expected to be spent to execute contracts. Increase of the provisions by the time value are recognized as interest expense.

2.8. Current and Deferred Tax

The tax expense for the period consists of current and deferred tax. Tax is recognized on the profit for the period in the statement of comprehensive income, except to the extent that it relates to items recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity. In this case, the tax is also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively. The tax expense is calculated on the basis of the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the end of the reporting period.

Management periodically evaluates tax policies that are applied in tax returns in which applicable tax regulation is subject to interpretation. The Company recognizes current income tax on the basis of the amount expected to be paid to the tax authorities.

Deferred tax is recognized for temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts as expected tax consequences at the recovery or settlement of the carrying amounts of the assets and liabilities. However, deferred tax assets and liabilities are not recognized if they arise from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction, other than a business combination, that at the time of the transaction affects neither accounting nor taxable profit or loss.

Deferred tax assets are recognized only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences can be utilized.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax assets against current tax liabilities and when the deferred income taxes assets and liabilities relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority where there is an intention to settle the balances on a net basis.

2.9. Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized when the amount of revenue can be measured reliably, when it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company, and when the following requirements categorized by the Company level activity are fulfilled. Estimation is made based on the past information gathered such as the type of customer, transaction and individual trade requirement.

(a) Interest income and expense

Interest income and expenses are recognized using the effective interest method. Effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortized cost of a financial asset (or group of financial assets) and of allocating the interest income over the relevant period.

The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts or payments through the expected life of the financial instrument or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount of the financial instrument. When calculating the effective interest rate, the Company estimates cash flows considering all contractual terms of the financial instrument but does not consider future credit losses. The calculation includes all fees and points paid or received between parties to the contract that are an integral part of the effective interest rate, transaction costs, and all other premiums or discounts. In those rare cases when it is not possible to estimate reliably the cash flows or the expected life of a financial instrument (or group of financial instruments), the Company uses the contractual cash flows over the full contractual term of the financial instrument (or group of financial instruments).

Interest on impaired financial assets (or group of financial assets) is recognized using the rate of interest used to discount the future cash flows for the purpose of measuring the impairment loss.

(b) Commission income

Financial service fees are recognized in accordance with the accounting standard of the financial instrument related to the fees earned, as the followings.

– Fees that are an integral part of the effective interest of a financial instrument

Those fees are generally treated as adjustments of effective interest. Such commissions may include compensation for activities such as evaluating the borrower's financial condition, evaluating and recording guarantees, collateral and other security arrangements, negotiating the terms of the instrument, preparing and processing documents and closing the transaction. However, fees relating to the creation or acquisition of a financial instrument at fair value through profit or loss are recognized as revenue immediately.

– Fees earned as services are provided

Those fees are recognized as revenue as the services are provided.

(c) Dividend income

Dividend income is recognized in profit or loss when the right to receive payment is established. Dividend income is recognized in statement of comprehensive income as a part of operating income.

2.10. Approval of Issuance of the Financial Statements

The issuance of the December 31, 2015 financial statements of the Company was approved by the Board of Directors on February 5, 2016, which is subject to change with approval of shareholders at the annual shareholders' meeting.

3. Significant Accounting Estimates and Assumptions

The preparation of financial statement requires certain accounting estimates and assumptions. Assumptions and estimates are assessed regularly given the future events reasonably foreseen by past experience and current situation. Management's estimates of outcomes may differ from actual outcomes.

(a) Income taxes

The Company recorded, based on its best estimate, current taxes and deferred taxes that the Company will be liable in the future. However, the final tax outcome in the future maybe different from the amounts that were initially recorded. Such differences will impact the current and deferred income tax assets and liabilities in the period in which such determination is made.

(b) Fair value of financial instruments

In principles, fair values of financial instruments that does not have active markets are determined by valuation models. The Company choose an appropriate model and evaluate used assumptions at the end of each reporting period.

4. Financial Risk Management

4.1 Financial Risk Factors

The Company is exposed to a variety of financial risks due to various activities: market risk (including currency risk, fair value interest rate risk, cash flow interest rate risk and price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company's overall risk management program focuses on the fluctuation of financial markets and seeks to minimize potential adverse effects on the Company's financial performance.

Risk management is carried out under policies approved by the board of directors. The board reviews and approves written principles for overall risk management, as well as written policies covering specific areas, such as foreign exchange risk, interest rate risk, credit risk, use of derivative financial instruments and non-derivative financial instruments, and investment of excess liquidity.

4.2. Credit risk

(a) General information

Credit risk is the risk of possible loss to portfolio due to counterparty's default and breach of covenant. The Company is currently operating the risk management council regarding the credit risk related asset and transaction in order to manage the credit risk.

(b) Credit risk management

The Company reports credit risk related issues to the board of directors, and the risk management department performs management activities such as examining the credit risk.

(c) Maximum exposure to credit risk

The Company's maximum exposure of financial instrument to credit risk as of December 31, 2015, is as follows:

(In thousands of won)	2015
Cash and due from financial institutions	16,846,140
Other financial asset <sup>1</sup>	2,333,804
	19,179,944

1 Accrued revenue, Advanced payments, deposit are included.

4.3. Liquidity risk

(a) General information

Liquidity risk is the risk of insolvency or loss due to a disparity between the inflow and outflow of funds, or obtaining funds at a high price or disposing of securities at an unfavorable price due to lack of available funds. The Company manages its liquidity risk analysis of the contractual maturity of all financial assets, liabilities and off-balance item by maturity groups: less than one month between one month to three months, between three months to one year, between one year to five years and over five years.

(b) Analysis on liquidity risk of financial liabilities

Cash outflow regarding the financial liabilities that the Company needs to pay because of the expiration of the remaining contract is as the following. The reported amount is the principal and interest as stated in the contract, which is not discounted by the present value.

(In thousands of won)	2015					Total
	Within 1 month	1-3 months	3 months - 1 year	1-5 years	More 5 years

Other financial liabilities	90,320	-	-	-	-	90,320
	90,320	-	-	-	-	90,320

4.4. Operational Risk

The purpose of operational risk management is not only to comply with supervisory and regulatory requirements but also to promote a risk management culture, strengthen internal control, innovate processes and provide timely feedback to management and employees. ## 6. Measurement of fair value

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The best estimate of the fair value of financial instruments is the quoted price in the active market. The Company believes that the fair value and its measurement method of financial instruments is appropriate and reasonable, however, it may be changed under another measurement method or assumption. As various methods have been adopted to calculate fair value of financial instruments and a number of assumptions have been made, it is hard to reasonably compare the fair values of financial instruments measured by different financial institutions.

(a) Financial instruments measured at amortized costs

The book value and the fair value of financial instruments measured at amortized cost as of December 31, 2015.

(In thousands of won)	2015
	Book Value	Fair Value <sup>1</sup>
Financial assets
Cash and due from financial institutions	16,846,140	16,846,140
Other financial assets	2,333,804	2,333,804

Financial liabilities
Other financial liabilities	90,320	90,320
	90,320	90,320

1 The book value was deemed to be the fair value as the difference was insignificant.

(b) Fair value Hierarchy

The Company classifies and discloses fair value of the financial instruments into the following three-level hierarchy

	Contents
Level 1	The fair values are based on quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the entity can access at the measurement date.
Level 2	The fair values are based on inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly.
Level 3	The fair values are based on unobservable inputs for asset or liability.

Meanwhile, there are no financial instruments which are recorded by fair value at the end of reporting period.

POLICY FOR REMUNERATION OF DIRECTORS, KEY MANAGERIAL PERSONNEL AND OTHER EMPLOYEES

Purpose

This Policy sets out the approach to Compensation of Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and other employees in Mahindra Gujarat Tractor Limited (MGTL).

Policy Statement

Our compensation philosophy strives to attract and retain high performers by compensating them at levels that are broadly comparable with the median of the comparator basket while differentiating people on the basis of performance, potential and criticality for achieving competitive advantage in business.

In order to effectively implement this, our compensation structure is developed through external benchmarking as appropriate, with relevant players across the industry we operate in.

Non-Executive Including Independent Directors

The Nomination and Remuneration Committee (NRC) shall decide the basis for determining the compensation, both fixed and variable, to Non-Executive Directors, including Independent Directors, whether as commission or otherwise. NRC shall take into consideration various factors such as director's participation in Board and Committee meetings during the year, other responsibilities undertaken such as membership or Chairmanship of committees, time spent in carrying out their duties, role and functions as envisaged in Schedule IV of the Companies Act 2013 and such other factors as the NRC may deem fit for determining compensation.

The Board shall determine compensation to Non-Executive Directors within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders' resolution.

Executive Director/Managing Director/Manager

The remuneration to Executive Director(s)/Managing Director/Manager shall be recommended by NRC to the Board. Remuneration will consist of both fixed compensation and variable compensation and shall be paid as salary, commission, performance bonus, perquisites and fringe benefits as approved by the Board and within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders' resolution. While fixed compensation is determined at the time of their appointment, variable compensation will be determined annually by NRC based on their performance.

Key Managerial Personnel (KMPs)

The remuneration to Manager shall be recommended by NRC to the Board. Remuneration will consist of both fixed compensation and variable compensation and shall be paid as salary, commission, performance bonus, perquisites and fringe benefits as approved by the Board and within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders' resolution. While fixed compensation is determined at the time of their appointment, variable compensation will be determined annually by NRC based on their performance.

The terms of remuneration of the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and the Company Secretary shall be determined either by any Director or such other person as may be authorised by the NRC.

The above remuneration shall be competitively benchmarked for similar positions in the industry and aligned with their qualifications, experience, and responsibilities. Pursuant to the provisions of section 203 of the Companies Act 2013, the Board shall approve remuneration of the above KMPs at the time of their appointment.

The remuneration to directors, KMPs and senior management involves a balance between fixed and incentive pay reflecting short and long-term performance objectives appropriate to the working of the company and its goals.

Employees

We follow a position and level based approach for compensation benchmarking with companies in the tractor and related industries.

We have a CTC (Cost to Company) concept which includes a fixed component (guaranteed pay) and a variable component (performance pay). The percentage of the variable component increases with increasing hierarchy levels as employees at higher positions have a greater impact and influence on the company's overall business result. CTC is reviewed once every year and the compensation strategy for positioning of individuals takes into consideration the following elements:

- Performance
- Potential
- Criticality

Remuneration for new employees other than KMPs and senior management will be decided by HR, and approved by the Managing Director/Chief Executive Office/Manager, based on factors such as relevant job experience, last compensation drawn, skill-set of the selected candidate, internal equity and related parameters.

ANNEXURE-B TO THE AUDITORS' REPORT

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Mahindra Gujarat Tractor Limited ("the Company") as of 31st March 2016 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ('ICAI'). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

2 Significant Accounting Policies

2.1 Basis of Preparation of Financial Statement

The Financial statements are prepared in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles in India and comply with the Accounting Standards notified under the Companies (Accounting Standards) Rules, 2006 (as amended) and relevant provisions of the Companies Act, 2013. The financial statements have been prepared under assumption of going concern on accrual basis under the historical cost convention. The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the financial statements are consistent with those followed in the previous year, except those specifically mentioned at respective places.

2.2 Use of Estimates

The Preparation of Financial Statements requires estimates and assumptions to be made that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities on the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Differences between the actual results and estimates are recognized in the period in which the same are known/materialized.

2.3 Fixed Assets

(a) Tangible Assets

All fixed assets are stated at cost of acquisition less accumulated depreciation, except for land, which is freehold and is therefore stated at cost. Cost is net of specific grant received, if any. Assessment of indication of impairment of an asset is made at the year end and impairment loss, if any, is recognised.

Certain fixed assets were transferred to various Industrial Co-operative Societies on hire purchase basis, had been reduced from the Gross Block of Fixed Assets of the Company in the year of actual transactions in past, but they still remain the property of this Company till the last instalment is paid.

When an asset is scrapped or otherwise disposed off, the cost and related depreciation are removed from the books of account and resultant profit (including capital profit) or loss, if any, is reflected in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

(b) Intangible Assets

All intangibles assets are initially measured at cost and amortized so as to reflect the pattern in which asset's economic benefits are consumed.

a) Development Expenditure

The expenditure incurred on technical services and other project/product related expenses are amortised over the estimated period of benefits, not exceeding five years.

b) Software Expenditure

The expenditure incurred is amortised over three financial years equally commencing from the year in which the expenditure is incurred.

2.4 Impairment of Assets

The carrying value of assets/cash generating units at each balance sheet date are reviewed for impairment. If any indication of impairment exists, the recoverable amount of such assets is estimated and impairment is recognised, if the carrying amount of these assets exceeds their recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the net selling price and their value in use. Value in use is arrived at by discounting the future cash flow expected to arise from the continuing use of an asset and from its disposal at the end of its useful life to their present value based on an appropriate discount factor. When there is indication that an impairment loss recognised for an asset in earlier accounting periods no longer exists or may have decreased, such reversal of impairment loss is recognised in the statement of Profit and Loss, except in case of revalued assets.

2.5 Depreciation/Amortisation

The Company has revised its policy of providing depreciation on fixed assets effective 1st April 2014. Depreciation is now provided on straight line basis for all assets as against the previous policy of providing on written down value basis. As a result of change in method of depreciation from WDV to SLM and recomputation of depreciation retrospectively, Surplus arising for the period prior to 1st April, 2014 has been shown as an "Exceptional Item" in the Statement of Profit & Loss.

During the period ended on 31st Mar'15, the Company has realigned its depreciation policy in accordance with Schedule-II to Companies Act, 2013. Consequently w.e.f. 1st April 2014 : (a) carrying value of assets is now depreciated over its revised remaining useful life. (b) where the remaining useful life of the assets is 'Nil' as on 1st April 2014, carrying value of assets after retaining the residual value has been recognised in the opening reserves in accordance with transitional provision of note 7(b) of Schedule-II of the Companies Act, 2013.

The Company has adopted the useful life as it is as provided in the Schedule-II of the Companies Act, 2013 without technical evaluation of useful life of the Assets.

Depreciation/Amortisation on fixed assets other than on freehold land and capital work-in-progress is charged so as to write off the cost of assets over its useful life, keeping 5% residual value on the following basis:

Type of Assets	Method	Useful Life (Years)
Tangible Assets
Buildings - Non Factory	Straight line	60
Buildings - Factory	Straight line	30
Plant & Machineries Jigs & Fixtures Pattern & Moulds	Straight line	15

Motor Vehicles - Cars & Tractors	Straight line	8
Computers - Servers & Network	Straight line	6
Office Equipments	Straight line	5
Computers - End use devices (Desktop, Laptop, Printers etc.)	Straight line	3
Assets values < Rs.5000	Straight line	1
Intangible Assets

Deferred tax is recognised, subject to the consideration of prudence, on timing difference being the differences between taxable income and accounting income that originate in one period and are capable of reversal in one or more subsequent periods.

2.15 Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets

Provisions are recognised when there is a present obligation as a result of past events and it is probable that there will be an outflow of resources. #### II. REMUNERATION OF THE DIRECTORS, KEY MANAGERIAL PERSONNEL AND OTHER EMPLOYEES

The second part of the Policy sets out the approach to compensation of Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and other employees in Mahindra Agri Solutions Limited.

Policy Statement

We have a well-defined Compensation Policy for Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and all employees of the Company. The overall compensation philosophy which guides us is that in order to achieve global leadership and dominance in markets, we need to attract and retain high performers by compensating them at levels that are broadly comparable with the median of the comparator basket while differentiating people on the basis of performance, potential and criticality for achieving competitive advantage in the business.

In order to effectively implement this, we have built our Compensation structure by a regular annual benchmarking over the years with relevant players across the industry we operate in.

NON-EXECUTIVE INCLUDING INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS

The NRC shall decide the basis for determining the compensation, both fixed and variable, to the Non- Executive Directors, including Independent Directors, whether as commission or otherwise. The NRC shall take into consideration various factors such as Director's participation in Board and Committee Meetings during the year, other responsibilities undertaken, such as Membership or Chairmanship of Committees, time spent in carrying out their duties, role and functions as envisaged in Schedule IV of the Companies Act, 2013 and such other factors as the NRC may consider fit for determining the compensation. The Board shall determine the compensation to Non-Executive Directors within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders Resolution.

Managing Director or Executive Directors or Manager

The NRC shall decide the basis for determining the compensation, both fixed and variable, to the Managing Director or Executive Director or Manager as the case may be.

Key Managerial Personnel (KMPs)

The terms of remuneration of Key Managerial Personnel of the Company shall be determined in such manner and by such persons as may be authorised by the Board from time to time. The remuneration shall be consistent with the competitive position of the salary for similar positions in the industry and their Qualifications, Experience, Roles and Responsibilities. Pursuant to the provisions of section 203 of the Companies Act, 2013, the Board shall approve the remuneration at the time of their appointment.

The remuneration to Directors, KMPs and Senior Management involves a balance between fixed and incentive pay reflecting short and long-term performance objectives appropriate to the working of the Company and its goals.

Employees

We follow a differential approach in choosing the comparator basket for benchmarking, depending upon the level in the organization:

- a. For all employees from Operational to Executive Band, we benchmark with a set of comparators from the same industry.
- b. For Strategic band and above, we have a position-based approach and the comparator basket includes benchmarks from across relevant industries.

We have a CTC (Cost to Company) concept which includes a fixed component (Guaranteed Pay) and a variable component (Performance pay). The percentage of the variable component increases with increasing hierarchy levels, as we believe employees at higher positions have a far greater impact and influence on the overall business result. The CTC is reviewed once every year and the compensation strategy for positioning of individuals takes into consideration the following elements:

- Performance
- Potential
- Criticality
- Longevity in grade.

Remuneration for the new employees other than KMPs and Senior Management Personnel will be decided by the HR, in consultation with the concerned business unit head at the time of hiring, depending upon the relevant job experience, last compensation and the skill-set of the selected candidate.

The Company may also grant Stock Options to the Employees and Directors (other than Independent Directors) in accordance with the ESOP Scheme of the Company as may be formulated and subject to the compliance of the applicable statutes and regulations.

ANNEXURE I TO DIRECTORS' REPORT

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Overview

It is significant to note that a very small portion of world's water is fresh, and roughly one-third of it is inaccessible, the rest being very unevenly distributed. The available supplies are increasingly getting contaminated with wastes and pollution from industry, agriculture, and households.

Over the years, increasing population, growing industrialisation, expanding agriculture, and rising standards of living have pushed up the demand for water. Efforts have been made to collect water by building dams and reservoirs and creating ground water structures such as wells. However, there is a growing realisation that there are limits to 'finding more water' and in the long run, we need to know the amount of water we can reasonably expect to tap and also learn to use it more efficiently.

With the objective of conserving water, minimizing wastage, and ensuring that it is distributed equally, both across and within the states, through integrated water resources development and management, the Government of India has formulated National Water Mission with distinctive objectives so as to increase the water use efficiency by 20% by 2017.

Micro irrigation has emerged as the front runner solution which offers a benefit in terms of appreciable reduction in volume of water used as well as results in higher agricultural productivity. Use of fertigation further enhances the productivity and offers a dual advantage of fertiliser saving and non-pollution of ground water as well as surface runoff water.

Industry Structure and Developments

The demand for water by the Agriculture Sector will grow rapidly on account of growing needs of agriculture and horticulture produce and raw materials for various industries. Simultaneously, the demand for water for other sectors, including drinking water, industrial water, etc. would also grow rapidly, thus impacting the share of water allotted to the Agriculture Sector. It is generally estimated that the share of water for Agriculture Sector will fall from current 84% to 69% by the year 2025. In this scenario, the demand for Micro Irrigation Systems is bound to grow at a very fast rate and demand will continue to outpace supply.

Adoption of micro irrigation was accelerated through Central Government's assistance and many of the developed States have recognised the impact of micro irrigation, resulting in significant State assistance to the farmers. Normally, around 50 per cent financial assistance is provided to farmers for adopting micro irrigation system by the State and Central Governments. In order to further accelerate the adoption of micro irrigation by farmers, some of the States extend further assistance which can reduce the cost of system by as much as 70-80 per cent.

The Indian micro irrigation system industry, which comprises of segments such as drip irrigation and sprinkler irrigation, has grown significantly over the last few years due to increase in the demand for agricultural food products. The micro irrigation system industry in India is highly fragmented with nearly 200 companies. There is a fierce competition in the market, with a large number of organized and unorganized players engaged in the manufacturing and installation of micro irrigation systems.

Your Company is presently a major supplier of micro irrigation systems (MIS) in India. Our strong brand name, expertise in agronomy services, and widespread network have contributed to our growth.

Opportunities and Outlook

The long-term outlook of the micro irrigation industry is robust. Though we have had several specific schemes to promote micro irrigation, the recently announced Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchai Yojana (PMKSY) aims to address the issue in a holistic manner. PMKSY is conceived to achieve convergence of investments to address the problem of irrigation at large – Expanding irrigated area (Har Khet Ko Paani), Efficient distribution water from the sources, Improving water-use efficiency through precision irrigation and other water saving technologies (More Crop Per Drop), and Promoting water conservation practices. It brings all concerned ministries & departments engaged in creation/distribution/use of water under a common platform to have a comprehensive and holistic view of the entire "water cycle". The total fund earmarked for this scheme is Rs. 50,000 crores for a period of five years (F16 to F20). However, continuous droughts in Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnataka and Madhya Pradesh, which are major markets for micro irrigation, have dampened the demand for micro irrigation systems to some extent, which in turn has affected our industry. It is expected that a good monsoon this year will help boost the pent-up demand for micro irrigation and with a stable government at the Centre and in major States, we envisage that it will contribute to the growth of micro irrigation industry with consistent policies for subsidies.

Operations and Financial Performance

During the year 2015-16, your Company achieved Sales Turnover of Rs. 204.78 crores as compared to Rs. 169.19 crores in the preceding year reflecting a growth of 21%. The major factors contributing to this improvement in performance were: Focus on profitable businesses and markets, Penetration in newer markets, Deployment of cost control measures, and Effective working capital management.

These initiatives enabled your Company to achieve improved profitability, and growth in revenue, despite some uncertainties owing to the late announcement of policy in some important markets. Relentless efforts in product and process improvement, and quality not only contributed to improved efficiencies, but also enabled your company to improve farmers' productivity further.

During the year under review, your Company has almost doubled the performance in Pumps and Polyhouse businesses. In pumps, this has come through improvement in product range and quality, expansion of channel network, and improvement in customer care services. During the year, the Company has also introduced Open Well Sub-mersible Pumps, Monoblock Pumps, and Direct Online Starters.

As regards the Poly house business, your Company has grown in several States and has installed some Hi-tech Poly houses for specific applications. With a strong team in place, we expect to see some further growth in this business through a continuous focus on cost reduction and process improvement.

Risks, Concerns and Threats

The Micro Irrigation industry's growth is majorly dependent on the government policies and release of subsidies etc. in the short term. Growth in industry will further need a large pool of trained personnel and a dedicated dealer network with deep penetration in newer markets of the country. Further, the uneven distribution of rainfall in the country, consecutive drought like situation in the previous years and fluctuations in the polymer prices are constant threats faced by the industry. Low cost quality competition is another concern area for the industry.

Seasonality is a major problem for all irrigation Companies as bulk of the major business is derived in non-monsoon months. However, with the well-spread operations in western, southern and northern States where monsoon months vary, your Company's operations are balanced to a certain extent.

Continuous healthy growth of agriculture, ambitious mega micro irrigation projects of few States and the increasing demand for micro irrigation systems in the other markets will provide ample opportunities for growth of the business.

Internal Control Systems

Your Company has adequate internal control procedures commensurate with its size and nature of business. The internal control system in the Company is designed to further the interests of all stakeholders and it is supplemented by extensive internal audits, regular reviews by management through external consultants, and well-documented policies and guidelines to ensure reliability and speedy compilation of financial statements, safeguard the assets and interests of the Company and also to ensure compliance with laws and regulations. The internal control framework comprises of elements like entry level controls, Risk Control Matrix, management testing programs and a strong emphasis on integrity and ethics as a part of work culture. The Company continuously upgrades these systems in line with the best accounting practices. The Audit Committee of Board of Directors periodically reviews the audit plans, observations and the recommendations of internal and external auditors with reference to significant risk areas and adequacy of internal controls.

Based on management's assessment and testing of controls, it is concluded that the Company has proper internal financial controls which are considered adequate and are operating effectively.

Human Resources

Your Company has a robust process for crafting the HR strategy which is aligned with the business strategy. Based on this, key levers or areas of focus to make EPC a great work place are worked upon and execution of the same has taken place in your Company to achieve the goal.

Human resource initiatives such as skill level upgradation, recruitment grid, formation of cross functional teams for business innovation, appropriate reward and recognition systems and productivity improvement are the key focus areas for development of the employees of the Company. The measures for safety, training, welfare and development of employees receive highest priority.

Your Company wants its sales employees to not just sell the product but also talk the language of crops with the farmer customer. In line with this objective and also based on the approach of imparting training to the employees based on the training needs identified for them, crop related trainings, agronomy based capability building, and other skill building programs (across EPC) were actively carried out in 2015-16.

The Company periodically conducts Samwaad – Employee Engagement Survey and Vicharmanthan. These diagnostic tools acts as powerful medium to understand employees' expectations, feedbacks, suggestions and ideas for overall improvement in the working of the Company. Your company has actively worked upon the suggestions given by employees and has implemented various such suggestions for the betterment of the Company.

Your Company's Human Resource vertical, through its ever evolving employee-friendly policies and processes, has kept the morale of the employees high.

II. SUCCESSION PLANNING:

Purpose

The Talent Management Policy sets out the approach to the development and management of talent in the Mahindra Group to ensure the implementation of the strategic business plans of the Group and the Group Aspiration of being among the Top 50 globally most-admired brands by 2021.

Board:

Senior Management Personnel:

A good succession-planning program aims to identify high growth individuals, train them and feed the pipelines with new talent. It will ensure replacements for key job incumbents in KMPs and senior management positions in the organization.

Significantly, we have a process of identifying Hi-pots and critical positions. Successors are mapped for these positions at the following levels:

1. Emergency successor
2. Ready now
3. Ready in 1 to 2 years
4. Ready in 2 to 5 years
5. Ready in more than 5 years

in order to ensure talent readiness as per a laddered approach.

Policy Statement

The Talent Management framework of the Mahindra Group has been created to address three basic issues:

- 1) Given the strategic business plans, do we have the skills and competencies required to implement them? If not, how do we create them – by developing them internally or through lateral induction from outside?
- 2) For critical positions, what is the succession pipeline?
- 3) What are the individual development plans for individuals both in the succession pipeline as well as others?

The framework lays down an architecture and processes to address these questions using the 3E approach:

- a) Experience i.e. both long and short-term assignments. This has 70% weightage

- b) Exposure i.e. coaching and mentoring – 20% weightage
- c) Education i.e. learning and development initiatives – 10% weightage

The Talent Management process is applicable to all employees. Over the years, the Talent Management framework has become a well-structured and process-oriented system which is driven by an interactive and collaborative network of Talent Councils at the Group and Sector Levels. These Talent Councils, which consist mainly of Senior business leaders supported by HR, are a mix of Sector (Business) and Functional Councils coordinated by an Apex Talent Council, headed by the Group Chairman. The Apex Council reviews the work done by the Talent Councils and facilitates movement of talent across Sectors. The Sector/Functional Councils meet regularly throughout the year and the Apex Council interacts with each one of them separately once a year, and in addition conducts an integrated meeting where the Chairpersons of all the Councils are present.

The Talent Management process can be represented pictorially as under:

The talent pipeline is maintained and developed so as to ensure that there is a seamless flow of talent. An important part of this exercise is drawing up and implementing IDAPs (Individual Development Action Plans) for every Executive concerned using the 3E approach mentioned above.

ANNEXURE V TO DIRECTORS' REPORT

POLICY FOR REMUNERATION OF THE DIRECTORS, KEY MANAGERIAL PERSONNEL AND OTHER EMPLOYEES

Purpose

This Policy sets out the approach to Compensation of Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and other employees in EPC Industrié Limited.

Policy Statement

We have a well-defined Compensation policy for Directors, Key Managerial Personnel and all employees, including the Chairman, Presidents and other Members of the Group Executive Board who are employees of the Company. The overall compensation philosophy which guides us is that in order to achieve global leadership and dominance in domestic markets, we need to attract and retain high performers by compensating them at levels that are broadly comparable with the median of the comparator basket while differentiating people on the basis of performance, potential and criticality for achieving competitive advantage in the business.

In order to effectively implement this, we have built our Compensation structure by a regular annual benchmarking over the years with relevant players across the industry we operate in.

NON-EXECUTIVE INCLUDING INDEPENDENT DIRECTORS:

The Nomination and Remuneration Committee (NRC) shall decide the basis for determining the compensation, both Fixed and variable, to the Non Executive Directors, including Independent Directors, whether as commission or otherwise. The NRC shall take into consideration various factors such as director's participation in Board and Committee meetings during the year, other responsibilities undertaken, such as membership or Chairmanship of committees, time spent in carrying out their duties, role and functions as envisaged in Schedule IV of the Companies Act 2013 and such other factors as the NRC may consider deem fit for determining the compensation. The Board shall determine the compensation to Non-Executive Directors within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution.

Whole Time Director or Executive Director or CEO:

The remuneration to Whole Time Director or Executive Director or CEO shall be recommended by NRC to the Board. The remuneration consists of both fixed compensation and variable compensation and shall be paid as salary, commission, performance bonus, stock options (where applicable), perquisites and fringe benefits as approved by the Board and within the overall limits specified in the Shareholders resolution. While the fixed compensation is determined at the time of their appointment, the variable compensation will be determined annually by the NRC based on their performance or alternatively, the NRC may recommend to pay the consolidated remuneration.

Key Managerial Personnel (KMPs)

The terms of remuneration of Chief Financial Officer (CFO) shall be determined by the Audit Committee from time to time. The terms of remuneration of the Company Secretary shall be finalised/revised by the Whole Time Director or such other person as may be authorised by the Board from time to time. The remuneration shall be consistent with the competitive position of the salary for similar positions in the industry and their Qualifications, Experience, Roles and Responsibilities. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 203 of the Companies Act 2013 the Board shall approve the remuneration at the time of their appointment.

The remuneration to directors, KMPs and senior management involves a balance between fixed and incentive pay reflecting short and long-term performance objectives appropriate to the working of the company and its goals.

Employees

We follow a differential approach in choosing the comparator basket for benchmarking, depending upon the level in the organization:

- a. For all employees from Operational to Executive Band, we benchmark with a set of comparators from the same industry.
- b. For Strategic band and above, we have a position-based approach and the comparator basket includes benchmarks from across relevant industries.

We have a CTC (Cost to Company) concept which includes a fixed component (Guaranteed Pay) and a variable component (Performance pay). The percentage of the variable component increases with increasing hierarchy levels, as we believe employees at higher positions have a far greater impact and influence on the overall business result. The CTC is reviewed once every year and the compensation strategy for positioning of individuals takes into consideration the following elements:

- Performance
- Potential
- Criticality
- Longevity in grade

Remuneration for the new employees other than KMPs and Senior Management Personnel will be decided by the HR, in consultation with the concerned business unit head at the time of hiring, depending upon the relevant job experience, last compensation and the skill-set of the selected candidate.

The Company may also grant Stock Options to the Employees and Directors (other than Independent Directors and Promoter) in accordance with the ESOP Scheme of the Company and subject to the compliance of the applicable statutes and regulations.

ANNEXURE “A” TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITORS’ REPORT

(Referred to in paragraph 1(f) under ‘Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements’ section of our report of even date to the members of EPC Industrié Limited on the financial statements for the year ended 31st March, 2016)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting under clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 (“the Act”)

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of EPC Industrié Limited (“the Company”) as of 31st March, 2016 in conjunction with our audit of the financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management’s Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company’s management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company’s policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditors’ Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the “Guidance Note”) issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the Standards on Auditing prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditors’ judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A Company’s internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A Company’s internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the Company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the Company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the Company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the Company’s assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March, 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

NOTE NO. 1 - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

A. Corporate Information:

It is engaged in the business of Micro Irrigation Systems such as Drip and Sprinklers, Agricultural Pumps, Greenhouses and Land Landscape Products. The Company is a subsidiary of Mahindra and Mahindra Limited.

B. Basis of Accounting:

The financial statements are prepared in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles in Indian (GAAP) and comply with the Accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the 2013 Act"), read with relevant Rules and provisions of the 2013 Act, as applicable. The financial statements have been prepared on accrual basis under the historical cost convention except for certain categories of fixed assets acquired before June 24, 1998, that are carried at revalued amounts. The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the financial statements are consistent with those followed in the previous year.

C. Use of Estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires that the management of the Company makes estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of income and expenses of the period, the reported balance of assets and liabilities and the disclosures relating to contingent liabilities as of the date of the financial statements. Differences, if any, between the actual results and estimates, is recognised in the period in which the results are known/materialise.

D. Tangible Assets:

Fixed assets are carried at cost less accumulated depreciation/impairment losses, if any. Cost includes cost of acquisition or construction and is stated at historical cost.

Fixed Assets (other than Office Premises at Ahmedabad, Furniture & Fixtures, Office Equipments and Vehicles) have been revalued as on June 24, 1998 and the resultant surplus has been added to the block of the assets.

Depreciation on all assets, is provided on Straight Line Method as per the useful life prescribed in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013 except for Continuous Process Plant which is depreciated over a period of 19 years. Leasehold Assets are written off over the period of lease. Depreciation on additions to assets or on sale/disposal of assets is calculated from the beginning of the month of such addition or up to the month of such sale/scrapped as the case may be.

Fixed assets retired from active use and held for sale are stated at the lower of their net book value and net realisable value and are disclosed separately in the Balance Sheet.

E. Intangible Assets:

Intangible assets are recognised only when economic benefit attributable to the assets will flow to the enterprise and cost can be measured reliably. They are being amortised over the estimated useful life of three years.

The estimated useful life of the intangible assets and the amortisation period are reviewed at the end of each financial year and the amortisation period is revised to reflect the changed pattern, if any.

Intangible assets under development

Expenditure on development eligible for capitalisation is carried as intangible assets under development where such assets are not yet ready for their intended use.

F. Impairment of Assets:

The carrying value of assets/cash generating units at each balance sheet date are reviewed for impairment. If any indication of impairment exists, the recoverable amount of such assets is estimated and impairment is recognised, if the carrying amount of these assets exceeds their recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the net selling price and their value in use. Value in use is arrived at by discounting the future cash flows expected to arise from the continuing use of an asset and from its disposal at the end of its useful life to their present value based on an appropriate discount factor. When there is indication that an impairment loss recognised for an asset in earlier accounting periods no longer exists or may have decreased, such reversal of impairment loss is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss, except in case of revalued assets.

G. Investments:

Long term investments are valued at cost. However, provision for diminution in value is made to recognise a decline other than temporary in the value of investments. Current investments are valued at the lower of cost and fair value.

H. Inventories:

Inventories comprise all costs of purchase, conversion and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

Raw materials and bought out components are valued at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost is determined on the basis of the weighted average method.

Stores, Spares and tools other than obsolete and slow moving items are carried at cost. Obsolete and slow moving items are valued at cost and estimated net realisable value, whichever is lower.

I. Foreign Exchange Transactions:

Transaction in foreign currencies are recorded at the exchange rates prevailing on the date of transaction. Monetary items are translated at the year-end rates. The exchange difference between the rate prevailing on the date of transaction and on the date of settlement as also on translation of monetary items at the end of the year is recognised as income or expense, as the case may be.

J. Revenue recognition:

Sales of goods are recognised, net of estimated returns and trade discounts. Sales include excise duty but exclude sales tax and value added tax.

In case of Greenhouse & Landscape business, revenue recognition is based on percentage completion method.

In respect of sale of services, revenue is recognised in the statement of profit and loss proportionately with the degree of completion of services under the contract. The degree of completion of a contract is determined based on the proportion that contract costs incurred for work performed up to the reporting date bear to the estimated total contract costs.

K. Other income:

Interest income is recognised on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the applicable rates. Dividend income is accounted for when the right to receive it is established.

L. Government Grants:

The Company is entitled to various incentives from government authorities. The Company accounts for its entitlement as income on accrual basis and no significant uncertainty as to its measurability and collectability exists.

M. Employee benefits:

a) Short term employee benefits

All employee benefits falling due wholly within twelve months of rendering the service are classified as short term employee benefits. The benefits like salaries, wages, short term compensated absences, etc. and the expected cost of bonus, ex-gratia, are recognised in the period in which the employee renders the related service.

b) Post-employment benefits*(i) Defined contribution plans

The Company's contribution to provident fund, employee state insurance scheme and superannuation fund are considered as defined contribution plans and are charged as an expense as they fall due based on the amount of contribution required to be made and when services are rendered by the employee.

(ii) Defined benefit plans

The employees gratuity fund scheme, managed by LIC is a defined benefit plan. The present value of obligation is determined based on actuarial valuation carried out as at the end of each financial year using the Projected Unit Credit Method.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows. The discount rate used for determining the present value of the obligation under defined benefit plans, is based on the market yield on government securities, of a maturity period equivalent to the weighted average maturity profile of the related obligations at the Balance Sheet date.

Actuarial gains and losses are recognised immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

In case of funded plans, the fair value of the plan assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined plans to recognise the obligation on the net basis.

Gains or losses on the curtailment or settlement of any defined benefit plan are recognised when the curtailment or settlement occurs. Past service cost is recognised as expense on a straight line basis over the period until benefit become vested.

c) Long term employee benefits

The obligation for long term employee benefits such as long term compensated absences, long service award, etc. is recognised in the similar manner as in the case of defined benefit plans as mentioned in (b) (ii) above.

The Company has formulated Employee Stock Option Schemes (ESOS) ("the Scheme") in accordance with the SEBI (Employee Stock Option Scheme and Employee Stock Purchase Scheme) Guidelines, 1999 which is now replaced with the SEBI (Share Based Employee Benefits) Regulations, 2014. The Scheme provides for grant of options to employees of the Company to acquire equity shares of the Company that vest in a graded manner and that are to be exercised within a specified period. In accordance with the SEBI Guidelines; the excess, if any, of the closing market price on the day prior to the grant of the options under ESOS over the exercise price is amortised on a straight-line basis over the vesting period.

N. Leases:

In respect of operating leases, lease payments are recognised as expenses and Lease income are recognised as income on a straight line basis over the lease term. Initial direct costs are recognised immediately as expenses.

O. Borrowing Costs:

All borrowing costs are charged to the Statement of Profit and Loss except:

(a) Borrowing costs that are attributable to the acquisition or construction of assets that necessarily take a substantial period of time to get ready for their intended use, which are capitalised as part of the cost of such assets.

(b) Expenses incurred on raising long term borrowing are amortised over the period of borrowing. On early buyback, conversion or repayment of borrowings, any unamortised expenditure is fully written off in that year.

P. Product Warranty:

In respect of warranties given by the Company on sale of certain products, the estimated costs of these warranties are accrued at the time of sale. The estimates for accounting of warranties are reviewed and revisions are made as required.

Q. Taxes on income:

Income Taxes are accounted for in accordance with Accounting Standard on "Accounting for Taxes on Income", (AS-22). Tax expenses comprise both current tax and deferred tax. Current tax is the amount of tax payable on the taxable income for the year as determined in accordance with the applicable tax rates and the provisions of the Income Tax Act 1961, and other applicable tax laws.

Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) paid in accordance with the tax laws, which gives future economic benefits in the form of adjustment to future income tax liability, is considered as an asset if there is convincing evidence that the Company will pay normal income tax. Accordingly, MAT is recognised as an asset in the Balance Sheet when it is probable that future economic benefit associated with it will flow to the Company.

Deferred tax asset is measured based on the tax rates and the laws enacted or substantively enacted as at the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets are recognized only to the extent there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realized. In respect of carry forward losses and unabsorbed depreciation, deferred tax assets are recognized only to the extent there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realized.

R. Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets:

A provision is recognised when the Company has a present obligation as a result of past events and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation in respect of which a reliable estimate can be made. Provisions (excluding retirement benefits) are not discounted to their present value and are determined based on the best estimate required to settle the obligation at the Balance Sheet date. These are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates.

Contingent liabilities are not recognised but are disclosed in the notes. Contingent assets are neither recognised nor disclosed in the financial statements.

S. Share issues expenses:

Share issue expenses are adjusted against the Securities Premium Account as permissible under Section 57 of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent any balance is available for utilisation in the Securities Premium Account.

ANNEXURE B TO OUR REPORT OF EVEN

DATE:

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Mahindra Univeg Private Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2016 in conjunction with our audit of the financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to Company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A Company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A Company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that

- 1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the Company;
- 2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the Company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the Company; and
- 3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the Company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2016, based on, the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.
